His Hands Are Full

Kingston Man Is Injured In Marlborough Accident

Driver of Milk Tanker Taken to Hospital in Newburgh; His Condition 'Poor'

A truck driver was seriously injured about 11 p. m. Monday on Route 9W at Marlborough about 500 feet from the spot where another tractor trailer was wrecked early Monday morning, killing one and injuring two.

State police of the Highland station, continuing their investigation of both accidents, said the driver of the milk tank trailer involved in the Monday night accident has not been positively identified. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh, troopers said.

Condition Is 'Poor'

At St. Luke's Hospital this noon, authorities said that James Lee, 27, of 76 Grand street, Kingston, was admitted shortly after 11 p. m. with injuries sustained in an accident. His condition was reported as "poor."

Lee, a truck driver, formerly worked for Needes' Express in this city, but has since changed jobs, it was learned today.

Troopers said the tractor-trailer involved in last night's accident was owned by Charleton Whittaker of Unadilla, in Otsego county.

Troopers said a blowout apparently caused the vehicle to leave the highway, strike a tree and turn over, spilling its load of milk on the highway.

Autopsy Is Revealed

Meanwhile, the report of the autopsy performed Monday on Milton Harold Bullett, 40, of Watervliet, disclosed death due to multiple injuries including bilateral fractures of ribs, other fractures, and lacerations of spleen and liver, state police reported.

Injured in the same fatal accident, which occurred about 4:30 a. m. Monday, were George Pickett, 20, of 12 Clinton street, Albany, and Dean Berry Reed, 12, of Route 1, Waterford. They were both listed in "poor" condition at St. Luke's Hospital this morning.

First reports of the accident, to which there were no witnesses other than the injured persons, had listed Bullett as the driver. However, troopers said that the 12-year-old boy told them later that Pickett was driving. Troopers have not been able to talk to Pickett, and are holding the matter open pending further investigation.

Russians Display Kindness to Boy

Orphan Allowed to Slip Through Curtain to Western Zone

Berlin, June 23 (AP)—Unusual kindness raised the tank-guarded Iron Curtain briefly today to let an 11-year-old orphan boy slip out of riot-torn East Germany to a haven with relatives in West Berlin.

With all his belongings in a rucksack on his back, little Peter Von Dsikowitzky came all alone from Schwerin, 120 miles to the northeast. When he reached the East-West Berlin border, he met kindness instead of bullets.

A Communist officer gave the child a hand-written pass, and Communist peoples' police—the dreaded "Vopos" with notches on their guns—escorted him across in a radio patrol car.

This was the same border Russian troops and East German police have sealed with tanks and machine guns ever since the workers' revolt against Soviet rule began last Wednesday. On this same border a 15-year-old boy was shot to death by "Vopos" yesterday for jeering and throwing rocks at them.

Father Killed in War

Peter's story was one of the few touches of human kindness to come out of the last week's epic of bloodshed.

His father, a German officer of noble Russian descent, was killed in the war. His mother was "taken away" by the Russians in 1945 and never returned. He lived with his half-deaf, 65-year-old grandmother in Schwerin.

The grandmother became ill recently, and the Communists wanted to put Peter in an orphange. Both she and the boy balked. They ventured a dangerous experiment.

She packed Peter's rucksack, gave him what little money she could spare, and told him what to do.

He went to the rail station all by himself and bought a ticket for Berlin.

Didn't Bother Him

When Communist police checked the passengers' papers as they approached Berlin, Peter pretended to sleep. They didn't bother him.

Reaching East Berlin, he met one kind person after another. A man helped him ride the subway to midtown near the western frontier. A woman gave him lodging for the night.

Then he encountered the government's neighborhood watchdog—the "strassenvertrauensmann." He is supposed to see that every one who enters his precinct has the proper papers and registers with the police.

Little Peter—small for his age, with fair skin, blue eyes and light brown hair—must have touched his heart. He wrote a letter describing Peter's plight and asking that he be passed through the border guard.

Peter's engaging smile, reinforced by this letter, won again. The "vopos" drove him through.

Finally he reached his aunt, 26-year-old Tatjana Von Dsikowitzky, in West Berlin. She is jobless. So is her fiance. They can't even afford to marry.

"But I'm going to keep him, somehow," she said.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The position of the Treasury June 19: Net budget receipts, $778,324,186.64; budget expenditures, $417,467,209.67; cash balance, $4,654,108,905.52; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $61,219,893,146.76; budget expenditures fiscal year, $71,503,197,763.58; budget deficit, $10,283,304,616.82; total debt, $266,339,047,691.89; gold assets, $22,512,084,136.58.

East Sector Is Hungry After Strike

Grotewohl Government Has 'Grave Problem' Trying to Feed Its 18 Million Germans

Berlin, June 23 (AP)—Hunger stalked Germany's Communist eastern zone today, fizzing the powderkeg which exploded last week into workers' rebellion against Russian repression.

Refugees to West Berlin reported that undaunted by Soviet tanks and firing squads, the East Germans have defied martial law with protest marches demanding bread through the streets of Leipzig, Dresden, Demnitz and Eisenach.

The totering puppet government of Premier Otto Grotewohl admitted it faced "grave problems" in feeding the 18 million restive East Germans. Its news agency and broadcasts announced state food handling agencies had pledged to make up the losses "caused by the Fascist western agents" in the strike and riot wave launched June 17.

Soldiers Ate Supplies

East Berlin was better off than most areas, but with two policing Russian armored divisions living of what was available the city was short of bread and potatoes. Refugees described conditions in many Soviet zone cities as catastrophic.

Communist police patrols, they said, were touring the streets with sound trucks blaring that things would get better.

Farmers browbeaten for years by arbitrary Communist quotas were reported withholding their produce from central state collection points, bringing extention of the Red Army's martial law to the agricultural belt.

Executions Continue

The wave of arrests and executions continued. The anti-Red underground estimated 16,000 alleged strike leaders were behind bars.

The latest death penalty reported was meted out to Communist Mayor H. W. Hartmann of Doebernitz, in Saxony-Anhalt. He was the first party official reported engulfed in the wave of terror and the 22nd German definitely known to have been executed.

Refugees said Hartmann knocked down a German Communist policeman who fired into a crowd of demonstrators.

Soviet military courts dealt out scores of 25-year sentences in Magdeburg and Leipzig. Four thousand East Berliners were reported in jail.

Glad They Travel

There was some relaxation of the barrier of Soviet steel between East and West Berlin. The 40,000 East Berliners who normally work across the frontier were given special passes to cross the boundary daily. Presumably the beset east government was glad to get them away from the overcrowded food lines.

The German and Russian Communists continued to plug the theme—already denied by the west—that western Fascists and American money and army offi-

All Sprinkling Is Banned as Tank Creates Emergency

Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, today announced a water system emergency that will prohibit all sprinkling and unnecessary use of water until further notice.

The emergency arises from a mechanical failure at the Glen street tank and makes it "imperative that all sprinkling be discontinued" until adjustments are made, Cloonan said.

Full storage is necessary at all times in the city's standpipes for fire protection, he stressed, and it is therefore urgent that the public cooperate with this emergency request to conserve water.

Notice will be given as soon as it is possible to resume the regular sprinkling hours.

Caviar Is Shipped

Tehran, Iran, June 23 (AP)—Eight tons of caviar—worth about $5 a spoonful in any western nightclub — were shipped to the Soviet Union this week by Iran's newly nationalized fishing industry.

Troop C Will Open Eight-Man Stations

Sidney, June 23 (AP)—State Police Troop C will open eight-man substations about Aug. 15 in Richfield Springs, Waverly and Wurtsboro.

Capt. H. A. Gay, troop commander, said yesterday its manpower was being increased from 153 to 190 men and officers.

An increase in the number of state troopers, aimed at cracking down on violators of speed and traffic laws, was authorized by this year's Legislature.

Gay said some of Troop C's additional men would be assigned to the substation at Ferndale.

Areas in Siberia, Red Europe Open For Foreign Travel

Russia Still Lists Many Restricted Sectors; Perle Mesta Is to Take Trip

Moscow, June 23 (AP)—The Soviet government has opened wide areas of European and Asiatic Russia to unrestricted travel by foreigners. The first visitor to benefit from the new freedom will be Mrs. Perle Mesta, President Truman's party-giving minister to Lumembourg.

The relaxation was disclosed last night in an official note delivered to all foreign diplomatic missions in Moscow. It was regarded as a significant step since even foreign diplomats until now have been limited in their movements.

(The order gave no indication that the Soviets' tight policy on admission of foreign visitors was being relaxed. In recent years few travelers have been given entry visas.

(There was no immediate indication from Washington that the Soviet move would be followed by similar U. S. action. Countering Moscow, the U. S. since March, 1952, has required all Soviet officials to get State and Defense Department permission before traveling more than 25 miles from Washington or New York city. Other NATO nation have followed suit.)

To Visit Ukraine

Mrs. Mesta, who arrived here June 12 for a visit, plans to leave soon for the Zaborozhe section of the Ukraine, home of the Zaborozhe steel plant and the Dnieper Dam. Although her trip was okayed before the travel bans were relaxed, observers here figured both were part of the same pattern.

The new order apparently clears the way for foreign residents to visit much of European Russia and vast sections of Siberia but it still lists many restricted areas.

It also bans automobile journeys of more than 25 miles outside Moscow, except to three places—the monastery town of Zagorsk, the Tchaikowsky Museum at Klin and the Tolstoy Museum at Yasnaya Polyana, south of Tula. Even these cannot be visited by car without prior notice.

Restrictions on Border

The new regulations also specify 16-mile deep forbidden zones along the Soviet Union's borders with five neighboring countries—Norway, Finland, Turkey, Iran and Afghanistan. There are no such zones, however, along borders with such Soviet allies in eastern Europe as Poland, or along the Chinese-Russian frontier in Asia.

Despite the remaining restrictions, it apparently is possible now to travel the entire length of the Volga river to its mouth on the Caspian Sea at Astrakhan, and to ride the Trans-Siberian railway all the way to Vladivostok.

But No Free Lemonade

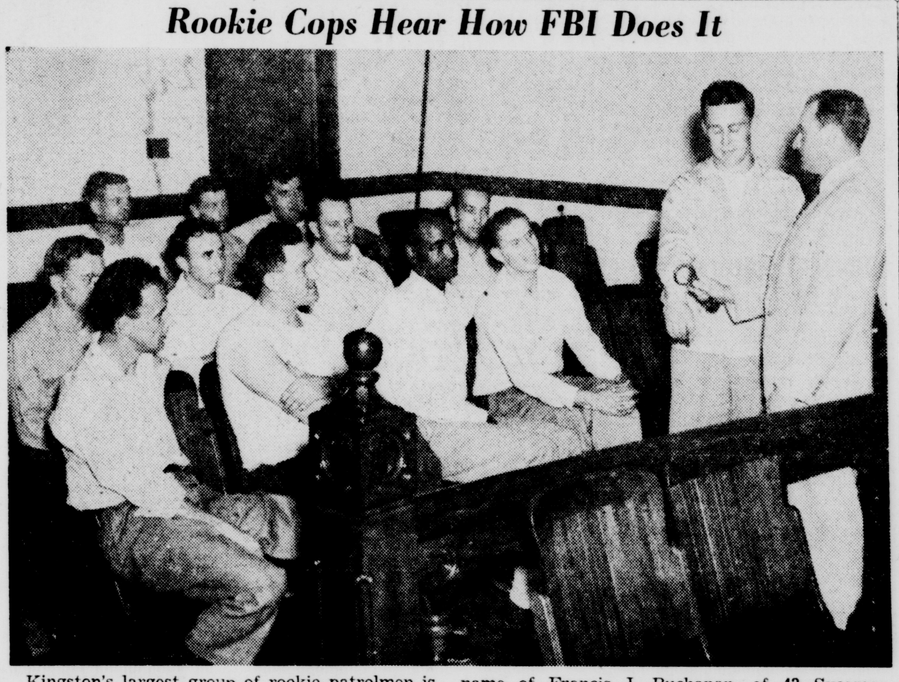

Bluefield, W. Va., June 23 (AP)—A kindly weather official saved this boasted "nature's air conditioned city" from an early 1953 summer payoff of free lemonade. The Chamber of Commerce has a standing offer to ladle out drinks any day the temperature goes above 90 degrees. The Weather Bureau thermometer read 93 yesterday. But C. K. Caldwell, the official observer, didn't believe his own instrument. He said it couldn't have been that hot and that somebody must have jarred it. So he declined to make an official temperature report — to the chamber's relief.

Went for Corned Beef

Branford, Conn., June 23 (AP)—Capt. Casper Block, a fishing guide operating out of this Long Island Sound port, swears its true. Police Commissioner David Leach of New Haven was the only one of a party aboard his craft who was not taking fish during a trip to Mattatuck, L. I. "Here," jibed Det. Capt. Raymond Egan, taking a piece of corned beef from a sandwich he was eating, "put this on your hook." Leach did, baiting a fragment on each of two hooks, and dropping them overboard. Leach took the two largest seabass of the day.

Rookie Cops Hear How FBI Does It

Kingston's largest group of rookie patrolmen is getting instructions this week preliminary to starting duties next week in uniform so that the local department may operate on a 40-hour week schedule. One of the men recently named to serve, Walter C. Schmitz, of 82 Third avenue, declined appointment, and the Board of Police Commissioners, meeting in special session yesterday, appointed Joseph Kivian, of 149 Hunter street, to fill the vacancy. Kivian was scheduled to be measured for uniform today with the rest of the group. The new appointment brings the department's total personnel to 49, and the top patrolman's badge number will be 39. Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said the civil service eligibility list now contains the name of Francis J. Buchanan, of 43 Sycamore street, for appointment, and Schmitz, although declining appointment at present, has asked to keep his name on the list. The police board, to date, has appointed 14 from the original list of 17. The group in the instruction class yesterday, shown above, were: First row, from left, Everett J. Emmick, James J. Harbeck, Hydrecht S. Armstrong, Floyd M. Krom, Charles E. McCullough, and Instructor Edward F. Monahan of the FBI, showing how to manipulate the manacles; second row, Edward J. Edwards, Crawford G. Millham, Bernard J. Fowler, and Anthony J. Turck; third row, John W. Frasch, William A. Slover, and Harold T. Bowers. (Freeman photo).

District Attorney Will Probe Allegations in Ellenville Case

Charge Is Village Trustee Used Pipes in Private Housing Development

District Attorney Howard C. St. John has ordered a full-scale investigation into allegations that between $1,100 and $1,200 worth of drain pipe belonging to the village of Ellenville was installed in a housing development privately owned by one of the village trustees.

Revealing today that he had caused the village records to be subpoenaed, St. John said the probe had been ordered "to determine if there has been any violation of law."

Will Be Interviewed

Village trustees were scheduled to be interviewed by the district attorney today. Also slated for interviews are the village water

Three Are in Jail After Check Deal

Police Report Finding 30 Different Names on Stack in Auto

Elizabeth, N. J., June 23 (AP)—Three New York men were held in jail here today because one of them attempted to cash a check at a local bank.

Detective Capt. August F. Winkelmann said the men were picked up by detectives yesterday after one of them, Melvin M. Zimmerman, tried to cash a check in the Bayway branch of the National State Bank.

Zimmerman also attempted to open an account at the bank, Winkelmann said, and attempted to cash a check drawn on the Broad street branch of the bank by another member of the trio, Edmund J. Mullaly, Jr.

Assumed Names Used

In both cases, assumed names were used and the check would have overdrawn the Broad street account, police said.

Winkelmann said Zimmerman was picked up in the bank and Mullaly and Will Bowen in a car half a block away after Miss Irene O'Brien, assistant manager at the bank, became suspicious and reported to J. Harry George, assistant vice president who called police.

Police said they found 30 checks signed by different persons, including checks drawn on Newark and Jersey City banks, Social Security cards made out in an assortment of names and blank auto insurance forms in the car.

Called Big Operation

"It looks like a pretty big operation," Winkelmann said.

The three were arrested on disorderly conduct charges which later were changed to complaints that they were fugitives from New York state.

Winkelmann said Mullaly, 31, of 41 Point street, Yonkers, and Zimmerman, 44, of 1312 Sheridan avenue, New York city, were wanted in Yonkers on charges of fraudulent check cashing.

Bowen, 25, of 961 St. John street, Brooklyn, N. Y., is wanted by the New York State Department of Correction as a parole violator, Winkelmann said.

Game Is Broken Up

Local police yesterday broke up a dice game at Gill and Walnut streets, but caught none of the participants. Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Francis Fagan went to the corner soon after headquarters was notified, and reported they got the dice, but no money and the boys had dispersed.

Union Has Plan To End Shape-Up

Would Operate Centers Jointly With Union and Employers

New York, June 23 (AP)—The AFL International Longshoremen's Association has come up with a plan to eliminate the shape-up through establishment of 12 hiring centers for dock workers in the port of New York.

The ILA proposes that the centers be operated jointly by the union and the employers and financed by employers.

The ILA plan was made public yesterday as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey were pushing a bi-state waterfront cleanup program toward legislative approval.

Part of Legislation

Abolition of the shape-up system of hiring and establishment of regional employment exchanges under state control are part of the legislation planned to drive crime and racketeering from the waterfront through a two-man interstate commission.

The bi-state cleanup program is based largely on recommenda-

Living Costs Take 3rd Straight Rise

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The cost of living edged upward another three-tenths of one per cent between mid-April and mid-May, the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) reported today.

This was the third straight month the BLS consumer price index registered a rise.

The bureau said all major living cost items showed slight increases, except for transportation which showed no change.

The new index showed retail prices for city families with moderate incomes were 114 per cent of the 1947-1949 average as of May 15.

This was nine-tenths of one per

President Lists Terms With Clark

Sources Say Terms Not Acceptable to Leaders of UN; Asks Pact With United States

Seoul, June 23 (AP)—South Korea's army will be withdrawn from control of the UN Command and go it alone if a truce is signed on present terms, President Syngman Rhee said today in a CBS interview.

Rhee's threat was included in reply to questions submitted by Columbia Broadcasting System's Far East chief, George Herman.

There was no other reference to the possibility of South Korea's pulling out of the UN Command.

After talking with Rhee yesterday, Gen. Mark Clark told newsmen there was an understanding that if Rhee "felt the time had come to consider such disastrous action that he would discuss it with me before he came to that decision."

"That time has not come in my opinion," Clark said.

Lists Terms

Rhee also listed terms he said must be included in an acceptable armistice agreement. They were identical with the points of a compromise proposal reported earlier today by AP Tokyo Bureau Chief Robert Eunson.

Sources close to the U. S. embassy here said Rhee's terms were wholly unacceptable to the UN Command.

His proposal calls for:

1. Simultaneous withdrawal of both UN and Chinese forces from Korea.

2. Mutual defense pact with the United States.

3. A three-month post-armistice peace conference with the war to resume if no agreement is reached before the 90-day deadline.

Rhee said that in conferences yesterday and today Gen. Clark asked him to keep 8,200 anti-Communist Korean prisoners of war still in allied stockades under guard to prevent their escape.

Difficult Situation

"We are in a difficult situation," Rhee said. "These prisoners demand that they must have equal right to be freed. It is very difficult to keep them quiet in custody. The Korean people demand they be set free."

About his order releasing 27,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners from UN camps, Rhee said:

"The UN authorities should thank me for it instead of calling me a violator. Did anyone representing the UN or the US ever raise the question as to what the Communists did with our prisoners of war? No one did question the violation of all international law by the Communists but everyone is brave to condemn me as a violator. I do not understand such inconsistency."

Do Not Believe Reds

Rhee said he did not believe for one minute that the Reds will keep an armistice or a peace treaty that might follow it.

"I do not believe the UN advocates of the armistice themselves have much faith in it. They are agreeing to it, with a grain of salt and with a knowledge of the risk of failure, just for the sake of a make-believe peace."

He argued that the armistice would elate Communists all over the world and give them hope that they can get away with more aggression.

Three Killed in Wreck

Merced, Calif., June 23 (AP)—A southbound Santa Fe passenger train collided headon with a northbound freight train near here today killing three persons and injuring five. A Santa Fe spokesman said the passenger engineer, K. A. Roberts, Richmond, Calif., was killed when his locomotive overturned. D. C. Curnute, Fresno, his fireman, and a transient hitchhicker on the freight also were killed. Brakeman D. E. Quaintance, Richmond, and four transients were injured.

Swedes Leave for Orient

Stockholm, Sweden, June 23 (AP) The first group of Swedes for the prospective Korean Armistice Commission—22 men under Colonel N. Ingvarsson—took off from Stockholm today for Tokyo via Washington. They flew in a Lockheed Constellation belonging to the U. S. Military Transports Service. Col. Ingvarsson said his team will carry out its duties "with strictest neutrality and impartiality." Representatives of the Swedish Foreign Ministry and diplomatic officials saw them off.

House Votes Own Tax Cut, But Senate Might Say 'No'

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The House of Representatives, which since last February has kept bottled up a bill for individual tax reduction, has voted to give its members substantial tax relief.

But the Senate may knock the plan in the head, as it did last year.

Without debate and with no audible opposition, the House voted yesterday to allow members of Congress to deduct all their Washington expenses when they figure out their tax bills. They could deduct lodging, food, taxicabs, telephone charges and so on for themselves but not for their families. For tax purposes, their legal residences would be in their home districts, and all Washington expenses would be considered business expenses and deductible for tax purposes. Congress members may now deduct up to $3,000 a year as Washington expenses.

The tax relief proposal was written into the annual appropriation bill to finance Congress. It was proposed by Rep. McCormack (D.-Mass.), who long had advocated a pay raise for congressmen on the ground they have difficulty making ends meet on their present $15,000 official income.

Sen. Williams (R.-Del.), who led the Senate fight against the proposal last year, said he would fight it again this year.

Some members of Congress, Williams said, have large outside incomes which put them in the bracket taxed at 90 per cent of in-

Democrats Have Strength In Voting Upon Major Bills

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The Senate's 47 to 42 rejection of an administration economic controls bill indicated today that Democrats will have a strong hand in the final fashioning of any major legislation passed by the GOP Congress.

In a striking demonstration of minority party solidarity, 43 Democrats joined with three Republicans and sent the controls bill back to conference with the House.

Republican Sens. Langer of North Dakota, Williams of Delaware and Young of North Dakota voted with the Democrats. So did Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.).

Involved was a GOP effort, approved by the House, to create a new Small Business Organization (SBA) to make loans of up to $100,000 to smaller concerns. These loans now are handled through the Small Defense Plants Administration (SDPA).

Democrats charged this was a "patronage grab" designed to provide jobs for Republicans.

The Republican leadership's defeat was attributed in some quarters to the absence of Sen. Taft (R.-Ohio) at the critical stages when a compromise might have been perfected and a showdown vote avoided.

Taft, receiving medical treatment for an ailing hip, wouldn't comment on this aspect, but he said in an interview he believes a compromise still can be worked out which the Democrats will sup-

Russians Display Kindness to Boy

Orphan Allowed to Slip Through Curtain to Western Zone

Berlin, June 23 (AP)—Unusual kindness raised the tank-guarded Iron Curtain briefly today to let an 11-year-old orphan boy slip out of riot-torn East Germany to a haven with relatives in West Berlin.

With all his belongings in a rucksack on his back, little Peter Von Dsikowitzky came all alone from Schwerin, 120 miles to the northeast. When he reached the East-West Berlin border, he met kindness instead of bullets.

A Communist officer gave the child a hand-written pass, and Communist peoples' police—the dreaded "Vopos" with notches on their guns—escorted him across in a radio patrol car.

This was the same border Russian troops and East German police have sealed with tanks and machine guns ever since the workers' revolt against Soviet rule began last Wednesday. On this same border a 15-year-old boy was shot to death by "Vopos" yesterday for jeering and throwing rocks at them.

Father Killed in War

Peter's story was one of the few touches of human kindness to come out of the last week's epic of bloodshed.

His father, a German officer of noble Russian descent, was killed in the war. His mother was "taken away" by the Russians in 1945 and never returned. He lived with his half-deaf, 65-year-old grandmother in Schwerin.

The grandmother became ill recently, and the Communists wanted to put Peter in an orphange. Both she and the boy balked. They ventured a dangerous experiment.

Reaching East Berlin, he met one kind person after another. A man helped him ride the subway to midtown near the western frontier. A woman gave him lodging for the night.

Then he encountered the government's neighborhood watchdog—the "strassenvertrauensmann." He is supposed to see that every one who enters his precinct has the proper papers and registers with the police.

Little Peter—small for his age, with fair skin, blue eyes and light brown hair—must have touched his heart. He wrote a letter describing Peter's plight and asking that he be passed through the border guard.

Peter's engaging smile, reinforced by this letter, won again. The "vopos" drove him through.

Finally he reached his aunt, 26-year-old Tatjana Von Dsikowitzky, in West Berlin. She is jobless. So is her fiance. They can't even afford to marry.

"But I'm going to keep him, somehow," she said.

Driver of Milk Tanker Taken to Hospital in Newburgh; His Condition 'Poor'

A truck driver was seriously injured about 11 p. m. Monday on Route 9W at Marlborough about 500 feet from the spot where another tractor trailer was wrecked early Monday morning, killing one and injuring two.

State police of the Highland station, continuing their investigation of both accidents, said the driver of the milk tank trailer involved in the Monday night accident has not been positively identified. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh, troopers said.

Condition Is 'Poor'

At St. Luke's Hospital this noon, authorities said that James Lee, 27, of 76 Grand street, Kingston, was admitted shortly after 11 p. m. with injuries sustained in an accident. His condition was reported as "poor."

Lee, a truck driver, formerly worked for Needes' Express in this city, but has since changed jobs, it was learned today.

Troopers said the tractor-trailer involved in last night's accident was owned by Charleton Whittaker of Unadilla, in Otsego county.

Troopers said a blowout apparently caused the vehicle to leave the highway, strike a tree and turn over, spilling its load of milk on the highway.

Autopsy Is Revealed

Meanwhile, the report of the autopsy performed Monday on Milton Harold Bullett, 40, of Watervliet, disclosed death due to multiple injuries including bilateral fractures of ribs, other fractures, and lacerations of spleen and liver, state police reported.

Injured in the same fatal accident, which occurred about 4:30 a. m. Monday, were George Pickett, 20, of 12 Clinton street, Albany, and Dean Berry Reed, 12, of Route 1, Waterford. They were both listed in "poor" condition at St. Luke's Hospital this morning.

First reports of the accident, to which there were no witnesses other than the injured persons, had listed Bullett as the driver. However, troopers said that the 12-year-old boy told them later that Pickett was driving. Troopers have not been able to talk to Pickett, and are holding the matter open pending further investigation.

Caviar Is Shipped

Tehran, Iran, June 23 (AP)—Eight tons of caviar—worth about $5 a spoonful in any western nightclub — were shipped to the Soviet Union this week by Iran's newly nationalized fishing industry.

All Sprinkling Is Banned as Tank Creates Emergency

Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, today announced a water system emergency that will prohibit all sprinkling and unnecessary use of water until further notice.

The emergency arises from a mechanical failure at the Glen street tank and makes it "imperative that all sprinkling be discontinued" until adjustments are made, Cloonan said.

Full storage is necessary at all times in the city's standpipes for fire protection, he stressed, and it is therefore urgent that the public cooperate with this emergency request to conserve water.

Notice will be given as soon as it is possible to resume the regular sprinkling hours.

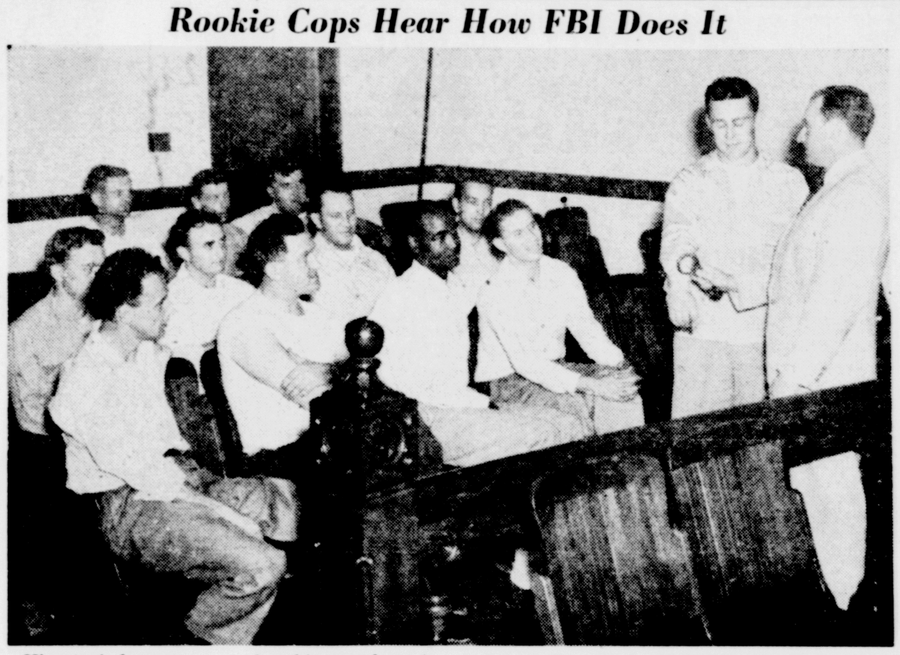

But No Free Lemonade

Bluefield, W. Va., June 23 (AP)—A kindly weather official saved this boasted "nature's air conditioned city" from an early 1953 summer payoff of free lemonade. The Chamber of Commerce has a standing offer to ladle out drinks any day the temperature goes above 90 degrees. The Weather Bureau thermometer read 93 yesterday. But C. K. Caldwell, the official observer, didn't believe his own instrument. He said it couldn't have been that hot and that somebody must have jarred it. So he declined to make an official temperature report — to the chamber's relief.

Went for Corned Beef

Branford, Conn., June 23 (AP)—Capt. Casper Block, a fishing guide operating out of this Long Island Sound port, swears its true. Police Commissioner David Leach of New Haven was the only one of a party aboard his craft who was not taking fish during a trip to Mattatuck, L. I. "Here," jibed Det. Capt. Raymond Egan, taking a piece of corned beef from a sandwich he was eating, "put this on your hook." Leach did, baiting a fragment on each of two hooks, and dropping them overboard. Leach took the two largest seabass of the day.

Rookie Cops Hear How FBI Does It

Kingston's largest group of rookie patrolmen is getting instructions this week preliminary to starting duties next week in uniform so that the local department may operate on a 40-hour week schedule. One of the men recently named to serve, Walter C. Schmitz, of 82 Third avenue, declined appointment, and the Board of Police Commissioners, meeting in special session yesterday, appointed Joseph Kivian, of 149 Hunter street, to fill the vacancy. Kivian was scheduled to be measured for uniform today with the rest of the group. The new appointment brings the department's total personnel to 49, and the top patrolman's badge number will be 39. Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said the civil service eligibility list now contains the name of Francis J. Buchanan, of 43 Sycamore street, for appointment, and Schmitz, although declining appointment at present, has asked to keep his name on the list. The police board, to date, has appointed 14 from the original list of 17. The group in the instruction class yesterday, shown above, were: First row, from left, Everett J. Emmick, James J. Harbeck, Hydrecht S. Armstrong, Floyd M. Krom, Charles E. McCullough, and Instructor Edward F. Monahan of the FBI, showing how to manipulate the manacles; second row, Edward J. Edwards, Crawford G. Millham, Bernard J. Fowler, and Anthony J. Turck; third row, John W. Frasch, William A. Slover, and Harold T. Bowers. (Freeman photo).

President Lists Terms With Clark

Sources Say Terms Not Acceptable to Leaders of UN; Asks Pact With United States

Seoul, June 23 (AP)—South Korea's army will be withdrawn from control of the UN Command and go it alone if a truce is signed on present terms, President Syngman Rhee said today in a CBS interview.

Rhee's threat was included in reply to questions submitted by Columbia Broadcasting System's Far East chief, George Herman.

There was no other reference to the possibility of South Korea's pulling out of the UN Command.

After talking with Rhee yesterday, Gen. Mark Clark told newsmen there was an understanding that if Rhee "felt the time had come to consider such disastrous action that he would discuss it with me before he came to that decision."

"That time has not come in my opinion," Clark said.

Lists Terms

Rhee also listed terms he said must be included in an acceptable armistice agreement. They were identical with the points of a compromise proposal reported earlier today by AP Tokyo Bureau Chief Robert Eunson.

Sources close to the U. S. embassy here said Rhee's terms were wholly unacceptable to the UN Command.

His proposal calls for:

1. Simultaneous withdrawal of both UN and Chinese forces from Korea.

2. Mutual defense pact with the United States.

3. A three-month post-armistice peace conference with the war to resume if no agreement is reached before the 90-day deadline.

Rhee said that in conferences yesterday and today Gen. Clark asked him to keep 8,200 anti-Communist Korean prisoners of war still in allied stockades under guard to prevent their escape.

Difficult Situation

"We are in a difficult situation," Rhee said. "These prisoners demand that they must have equal right to be freed. It is very difficult to keep them quiet in custody. The Korean people demand they be set free."

About his order releasing 27,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners from UN camps, Rhee said:

"The UN authorities should thank me for it instead of calling me a violator. Did anyone representing the UN or the US ever raise the question as to what the Communists did with our prisoners of war? No one did question the violation of all international law by the Communists but everyone is brave to condemn me as a violator. I do not understand such inconsistency."

Do Not Believe Reds

Rhee said he did not believe for one minute that the Reds will keep an armistice or a peace treaty that might follow it.

"I do not believe the UN advocates of the armistice themselves have much faith in it. They are agreeing to it, with a grain of salt and with a knowledge of the risk of failure, just for the sake of a make-believe peace."

He argued that the armistice would elate Communists all over the world and give them hope that they can get away with more aggression.

Charge Is Village Trustee Used Pipes in Private Housing Development

District Attorney Howard C. St. John has ordered a full-scale investigation into allegations that between $1,100 and $1,200 worth of drain pipe belonging to the village of Ellenville was installed in a housing development privately owned by one of the village trustees.

Revealing today that he had caused the village records to be subpoenaed, St. John said the probe had been ordered "to determine if there has been any violation of law."

Will Be Interviewed

Village trustees were scheduled to be interviewed by the district attorney today. Also slated for interviews are the village water

Police Report Finding 30 Different Names on Stack in Auto

Elizabeth, N. J., June 23 (AP)—Three New York men were held in jail here today because one of them attempted to cash a check at a local bank.

Detective Capt. August F. Winkelmann said the men were picked up by detectives yesterday after one of them, Melvin M. Zimmerman, tried to cash a check in the Bayway branch of the National State Bank.

Zimmerman also attempted to open an account at the bank, Winkelmann said, and attempted to cash a check drawn on the Broad street branch of the bank by another member of the trio, Edmund J. Mullaly, Jr.

Assumed Names Used

In both cases, assumed names were used and the check would have overdrawn the Broad street account, police said.

Winkelmann said Zimmerman was picked up in the bank and Mullaly and Will Bowen in a car half a block away after Miss Irene O'Brien, assistant manager at the bank, became suspicious and reported to J. Harry George, assistant vice president who called police.

Police said they found 30 checks signed by different persons, including checks drawn on Newark and Jersey City banks, Social Security cards made out in an assortment of names and blank auto insurance forms in the car.

Called Big Operation

"It looks like a pretty big operation," Winkelmann said.

The three were arrested on disorderly conduct charges which later were changed to complaints that they were fugitives from New York state.

Winkelmann said Mullaly, 31, of 41 Point street, Yonkers, and Zimmerman, 44, of 1312 Sheridan avenue, New York city, were wanted in Yonkers on charges of fraudulent check cashing.

Bowen, 25, of 961 St. John street, Brooklyn, N. Y., is wanted by the New York State Department of Correction as a parole violator, Winkelmann said.

Game Is Broken Up

Local police yesterday broke up a dice game at Gill and Walnut streets, but caught none of the participants. Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Francis Fagan went to the corner soon after headquarters was notified, and reported they got the dice, but no money and the boys had dispersed.

Union Has Plan To End Shape-Up

Would Operate Centers Jointly With Union and Employers

New York, June 23 (AP)—The AFL International Longshoremen's Association has come up with a plan to eliminate the shape-up through establishment of 12 hiring centers for dock workers in the port of New York.

The ILA proposes that the centers be operated jointly by the union and the employers and financed by employers.

The ILA plan was made public yesterday as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey were pushing a bi-state waterfront cleanup program toward legislative approval.

Part of Legislation

Abolition of the shape-up system of hiring and establishment of regional employment exchanges under state control are part of the legislation planned to drive crime and racketeering from the waterfront through a two-man interstate commission.

The bi-state cleanup program is based largely on recommenda-

Living Costs Take 3rd Straight Rise

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The cost of living edged upward another three-tenths of one per cent between mid-April and mid-May, the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) reported today.

This was the third straight month the BLS consumer price index registered a rise.

The bureau said all major living cost items showed slight increases, except for transportation which showed no change.

The new index showed retail prices for city families with moderate incomes were 114 per cent of the 1947-1949 average as of May 15.

This was nine-tenths of one per

House Votes Own Tax Cut, But Senate Might Say 'No'

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The House of Representatives, which since last February has kept bottled up a bill for individual tax reduction, has voted to give its members substantial tax relief.

But the Senate may knock the plan in the head, as it did last year.

Without debate and with no audible opposition, the House voted yesterday to allow members of Congress to deduct all their Washington expenses when they figure out their tax bills. They could deduct lodging, food, taxicabs, telephone charges and so on for themselves but not for their families. For tax purposes, their legal residences would be in their home districts, and all Washington expenses would be considered business expenses and deductible for tax purposes. Congress members may now deduct up to $3,000 a year as Washington expenses.

The tax relief proposal was written into the annual appropriation bill to finance Congress. It was proposed by Rep. McCormack (D.-Mass.), who long had advocated a pay raise for congressmen on the ground they have difficulty making ends meet on their present $15,000 official income.

Sen. Williams (R.-Del.), who led the Senate fight against the proposal last year, said he would fight it again this year.

Some members of Congress, Williams said, have large outside incomes which put them in the bracket taxed at 90 per cent of in-

Democrats Have Strength In Voting Upon Major Bills

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The Senate's 47 to 42 rejection of an administration economic controls bill indicated today that Democrats will have a strong hand in the final fashioning of any major legislation passed by the GOP Congress.

In a striking demonstration of minority party solidarity, 43 Democrats joined with three Republicans and sent the controls bill back to conference with the House.

Republican Sens. Langer of North Dakota, Williams of Delaware and Young of North Dakota voted with the Democrats. So did Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.).

Involved was a GOP effort, approved by the House, to create a new Small Business Organization (SBA) to make loans of up to $100,000 to smaller concerns. These loans now are handled through the Small Defense Plants Administration (SDPA).

Democrats charged this was a "patronage grab" designed to provide jobs for Republicans.

The Republican leadership's defeat was attributed in some quarters to the absence of Sen. Taft (R.-Ohio) at the critical stages when a compromise might have been perfected and a showdown vote avoided.

Taft, receiving medical treatment for an ailing hip, wouldn't comment on this aspect, but he said in an interview he believes a compromise still can be worked out which the Democrats will sup-

Three Killed in Wreck

Merced, Calif., June 23 (AP)—A southbound Santa Fe passenger train collided headon with a northbound freight train near here today killing three persons and injuring five. A Santa Fe spokesman said the passenger engineer, K. A. Roberts, Richmond, Calif., was killed when his locomotive overturned. D. C. Curnute, Fresno, his fireman, and a transient hitchhicker on the freight also were killed. Brakeman D. E. Quaintance, Richmond, and four transients were injured.

Swedes Leave for Orient

Stockholm, Sweden, June 23 (AP) The first group of Swedes for the prospective Korean Armistice Commission—22 men under Colonel N. Ingvarsson—took off from Stockholm today for Tokyo via Washington. They flew in a Lockheed Constellation belonging to the U. S. Military Transports Service. Col. Ingvarsson said his team will carry out its duties "with strictest neutrality and impartiality." Representatives of the Swedish Foreign Ministry and diplomatic officials saw them off.

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The position of the Treasury June 19: Net budget receipts, $778,324,186.64; budget expenditures, $417,467,209.67; cash balance, $4,654,108,905.52; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $61,219,893,146.76; budget expenditures fiscal year, $71,503,197,763.58; budget deficit, $10,283,304,616.82; total debt, $266,339,047,691.89; gold assets, $22,512,084,136.58.

Backing Is Assured On Anti-Crime Bills

Albany, June 23 (AP)—Republican and Democratic legislative leaders today announced bi-partisan support of Gov. Dewey's seven anti-crime bills, assuring quick action on the measure at this week's special session.

But the joint statement made no mention of the waterfront reform bill proposed by the Dewey adminstration as a weapon against violence and rackets of New York city docks.

The leaders said they had agreed to sponsor jointly the other measures drafted by Dewey's Republican administration to carry out recommendations of the State Crime Commission.

The Legislature will meet Thursday noon in the special session called by Dewey to act on anti-crime legislation and to amend the New York City Transit Authority Act.

The statement was issued by Senate Leader Arthur H. Wicks, Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck; Lee B. Mailler, Assembly majority leader, and the Democratic minority leaders, Sen. Francis J. Mahoney and Assemblyman Eugene F. Bannigan.

Forward Step

In the statement, the leaders termed the legislation "a remarkable forward step in law enforcement in the state of New York.

Dewey has urged passage of six of the bills and is offering the seventh for study by the legislators in advance of the regular 1954 session.

Measures slated for action this week would create a special commissioner to probe crime and corruption, broaden the governor's power to remove mayors and police chiefs for misconduct in office, establish a uniform jury system for counties outside New York city, and strengthen the hand of law enforcement agencies in court procedures.

Legislative action on a bill to establish minimum training and qualification standards for police departments will be put off until next year to enable the lawmakers to iron out any kinks in the measure.

Only token resistance to Dewey's waterfront bill is expected. The measure, designed to give New York and New Jersey control over the crime-ridden piers, would set up New York's half of a bi-state commission to regulate waterfront labor practices.

Think Furniture Prices Will Remain Steady

Chicago, June 23 (AP)—Retail prices of home furnishings are likely to remain steady during the coming months—but . . .

That's the consensus of industry leaders gathered in Chicago for the annual summer home furnishings market.

D. J. Jordan, president of the Johnson-Carper Furniture Co., Roanoke, Va., echoed industry sentiment Monday when he told a news conference he expects prices to remain at January levels.

But Jordan quickly added that further increases in prices of raw materials, labor and other services "would necessitate and justify an upward trend in furniture prices."

A similar forecast came from James D. Wise, president of the Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co., New York city. He said:

"At present there is neither justification for, nor evidence of, changes in carpet prices."

Thousands of buyers for retail stores across the nation are crowding into showrooms at the the Merchandise Mart and the American Furniture Mart during the 12-day event. It's an all-wholesale show, with the general public barred from the exhibition halls.

Verdict Is Given

A verdict of death by natural causes was issued today by Coroner Michael Galietta on the basis of results an autopsy performed Monday in the case of the death of Mrs. Caroline Mack, 29, of Brooklyn, who died suddenly while visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Herman Waldmer at Binnewater. Mrs. Mack's body has been shipped to Brooklyn for funeral and burial.

Communists Call Executed Spies Immortal Patriots

New York, June 23 (AP)—The Communist party had its official say today about the Rosenberg spy executions and called the couple "two immortal American patriots."

The statement was published in the Daily Worker, the party journal, over the signatures of William Z. Foster, party chairman, Pettis Perry and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn.

The bitterly-phrased statement said "the claim the Rosenbergs 'had their day in court' is a mockery of truth and justice. The Supreme Court was reconvened illegally to cancel the stay of execution, and met with a pistol to its head in the form of impeachment threats, in an atmosphere of a southern lynch town."

Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were electrocuted at Sing Sing Friday for conspiring to betray U. S. atomic bomb secrets to Russia. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court five times. It met in special session last week after Justice William O. Douglas granted a stay on the grounds the couple might have been tried under the wrong law. By a 6-3 vote the full court voided the stay.

Throughout their trial and afterwards, the Rosenbergs declined to answer questions whether they ever belonged to the Communist party, and insisted they were innocent of a frameup.

Says U. S. 'Plotted'

The party statement today said the government "plotted to force the humble Jewish couple to betray democracy by 'fingering' the Progressive and Marxist movement as an 'espionage conspiracy.' * * *

"In short * * * a political plot to assist in advancing the McCarthyite pro-Fascist reign of fear in the United States, to brutalize the population, and get it to accept the further Fascization of the United States without resistance."

"Already the murder of the Rosenbergs, in defiance of world opinion, has increased the isolation of the Washington pro-war plotters to an acute degree," the Communist manifesto said. "There is not a people, a nation, in the world today which does not seek to pull away from the Washington A-bomb worshippers."

Two Are Convicted

Two signers of the statement, Miss Flynn and Perry, were convicted Jan. 21 with 11 other "second string" Communist leaders for participating in a revolutionary conspiracy. Each was sentenced to three years in prison and fined $6,000. All have appealed.

Foster recently was granted a stay of trial, because of a heart condition, on charges of conspiring to advocate overthrow of the government.

He was indicted with 11 top Red leaders, but gained a severance. The rest were convicted in 1949. Eight are serving prison terms. Three jumped bail and still are at large.

Ride on 50-Year Tickets

Elm Grove, W. Va., June 23 (AP)—Mrs. Jesse Baird, 89, is taking her two grandchildren on a five-mile choo-choo ride today with a couple of train tickets more than 50 years old. Mrs. Baird recently wrote to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad headquarters in Baltimore saying she had the ancient tickets. She explained she'd like to give her grandchildren their first train ride with the ducats. The B&O said okay since there wasn't any date of expiration. So Mrs. Baird and the children will take the 13-minute trip from here to Wheeling.

Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were electrocuted at Sing Sing Friday for conspiring to betray U. S. atomic bomb secrets to Russia. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court five times. It met in special session last week after Justice William O. Douglas granted a stay on the grounds the couple might have been tried under the wrong law. By a 6-3 vote the full court voided the stay.

Throughout their trial and afterwards, the Rosenbergs declined to answer questions whether they ever belonged to the Communist party, and insisted they were innocent of a frameup.

Says U. S. 'Plotted'

The party statement today said the government "plotted to force the humble Jewish couple to betray democracy by 'fingering' the Progressive and Marxist movement as an 'espionage conspiracy.' * * *

"In short * * * a political plot to assist in advancing the McCarthyite pro-Fascist reign of fear in the United States, to brutalize the population, and get it to accept the further Fascization of the United States without resistance."

"Already the murder of the Rosenbergs, in defiance of world opinion, has increased the isolation of the Washington pro-war plotters to an acute degree," the Communist manifesto said. "There is not a people, a nation, in the world today which does not seek to pull away from the Washington A-bomb worshippers."

Two Are Convicted

Two signers of the statement, Miss Flynn and Perry, were convicted Jan. 21 with 11 other "second string" Communist leaders for participating in a revolutionary conspiracy. Each was sentenced to three years in prison and fined $6,000. All have appealed.

Foster recently was granted a stay of trial, because of a heart condition, on charges of conspiring to advocate overthrow of the government.

He was indicted with 11 top Red leaders, but gained a severance. The rest were convicted in 1949. Eight are serving prison terms. Three jumped bail and still are at large.

Ride on 50-Year Tickets

Elm Grove, W. Va., June 23 (AP)—Mrs. Jesse Baird, 89, is taking her two grandchildren on a five-mile choo-choo ride today with a couple of train tickets more than 50 years old. Mrs. Baird recently wrote to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad headquarters in Baltimore saying she had the ancient tickets. She explained she'd like to give her grandchildren their first train ride with the ducats. The B & O said okay since there wasn't any date of expiration. So Mrs. Baird and the children will take the 13-minute trip from here to Wheeling.

Ammo Dump Blows

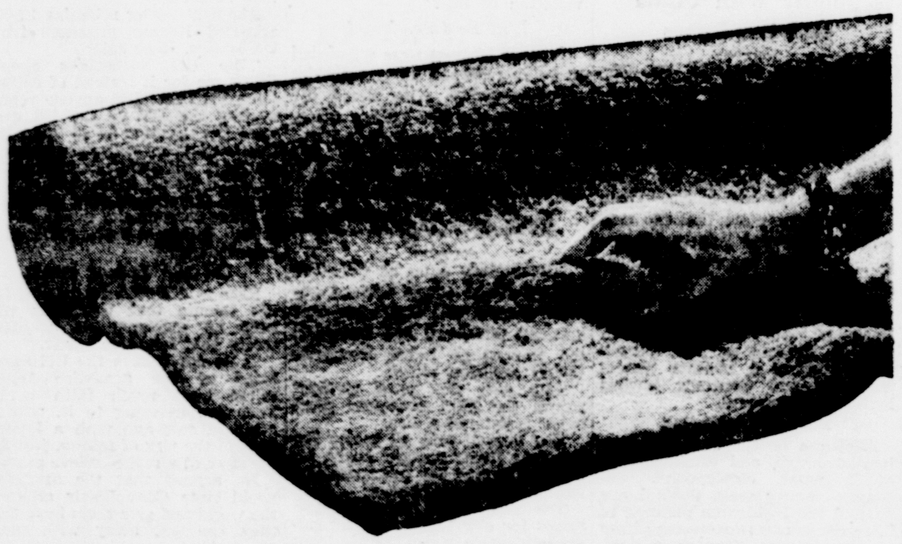

Athens, Greece, June 23 (AP)—A violent explosion in a munitions dump rocked Salonika, Greece's second largest city, today but no deaths or property damage outside the dump were reported.

Calls for Inquiry

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) called today for a senatorial inquiry into plans of the Eisenhower administration to strip civil service protection from thousands of government jobs. Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission announced yesterday President Eisenhower soon will issue an executive order for a review of about 134,000 jobs, 66,000 in this country and 68,000 overseas, to determine whether they should be stripped of civil service protection. Young said posts involved will include specialists' jobs brought into the civil service in 1947 by an executive order of former President Truman.

Wrestlers Seek Asylum

Salzburg, Austria, June 23 (AP)—Two Yugoslav amateur wrestlers are seeking asylum in the West. They say they don't like President Tito's Communist regime and want to "live in freedom." Newspapers identified the two as Josef Nayer, his country's heavyweight champion, and Belo Antal, a featherweight. Both were members of the "Spartak" wrestling club which met an Austrian team last weekend at Hallein in the U. S. zone of Austria. The pair told reporters they boarded a Yugoslav-bound train with their teammates after the matches but escaped when the train stopped at a way station. Both said they want to emigrate to Canada.

She Has No Car

Hollywood, June 23 (AP)—Actor John Wayne's estranged wife, Esperanza, was without a car today. Two Los Angeles county marshals yesterday seized her auto because of an allegedly unpaid liquor and grocery bill totaling $2,367. Earlier this month the Superior Court turned down Mrs. Wayne's bid for $9,350 monthly temporary alimony and said she'd have to get along on $1,100. Trial of her separate maintenance suit is due Oct. 19.

Miracle of Our Lady of Fatima At the Orpheum

The Miracle of Our Lady of Fatima, Warner Brothers stirring true story drama of the famous miracle that occurred 35 years ago in the little town of Fatima, Portugal will open at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week at popular prices. The performances on both days will be at 2, 6:30 and 8:30 p. m.

The Orpheum management invites all the religious of the city to be the guests of the theatre.

The story of the miracle goes back to May 13, 1917 when three shepherd children reported that they had seen a vision in a field near the village. The children declared the vision had promised to appear to them five more times on the same date in succeeding months. In these later meetings, the children reported the vision had prophesied that World 1 then raging would end shortly. Also there would be a World War II. There were a number of other prophecies which since have come true.

Prosecuted by the Socialistic government, the children and their families withstood threats of jailing torture rather than give up their faith in the Lady of Fatima.

The story one of the world's most dramatic expressions of faith has Gilbert Roland and Susan Whitney in key posts.

Since the children reported the vision at Fatima, that little village just northeast of Lisbon has become one of the world's greatest shrines and has been visited by millions of people from all parts of the world.

To Hold Dedication At Onteora Central School on June 26

The formal dedication of Onteora Central School at Boiceville will be held Friday, June 26, at 8:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

There will be an address by Dr. Edwin R. Van Kleeck, assistant commissioner for pupil personnel services and adult education, state education department. John H. Moehle co-ordinator of civil defense, state education department, will also speak.

The orchestra, whose music for this occasion is provided with the cooperation of Local 215 of the American Federation of Musicians, Kingston, through a grant from the musical performance trust fund of the recording industry, will be under the direction of Harry Simon, head of the music department of Onteora School. The orchestra will play during the formal ceremony and will remain to provide music for dancing in the gym.

Alan Gilbert, star of Finian's Rainbow and South Pacific will sing several songs during the dedication.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria, courtesy of Mrs. Barringer, head of the school dietetic department.

The dedication books will be ready for distribution by the auxiliary gym immediately following the program. Copies will also be on sale for those who have not previously placed orders.

Hand Similar to No-Trump Opener

The overcall of one no-trump shows much the same sort of hand that you would need for an opening bid of one no-trump. In today's hand, South was a bit weak in spades, but his hand was otherwise ideally suited to a defensive overcall of one no-trump.

North responded exactly as though his partner had opened the bidding with one no-trump. He had a count of 11 points and expected his partner to have about 16 to 18 points. Obviously the total was enough to provide a play for game, and North wasted no time in reaching a game contract.

When West opened the ten of hearts, declarer stopped to plan the play. It was obviously easy to take four tricks in each red suit and the ace of spades for a total of nine sure tricks. Since, however, the hand was being played at a match point pair tournament, South was interested in making as many overtricks as possible.

Declarer therefore won the first trick with dummy's queen of hearts and immediately returned a low club from the dummy! Caught by surprise, East carelessly played a low club.

South played the queen of clubs, and was now sure of ten tricks. Actually, South was headed for eleven tricks.

Declarer merely rattled off his tricks in the red suits. By the time that South had reduced to two clubs and two spades in his own hand and also in the dummy, East had been forced to reduce likewise to two clubs and two spades.

At this point South simply led a club and allowed East to take his two club tricks. East was then obliged to lead away from his king of spades, giving South the last two tricks with the queen and ace of spades.

There was no way for East to set the contract, but he would have fared better if he had taken the king and ace of clubs as soon as he was given the chance to do so.

After winning the second and third tricks with high clubs, East could have exited safely with another club, after which he could sit back and wait for a spade trick to be given to him.

You don't have to scrimp and save on other essentials when you use clean, comfortable modern automatic oil heat—and it's DEPENDABLE and ECONOMICAL, too!

No automatic heat can give you MORE advantages than oil heat—but many others are lacking in dependability and economy of operation.

Gas heat, as an instance, costs you 20% to 25% more than oil heat—and you can't even hedge against tomorrow's emergencies by storing as much as an hour's supply on your premises. Why risk hotel bills, repair of frozen pipes—or even the unnecessary surcharge in daily operating expenses?

CITY HOME FOR CHRONICALLY ILL

The Common Council will have an opportunity to aid the aged chronically ill of Ulster county by transferring to the Ulster County Welfare Department the former city home on Flatbush avenue, which has not been used for a number of years. The Board of Supervisors recently passed a resolution asking the Kingston Common Council to deed this property over to the welfare deparment for the nominal consideration of one dollar for the care of those residents of the city and county who are receiving public assistance and who are chronically ill.

The resolution states that the plan will result in considerable savings to the County of Ulster and will lend far more efficient service for the aged chronically ill.

When the transfer is approved by the Common Council, the building will be renovated and equipped.

Section 72-h of the General Municipal Law provides for legal transfer at the one dollar consideration, in that it states that "one municipal corporation may sell, lease or transfer to another municipal corporation" any real property owned by such city "for a valuable consideration."

Taxpayers on several occasions have recommended to the Common Council that the building be sold or put to use and the humane call from the members of the Board of Supervisors in behalf of the aged chronically ill seems a most worthy one.

Supervisor Kenneth Wilson, sponsor of the plan, stated that some of the chronically ill are housed seven and eight in a room at nursing homes.

Several years ago the former city home was considered as a possible site for a chronic disease hospital. At that time it was pointed out that chronic diseases have gained increased importance as the acute illnesses have been conquered by modern health programs. It was stated then that chronic disease is on the increase and within the near future our local problem will become even more critical.

There's no need for wasting any more time. The transaction should be completed at the July meeting of the Common Council on Tuesday, the seventh. Residents of every ward should urge their aldermen to vote in favor of the proposed Home for the Aged Chronically Ill.

A male author, Ashley Montagu, wrote a book called the "Natural Superiority of Women" which purports to prove how much better women are than men. He is one man that the girls will be willing to let have the last word.

SENSELESS ATTACK

At the end of a prize fight an experienced boxer will go to great lengths to convince the referee and judges that his opponent's efforts have not tired him out or weakened him. He will wave his arms and dance a jig in his corner until the announcement is made as to who won the fight. It may be that something of this same psychology motivates the current Communist offensives in Korea, launched at a fearful cost at a time when a truce seems inevitable.

If the truce comes while the Communist armies are riding the crest of a successful offensive it will be easier to convince the gullible and those who do not know the truth that the armistice was sought by the UN because the Reds were moving toward a total victory.

The assault has been directed again Republic of Korea troops and in some circles this is interpreted as a warning to the ROKs against the idea of resisting an armistice forcibly. Force of numbers has pushed the ROKs back but every step forward made by the Communists has been paid for with heavy casualties. One report said that Red soldiers were moving forward over the bodies of their fallen comrades.

The Communists can hope to gain little tangible from the assaults. They will certainly gain no good will in the UN negotiations and the suicidal attacks are further proof of how cheaply the Communists value human life.

THE CASE OF THE AUSTRIAN SCHILLINGS

This is one of those tales that requires full investigation not because the matter itself is important but because it discloses such unbelievably chaotic conditions in government that it is an index to our major troubles.

In the case of the Austrian Schillings, the rate of exchange was fixed so that it was against the interests of the United States and favorable to the interests of Soviet Russia and the satellite countries. In 1949, American officials in Austria started negotiations with the Austrian government to alter the rate of exchange. The Austrians were very anxious to improve the rate of exchange because it would benefit Austria. Failure to improve the rate could only benefit Russia.

In November, 1949, just before the agreement between the United States and Austria was finalized, the Secretary of the International Monetary Fund, Frank Coe, an American who has taken refuge in the Fifth Amendment, objected to the American negotiators arranging for the correction of the rate of exchange in the interest of the United States. Coe said that he got his information from the Czechoslovakian member of the International Monetary Fund, which is part of the United Nations.

Coe told the American negotiators to desist. General Geoffrey Keyes, American High Commissioner in Austria, and Gabriel T. Kerekes and Cylde Nelson King, the negotiators, decided to go ahead because Coe had no authority to stop them.

Whereupon a communication came to them from Washington backing up Coe. The testimony is not clear as to whether it came from the State Department or the Department of Defense or who sent it. Here is a negotiation that is taking place with the Austrian government on a matter of some significance; there are communications between the American negotiators and Washington, presumably the State Department, and nobody knows who sent the communications from Washington.

Mr. King said:

"I can't definitely state, but it was my impression all the time that we were dealing with the State Department. I don't know. I am not too sure just who was sending all the messages because they were going back and forth. . . ."

The negotiators in Austria tried to find out who was sending the messages and they got no answer. How did they know that these were official instructions? How did they know by what authority the instructions were sent on an instrument called a telecon? They never did. General Keyes decided to go through with the negotiations and he carried them through on his own authority. But neither he nor anyone else in Austria ever learned who was at the other end of the telecon—who was sending orders from the State Department, if it was the State Department.

Senator Jackson asked Kerekes:

"Do you feel that there was someone within the State Department or the Defense Department that was agreeing with Mr. Coe in his apparent subversive efforts? That is what I am getting at. Or did the State Department simply transmit a communication that came to them in a routine fashion. There is a vast difference here, you see."

Mr. Kerekes replied:

"No, sir, it was not in routine fashion. It was transmitted to us with instructions to stop and those instructions were very clear."

Mr. King said:

"It is my opinion, if you will pardon me, that the reason that General Keyes did not feel that this was (of) too great importance was because both he and I wondered who was at the other end of the telecon. I never knew and he never knew. I am sure General Keyes from what he said to me was under the impression that it was some minor official in the State Department that did not know anything about the exchange rate."

But who was that minor official who had the power to determine American policy? Maybe this is a small matter, but did small officials interfere in big questions in the same way? Actions of this sort are in the record. There should be a copy of the telecon message. There should be a file on the entire subject of Frank Coe and the Austrian Schillings. That file ought to show who was interfering with American interests. Who was backing up Frank Coe and the Czechoslovakian member of the International Monetary Fund?

Let us have the name of this minor official. Let that minor official explain his or her authority.

That Body of Yours

CHILDREN'S FIRST TEETH

I frequently write about the mistake parents make in thinking the first or baby teeth are not important. I have pointed out that, aside from the health standpoint in not chewing or being able to chew their food and mix it well with the mouth digestive juice, losing the first teeth early causes a closing up of the space that should be left for the second or permanent teeth to occupy their proper places. This may mean embarrassment and inferiority complex because of the disfigurement of the face from crowded teeth.

Some information on the importance of the first teeth is given by the President of the American Dental Association in the Journal of the Association. This high authority, Dr. Otto W. Brandhorst, St. Louis, states that "the erroneous belief that a child's first teeth are unimportant 'because they fall out anyway' has added immeasurably to the staggering toll of adult dental disease." It is the care that teeth receive during childhood that, to a great extent, determines the state of the individual's dental health throughout his life.

Loss of teeth prematurely in children, that is before the second or permanent teeth are ready to fit into their proper places in the mouth, can lead to poor mastication, diseased second teeth and disfigurement of the face as remaining teeth shift and crowd out of position the second set trying to break through.

Dr. Brandhorst states further that, "The future dental health of our children lies in the hands of today's adults. Prevention is the key to dental health."

How can parents and teachers help first and, later, permanent teeth?

Dr. Brandhorst lists four rules for dental health of children:

1. Proper use of the toothbrush "immediately" after eating. If a child can't use the toothbrush, he should be taught to rinse his mouth with water within ten minutes after eating.

2. Diet should be balanced, using as little sugar as possible. Sugar is number one enemy of dental health and main cause of tooth decay.

3. Early detection and treatment of dental disease will prevent more serious dental ills later.

4. The fluoridation of community water supplies is "the most effective large-scale means ever devised for the prevention of tooth decay." Already 600 communities in the United States have this method in operation. Children where fluoridation is used, have two-thirds less tooth decay than children living in areas where water supplies are fluoride deficient.

What Now, Little Man?

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — President Eisenhower's request to Congress for authority to give Pakistan $75 million worth of surplus U. S. wheat for famine relief is just the beginning of what may become a multibillion-dollar give-away program of American farm products.

Now in preparation by the White House is what has become known as "the general bill" for disposal of all U. S. farm surpluses. It would give the President broad powers to dispose of these surpluses in any way that he chooses. This could be by relief shipments at home, by export sales at reduced prices or by outright gift.

For a time the draft of this proposed legislation was known as "the Benson bill." This name was taken from the fact that the White House had asked Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to draw up such a bill.

But when Secretary Benson heard that his name was being tacked onto the idea, he protested violently. Remembering what had happened to former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan's so-called "Brannan" plan, the new secretary hastened to decline any credit for the Eisenhower administration idea.

Secretary Benson had to take this position for the simple reason that he has been a leader in trying to save the government money, get it out of the farm business, and end federal handouts. This new idea, however, was nothing more than a disguised U. S. subsidy to American agriculture, and a give-away program to beat anything heard of since the days of Lend-Lease and UNRRA.

Global Extension of Pakistan Bill

So the Benson bill was rechristened the general bill. It is now being polished off by White House, Budget Bureau, Mutual Security Administration, Departments of State and Agriculture, before being submitted to Congress for approval.

In substance, this general bill is merely an extension of the Pakistan bill, on a global basis. It is also an extension of other proposals made by the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange. Their aim has been to get rid of U. S. crop surpluses by dumping them abroad, so as to keep American farm prices high at home.

The Farm Bureau proposal is a one-shot proposition. It would authorize the Commodity Credit Corporation to turn over to Mutual Security Administration up to $1 billion worth of U. S. crop surpluses. These surpluses would be sold abroad by MSA at market prices and paid for in foreign currencies. The foreign money would then be spent abroad to finance U. S. military and economic aid.

The Grange proposal is to establish a two-price system on American farm products. The higher price would be charged American consumers. The lower price would be charged for export sales of the surpluses.

No matter how the Farm Bureau and Grange proposals are dressed up, they are nothing more than disguised farm subsidies. And no matter how the Pakistan relief or general bills may be justified, they are in essence handouts.

In spite of the fact that there was a change of administrations last January, the philosophy of the multimillion dollar give-away still prevails in Washington, as the solution to all foreign problems.

Benson Department Opposes Plan

This has caused something of a split within the Eisenhower administration. The Department of Agriculture under Secretary Benson, and his Foreign Agriculture Service under Romeo E. Short, are opposed to the give-away. State Department and MSA are for it.

There is no question about Pakistan needing and deserving the aid. She has had two years of crop failures and famine. She has been a good friend and supporter of the United States in foreign affairs. She is a young and struggling country. She has just gone through a cabinet crisis over failure to solve food shortages.

Six months ago, when the Pakistan government first asked the U. S. for aid, it was on the basis of a loan to buy wheat. Last year Pakistan was given a $15 million loan with which to buy U. S. wheat. She got other aid by barter from Russia, Japan and the British Commonwealth countries.

This year the request was again made for a wheat loan. Republican Speaker Joe Martin came out of a White House conference saying that a wheat loan for Pakistan had been agreed on. But when the formal request came out, if was for a gift.

Two years ago, India asked for a famine-relief wheat loan. President Truman asked Congress to give India two million tons. Congress balked, and authorized a $190 million wheat loan instead.

The question now is whether the Republican Congress will follow suit to convert the Pakistan and general bills into loans.

Today in Washington

Administration and Congress Are Stronger Than in November, Evidence Reveals

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 23—Politically the Eisenhower administration and Republican Congress are stronger today than on the day of the election last November. Not only does a recent Gallup survey show this appraisal, but there are other evidences of a political nature that the negative trend which set in against the Democrats and the Truman administration has not yet reached its peak and may result in an actual increase of Republican strength in the congressional elections next year.

One thing, however, could change the picture for the Republicans—a successful effort by the Democrats in the north in their present campaign to split the Republican party wide open. Indeed, the radical Democrats in the east are so convinced that this is a winning strategy that they have set to work intensively to bring about the result. They have begun a nation-wide attempt to drive a wedge inside the Republican party on the anti-Communist issue. For, while the Democratic managers didn't like to admit it during the last campaign, the fact is that the anti-Communist issue cut deeply into the ranks also of the Democratic voters. From a political viewpoint, the lines of cleavage have hardly been altered since last November.

Much of the momentum behind the anti-McCarthy speeches being delivered nowadays with such vehemence by Senator Lehman of New York and other Democratic speakers is due to a belief that anti-McCarthy tactics will result in a break-up of the Republican party. If, of course, there is such a serious split, the Democrats would profit immensely by the division.

The Democratic managers have a right to try those tactics. It's logical for them. Their speakers give the impression, of course, on the surface that their sole target is Senator McCarthy and that, if he is weakened in the public eye as a result of persistent attacks, there will be an augmentation of Democratic votes. But the smart ones among the Democrats know that this isn't going to be the result at all and that instead what would really happen would be a break-off of the pro-McCarthy Republicans from Eisenhower. That is the principal reason why the Democrats and many of their Fair Deal supporters in the Washington press have lately been striving so desperately to convince certain gullible persons in the Eisenhower entourage that the time has come for a break with McCarthy by the President. Mr. Eisenhower thus far has avoided the trap, but his every utterance, however abstract, is promptly construed as a concrete manifestation of hostility to McCarthy.

What is not generally realized is that McCarthy is only a symbol of anti-Communist feeling and that efforts to discredit the Wisconsin senator's crusade against Communists in the government will leave a residue of bitter feeling among the anti-Communist Republicans throughout the country, and especially in the Middle West.

Some of the leaders in the eastern wing of the Republican party have never clearly understood the Wisconsin election of last autumn. They are apparently eager to have a demonstration once more that, when the issue is made, the cause of the anti-Communist crusader, no matter what his name may be, will have a majority following even though his "methods" are criticized. The Democrats in Congress who in the last 20 years have used the same "methods" are, of course, never mentioned.

The anti-Communist crusade didn't start with McCarthy. It goes all the way back to the 1930's when representative Martin Dies of Texas, Democrat, head of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, was the victim of just as much vituperation as has since been visited on the Wisconsin senator or on anyone else who has dared to use a congressional investigating committee to expose the tricks and stratagems of the Communists and fellow travelers in America.

The cry that the nation is "filled with fear" and that "intellectuals" can't express themselves freely and that the United States is the victim of "witch hunts" may be swallowed as gospel by the radical Democrats and by various people, most of whom voted for Stevenson last autumn, but the number of Republicans who feel that way about it today is a small percentage of the Republican party. Hence the inside strategy of the Democrats is to alienate Eisenhower from the wing of the Republican party in which Senator Taft was so strong last year, hoping the anti-McCarthy Republican faction will grow larger and larger. The Republican party was almost equally divided before last year's national conventions as between Taft and Eisenhower. The Taft following to a large extent was on the McCarthy side, especially in the Middle West.

So any sizable division in the Republican party, from whatever cause, will be fatal to the congressional nominees of the Republican party in the 1954 elections. Many of the anti-Communist Republicans will not go to the polls to vote for candidates who may have teamed up with anyone, including Mr. Eisenhower, to relax vigilance on the anti-Communist crusade.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Joe Ryan, the president of the International Longshoremen's Association and many other individuals have been indicted in state and federal courts on various charges arising from the investigation of rotten conditions on the New York-New Jersey docks as disclosed by the New York State Crime Commission.

The defendants include even Douglas Yates, naturalized American of English origin, who worked hard for a relatively low salary for a stevedoring company which was hand-in-glove with the racketeers of a number of seaports for years.

The stevedoring companies, which load and unload ships by contract, have been a part of a corrupt system and it cannot be claimed with any plausibility that they were unhappy victims of extortion by the unioneers. They got along with the racketeers in a social, personal and business relationship and were no more willing to disturb a situation that was comfortable to them than the movie magnates were in Hollywood under the reign of Bioff and Browne.

There is no demarcation between bribery and extortion in such situations in the many industries which are hosts to the same general corruption and the employers and racketeers share a common moral and intellectual standard.

Captain Yates was aware, in a vague way, that it was improper to a fastidious person to bribe union officials to refrain from impeding his overall work of getting ships turned around without unnecessary delay which, of course, runs into big money by the minute. But he did not make these customs, he saw that the public officials of the Port and City of New York were indifferent to the conditions that he had to meet, and he had a sick wife and a lame back which made it necessary for him to labor up ladders and gangplanks wearing a corset on a metal frame.

In short, this minor employee of an American company with strong political connections in the city which claims to be the greatest in the United States, had neither the disposition nor the responsibility to reform the waterfront. Had he tried he probably would have been fired and had he persisted he probably would have been murdered. Captain Yates followed the sea a long time under the British flag and holds a master's license.

There is no possible doubt of Ryan's guilt although, of course, he deserves and will get his day in court. He has been a two-handed grafter for years but not only his character as it is known to those who know him at all, but the revelations before the Crime Commission, excuse Ryan as a thick ignoramus who took his graft because it was there for him and because in his sphere in this world he was expected to take it.

The four commissioners, Wilkinson, Mulrooney, Proskauer and Osborne, ran a good investigation and Mulrooney, a former police commissioner, and Judge Proskauer, also wise in the quaint ways and ethics of the politico-criminal underworld of an inscrutable metropolis, deserve a star on their citations for keeping a straight face during the proceedings. Either of them could have unfolded a supplementary tale on the witness stand, amplifying the answers of the witnesses who were almost all defendants, too.

The investigating staff under Joseph Kaitz, who was a member of Thomas E. Dewey's staff when he was district attorney of New York county, was energetic and unusually resourceful. The job was reminiscent, altogether, of Dewey's great sweeps against criminal unioneers in those days when he picked good investigators with plenty of physical courage and good lawyers to organize the hearings and the evidence.

In fact, in this great expose, Dewey rode again, as you might say, for the commission was actually his commission and Kaitz was his man, drafted from the State Liquor Authority to do a special job calling for superior ability and determination. The governor is not at his best in international affairs, but he has no equal in this type of public service.

Dewey, on the basis of his old knowledge of the union rackets and the political ramifications of the racketeers, actually was just getting confirmation of that knowledge. And he did it right under the noses of Frank Hogan, his successor as district attorney, the city administration which was never more corrupt than it has been under the Roosevelt-Truman overall dispensation, and the local headquarters of the Department of Justice.

The positive identification of the mysterious Mr. Big of the waterfront as Bill McCormack, a character with a fearsome reputation for violence was a dramatic development but a substantial coup as well. Imaginative oracles of radio and the chatter-box phases of our journalism had dealt with him in timorous insinuations. He was clearly and firmly identified by the testimony, however, and Francis X. McQuade, a former Tammany magistrate who formerly was a partner in the New York Giants, came out of his obscurity to testify under oath that McCormack had shaken down Tex Rickard for a little over $80,000 as price of his forbearance on the eve of the Dempsey-Firpo fight in the Polo Grounds in 1923.

Mr. King said:

"I can't definitely state, but it was my impression all the time that we were dealing with the State Department. I don't know. I am not too sure just who was sending all the messages because they were going back and forth. . . ."

The negotiators in Austria tried to find out who was sending the messages and they got no answer. How did they know that these were official instructions? How did they know by what authority the instructions were sent on an instrument called a telecon? They never did. General Keyes decided to go through with the negotiations and he carried them through on his own authority. But neither he nor anyone else in Austria ever learned who was at the other end of the telecon—who was sending orders from the State Department, if it was the State Department.

Senator Jackson asked Kerekes:

"Do you feel that there was someone within the State Department or the Defense Department that was agreeing with Mr. Coe in his apparent subversive efforts? That is what I am getting at. Or did the State Department simply transmit a communication that came to them in a routine fashion. There is a vast difference here, you see."

Mr. Kerekes replied:

"No, sir, it was not in routine fashion. It was transmitted to us with instructions to stop and those instructions were very clear."

Mr. King said:

"It is my opinion, if you will pardon me, that the reason that General Keyes did not feel that this was (of) too great importance was because both he and I wondered who was at the other end of the telecon. I never knew and he never knew. I am sure General Keyes from what he said to me was under the impression that it was some minor official in the State Department that did not know anything about the exchange rate."

But who was that minor official who had the power to determine American policy? Maybe this is a small matter, but did small officials interfere in big questions in the same way? Actions of this sort are in the record. There should be a copy of the telecon message. There should be a file on the entire subject of Frank Coe and the Austrian Schillings. That file ought to show who was interfering with American interests. Who was backing up Frank Coe and the Czechoslovakian member of the International Monetary Fund?

Let us have the name of this minor official. Let that minor official explain his or her authority.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CHILDREN'S FIRST TEETH

I frequently write about the mistake parents make in thinking the first or baby teeth are not important. I have pointed out that, aside from the health standpoint in not chewing or being able to chew their food and mix it well with the mouth digestive juice, losing the first teeth early causes a closing up of the space that should be left for the second or permanent teeth to occupy their proper places. This may mean embarrassment and inferiority complex because of the disfigurement of the face from crowded teeth.

Some information on the importance of the first teeth is given by the President of the American Dental Association in the Journal of the Association. This high authority, Dr. Otto W. Brandhorst, St. Louis, states that "the erroneous belief that a child's first teeth are unimportant 'because they fall out anyway' has added immeasurably to the staggering toll of adult dental disease." It is the care that teeth receive during childhood that, to a great extent, determines the state of the individual's dental health throughout his life.

Loss of teeth prematurely in children, that is before the second or permanent teeth are ready to fit into their proper places in the mouth, can lead to poor mastication, diseased second teeth and disfigurement of the face as remaining teeth shift and crowd out of position the second set trying to break through.

Dr. Brandhorst states further that, "The future dental health of our children lies in the hands of today's adults. Prevention is the key to dental health."

How can parents and teachers help first and, later, permanent teeth?

Dr. Brandhorst lists four rules for dental health of children:

1. Proper use of the toothbrush "immediately" after eating. If a child can't use the toothbrush, he should be taught to rinse his mouth with water within ten minutes after eating.

2. Diet should be balanced, using as little sugar as possible. Sugar is number one enemy of dental health and main cause of tooth decay.

3. Early detection and treatment of dental disease will prevent more serious dental ills later.

4. The fluoridation of community water supplies is "the most effective large-scale means ever devised for the prevention of tooth decay." Already 600 communities in the United States have this method in operation. Children where fluoridation is used, have two-thirds less tooth decay than children living in areas where water supplies are fluoride deficient.

What Now, Little Man?

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — President Eisenhower's request to Congress for authority to give Pakistan $75 million worth of surplus U. S. wheat for famine relief is just the beginning of what may become a multibillion-dollar give-away program of American farm products.

Now in preparation by the White House is what has become known as "the general bill" for disposal of all U. S. farm surpluses. It would give the President broad powers to dispose of these surpluses in any way that he chooses. This could be by relief shipments at home, by export sales at reduced prices or by outright gift.

For a time the draft of this proposed legislation was known as "the Benson bill." This name was taken from the fact that the White House had asked Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to draw up such a bill.

But when Secretary Benson heard that his name was being tacked onto the idea, he protested violently. Remembering what had happened to former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan's so-called "Brannan" plan, the new secretary hastened to decline any credit for the Eisenhower administration idea.

Secretary Benson had to take this position for the simple reason that he has been a leader in trying to save the government money, get it out of the farm business, and end federal handouts. This new idea, however, was nothing more than a disguised U. S. subsidy to American agriculture, and a give-away program to beat anything heard of since the days of Lend-Lease and UNRRA.

Global Extension of Pakistan Bill

So the Benson bill was rechristened the general bill. It is now being polished off by White House, Budget Bureau, Mutual Security Administration, Departments of State and Agriculture, before being submitted to Congress for approval.

In substance, this general bill is merely an extension of the Pakistan bill, on a global basis. It is also an extension of other proposals made by the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange. Their aim has been to get rid of U. S. crop surpluses by dumping them abroad, so as to keep American farm prices high at home.

The Farm Bureau proposal is a one-shot proposition. It would authorize the Commodity Credit Corporation to turn over to Mutual Security Administration up to $1 billion worth of U. S. crop surpluses. These surpluses would be sold abroad by MSA at market prices and paid for in foreign currencies. The foreign money would then be spent abroad to finance U. S. military and economic aid.

The Grange proposal is to establish a two-price system on American farm products. The higher price would be charged American consumers. The lower price would be charged for export sales of the surpluses.

No matter how the Farm Bureau and Grange proposals are dressed up, they are nothing more than disguised farm subsidies. And no matter how the Pakistan relief or general bills may be justified, they are in essence handouts.

In spite of the fact that there was a change of administrations last January, the philosophy of the multimillion dollar give-away still prevails in Washington, as the solution to all foreign problems.

Benson Department Opposes Plan

This has caused something of a split within the Eisenhower administration. The Department of Agriculture under Secretary Benson, and his Foreign Agriculture Service under Romeo E. Short, are opposed to the give-away. State Department and MSA are for it.

There is no question about Pakistan needing and deserving the aid. She has had two years of crop failures and famine. She has been a good friend and supporter of the United States in foreign affairs. She is a young and struggling country. She has just gone through a cabinet crisis over failure to solve food shortages.

Six months ago, when the Pakistan government first asked the U. S. for aid, it was on the basis of a loan to buy wheat. Last year Pakistan was given a $15 million loan with which to buy U. S. wheat. She got other aid by barter from Russia, Japan and the British Commonwealth countries.

This year the request was again made for a wheat loan. Republican Speaker Joe Martin came out of a White House conference saying that a wheat loan for Pakistan had been agreed on. But when the formal request came out, it was for a gift.

Two years ago, India asked for a famine-relief wheat loan. President Truman asked Congress to give India two million tons. Congress balked, and authorized a $190 million wheat loan instead.

The question now is whether the Republican Congress will follow suit to convert the Pakistan and general bills into loans.

Today in Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 23—Politically the Eisenhower administration and Republican Congress are stronger today than on the day of the election last November. Not only does a recent Gallup survey show this appraisal, but there are other evidences of a political nature that the negative trend which set in against the Democrats and the Truman administration has not yet reached its peak and may result in an actual increase of Republican strength in the congressional elections next year.

One thing, however, could change the picture for the Republicans—a successful effort by the Democrats in the north in their present campaign to split the Republican party wide open. Indeed, the radical Democrats in the east are so convinced that this is a winning strategy that they have set to work intensively to bring about the result. They have begun a nation-wide attempt to drive a wedge inside the Republican party on the anti-Communist issue. For, while the Democratic managers didn't like to admit it during the last campaign, the fact is that the anti-Communist issue cut deeply into the ranks also of the Democratic voters. From a political viewpoint, the lines of cleavage have hardly been altered since last November.

Much of the momentum behind the anti-McCarthy speeches being delivered nowadays with such vehemence by Senator Lehman of New York and other Democratic speakers is due to a belief that anti-McCarthy tactics will result in a break-up of the Republican party. If, of course, there is such a serious split, the Democrats would profit immensely by the division.

The Democratic managers have a right to try those tactics. It's logical for them. Their speakers give the impression, of course, on the surface that their sole target is Senator McCarthy and that, if he is weakened in the public eye as a result of persistent attacks, there will be an augmentation of Democratic votes. But the smart ones among the Democrats know that this isn't going to be the result at all and that instead what would really happen would be a break-off of the pro-McCarthy Republicans from Eisenhower. That is the principal reason why the Democrats and many of their Fair Deal supporters in the Washington press have lately been striving so desperately to convince certain gullible persons in the Eisenhower entourage that the time has come for a break with McCarthy by the President. Mr. Eisenhower thus far has avoided the trap, but his every utterance, however abstract, is promptly construed as a concrete manifestation of hostility to McCarthy.

What is not generally realized is that McCarthy is only a symbol of anti-Communist feeling and that efforts to discredit the Wisconsin senator's crusade against Communists in the government will leave a residue of bitter feeling among the anti-Communist Republicans throughout the country, and especially in the Middle West.

Some of the leaders in the eastern wing of the Republican party have never clearly understood the Wisconsin election of last autumn. They are apparently eager to have a demonstration once more that, when the issue is made, the cause of the anti-Communist crusader, no matter what his name may be, will have a majority following even though his "methods" are criticized. The Democrats in Congress who in the last 20 years have used the same "methods" are, of course, never mentioned.

The anti-Communist crusade didn't start with McCarthy. It goes all the way back to the 1930's when representative Martin Dies of Texas, Democrat, head of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, was the victim of just as much vituperation as has since been visited on the Wisconsin senator or on anyone else who has dared to use a congressional investigating committee to expose the tricks and stratagems of the Communists and fellow travelers in America.

The cry that the nation is "filled with fear" and that "intellectuals" can't express themselves freely and that the United States is the victim of "witch hunts" may be swallowed as gospel by the radical Democrats and by various people, most of whom voted for Stevenson last autumn, but the number of Republicans who feel that way about it today is a small percentage of the Republican party. Hence the inside strategy of the Democrats is to alienate Eisenhower from the wing of the Republican party in which Senator Taft was so strong last year, hoping the anti-McCarthy Republican faction will grow larger and larger. The Republican party was almost equally divided before last year's national conventions as between Taft and Eisenhower. The Taft following to a large extent was on the McCarthy side, especially in the Middle West.

So any sizable division in the Republican party, from whatever cause, will be fatal to the congressional nominees of the Republican party in the 1954 elections. Many of the anti-Communist Republicans will not go to the polls to vote for candidates who may have teamed up with anyone, including Mr. Eisenhower, to relax vigilance on the anti-Communist crusade.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Joe Ryan, the president of the International Longshoremen's Association and many other individuals have been indicted in state and federal courts on various charges arising from the investigation of rotten conditions on the New York-New Jersey docks as disclosed by the New York State Crime Commission.

The defendants include even Douglas Yates, naturalized American of English origin, who worked hard for a relatively low salary for a stevedoring company which was hand-in-glove with the racketeers of a number of seaports for years.

The stevedoring companies, which load and unload ships by contract, have been a part of a corrupt system and it cannot be claimed with any plausibility that they were unhappy victims of extortion by the unioneers. They got along with the racketeers in a social, personal and business relationship and were no more willing to disturb a situation that was comfortable to them than the movie magnates were in Hollywood under the reign of Bioff and Browne.

There is no demarcation between bribery and extortion in such situations in the many industries which are hosts to the same general corruption and the employers and racketeers share a common moral and intellectual standard.

Captain Yates was aware, in a vague way, that it was improper to a fastidious person to bribe union officials to refrain from impeding his overall work of getting ships turned around without unnecessary delay which, of course, runs into big money by the minute. But he did not make these customs, he saw that the public officials of the Port and City of New York were indifferent to the conditions that he had to meet, and he had a sick wife and a lame back which made it necessary for him to labor up ladders and gangplanks wearing a corset on a metal frame.

In short, this minor employee of an American company with strong political connections in the city which claims to be the greatest in the United States, had neither the disposition nor the responsibility to reform the waterfront. Had he tried he probably would have been fired and had he persisted he probably would have been murdered. Captain Yates followed the sea a long time under the British flag and holds a master's license.

There is no possible doubt of Ryan's guilt although, of course, he deserves and will get his day in court. He has been a two-handed grafter for years but not only his character as it is known to those who know him at all, but the revelations before the Crime Commission, excuse Ryan as a thick ignoramus who took his graft because it was there for him and because in his sphere in this world he was expected to take it.

The four commissioners, Wilkinson, Mulrooney, Proskauer and Osborne, ran a good investigation and Mulrooney, a former police commissioner, and Judge Proskauer, also wise in the quaint ways and ethics of the politico-criminal underworld of an inscrutable metropolis, deserve a star on their citations for keeping a straight face during the proceedings. Either of them could have unfolded a supplementary tale on the witness stand, amplifying the answers of the witnesses who were almost all defendants, too.

The investigating staff under Joseph Kaitz, who was a member of Thomas E. Dewey's staff when he was district attorney of New York county, was energetic and unusually resourceful. The job was reminiscent, altogether, of Dewey's great sweeps against criminal unioneers in those days when he picked good investigators with plenty of physical courage and good lawyers to organize the hearings and the evidence.

In fact, in this great expose, Dewey rode again, as you might say, for the commission was actually his commission and Kaitz was his man, drafted from the State Liquor Authority to do a special job calling for superior ability and determination. The governor is not at his best in international affairs, but he has no equal in this type of public service.

Dewey, on the basis of his old knowledge of the union rackets and the political ramifications of the racketeers, actually was just getting confirmation of that knowledge. And he did it right under the noses of Frank Hogan, his successor as district attorney, the city administration which was never more corrupt than it has been under the Roosevelt-Truman overall dispensation, and the local headquarters of the Department of Justice.

The positive identification of the mysterious Mr. Big of the waterfront as Bill McCormack, a character with a fearsome reputation for violence was a dramatic development but a substantial coup as well. Imaginative oracles of radio and the chatter-box phases of our journalism had dealt with him in timorous insinuations. He was clearly and firmly identified by the testimony, however, and Francis X. McQuade, a former Tammany magistrate who formerly was a partner in the New York Giants, came out of his obscurity to testify under oath that McCormack had shaken down Tex Rickard for a little over $80,000 as price of his forbearance on the eve of the Dempsey-Firpo fight in the Polo Grounds in 1923.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

As Pegler Sees It

McCormack denied this, also under oath, and on his honor as a Knight of Malta which is not strictly a papal honor although many persons think it is.

I can add my own fragment of information which is that the late Governor Al Smith certainly thought McCormack got the $80,000 because Smith told me so. He told me further that he struck McCormack off his personal list and oredred him to give back the money. Smith had made McCormack chairman of the license commission of the prizefight commission, relying on him as a personal friend to protect his administration against scandal.

McCormack is by far the most powerful man on the whole waterfront, a big industralist with a great fortune and an intimate social circle of low characters with whom he dines often and goes to the fights.

A document entered as exhibit No. 577 in the record of the hearings states that "estimated disbursements of cash, without substantiation, of the four principal McCormack companies for five years, 1947 through 1951" amounted to $984,908. The commission had no power to examine the income tax returns of these companies to ascertain whether these disbursements were deducted from income.

However, J. Edward Lumbard, Jr., another old member of the great Tom Dewey team, is now the United States attorney for Manhattan and a federal grand jury is at work.

The Crime Commission is now closing itself out. About 50 employes, lawyers, investigators and clerks will be off the payroll. Presumably, most of them will land nimbly in reasonably good jobs. However, another spirited team is being broken up when the need of more work of the same kind in other fields is plain.

Arrives in Nude

Berlin, June 23 (AP)—The most empty-handed refugee of all arrived in West Berlin from the Soviet sector today. A 35-year-old man swam a canal on the border without detection, clambered out on the western side and asked frontier police for asylum. He was completely nude.

Goes Berserk in Kitchen

Guam, June 23 (AP)—A Filipino cafeteria attendant ran amok with a 12-inch kitchen knife last night and killed two Filipinos and wounded a third seriously. Officials said the man apparently went berserk after he was accused by the Filipinos of being a thief. The four were in the kitchen of a U. S. Air Force cafeteria.

Five Are Suspended

Dallas, June 23 (AP)—Five Dallas policemen were under suspension today, accused of conniving with a burglary alarm firm employe to steal merchandise from stores and warehouses. One detective was indicted yesterday on theft charges and another charged with theft. They and three other officers were suspended. Chief Carl Hansson said when one of the alarm company's sensitive alarms would go off accidentally in a business house or warehouse, the officers would meet the employe at the scene. Then the group would loot the building.

Can Tie Shoes Now

Boston, June 23 (AP)—TV-radio star Arthur Godfrey is able to tie his shoes for the first time in 20 years. The Massachuetts General Hospital issued that report last night while stating the popular entertainer is in "very satisfactory" condition. The hospital said Godfrey, operated on May 15 to correct hip injuries suffered in a 1931 automobile accident, "is walking with crutches and riding a stationary bicycle."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

As Pegler Sees It

McCormack denied this, also under oath, and on his honor as a Knight of Malta which is not strictly a papal honor although many persons think it is.

I can add my own fragment of information which is that the late Governor Al Smith certainly thought McCormack got the $80,000 because Smith told me so. He told me further that he struck McCormack off his personal list and oredred him to give back the money. Smith had made McCormack chairman of the license commission of the prizefight commission, relying on him as a personal friend to protect his administration against scandal.

McCormack is by far the most powerful man on the whole waterfront, a big industralist with a great fortune and an intimate social circle of low characters with whom he dines often and goes to the fights.

A document entered as exhibit No. 577 in the record of the hearings states that "estimated disbursements of cash, without substantiation, of the four principal McCormack companies for five years, 1947 through 1951" amounted to $984,908. The commission had no power to examine the income tax returns of these companies to ascertain whether these disbursements were deducted from income.

However, J. Edward Lumbard, Jr., another old member of the great Tom Dewey team, is now the United States attorney for Manhattan and a federal grand jury is at work.

The Crime Commission is now closing itself out. About 50 employes, lawyers, investigators and clerks will be off the payroll. Presumably, most of them will land nimbly in reasonably good jobs. However, another spirited team is being broken up when the need of more work of the same kind in other fields is plain.

Frogs Need Water

Frogs die when kept in too dry a spot, where they cannot replace their fast-evaporating body fluids but toads can stand the ordeal longer.

Arrives in Nude

Berlin, June 23 (AP)—The most empty-handed refugee of all arrived in West Berlin from the Soviet sector today. A 35-year-old man swam a canal on the border without detection, clambered out on the western side and asked frontier police for asylum. He was completely nude.

Goes Berserk in Kitchen

Guam, June 23 (AP)—A Filipino cafeteria attendant ran amok with a 12-inch kitchen knife last night and killed two Filipinos and wounded a third seriously. Officials said the man apparently went berserk after he was accused by the Filipinos of being a thief. The four were in the kitchen of a U. S. Air Force cafeteria.

Five Are Suspended

Dallas, June 23 (AP)—Five Dallas policemen were under suspension today, accused of conniving with a burglary alarm firm employe to steal merchandise from stores and warehouses. One detective was indicted yesterday on theft charges and another charged with theft. They and three other officers were suspended. Chief Carl Hansson said when one of the alarm company's sensitive alarms would go off accidentally in a business house or warehouse, the officers would meet the employe at the scene. Then the group would loot the building.

Can Tie Shoes Now

Boston, June 23 (AP)—TV-radio star Arthur Godfrey is able to tie his shoes for the first time in 20 years. The Massachuetts General Hospital issued that report last night while stating the popular entertainer is in "very satisfactory" condition. The hospital said Godfrey, operated on May 15 to correct hip injuries suffered in a 1931 automobile accident, "is walking with crutches and riding a stationary bicycle."

No man can become a great leader of men unless he has the milk of human kindness in his own heart, and leads by suggestion and kindness rather than force.

Waiting for some women to finish talking is like looking, for the end of a roller towel.

Judge — The evidence shows that you are a shiftless good-for-nothing. Have you anything to say before I pronounce sentence?

Prisoner—Your honor, if someone will open the door, I'll make a break for it.

Judge—What do you wish to charge against your husband?

Wife—Free love, your honor. He ain't supported me for six years.

Woman—Professor, there's no bottom in that sprinkling can!

Professor—It's quite all right. These are artificial flowers I'm watering.

Teach your child to hold his tongue, he'll learn fast enough to speak.—Benjamin Franklin.

An old man was sitting on the porch of a little village store when a big, shiny car drove up with two strangers in it.

Stranger — Hey, there. How long has this town been dead?

The old man looked at them over the rims of his spectacles.

Native—Well, not long, I guess. You're the first buzzards I've seen.

Theatrical manager Charles Frohman cabled a foreign actress asking what salary she wanted to appear in a play in this country. She demanded $1000 a week.

"Accept Thousand With Pleasure," wired Frohman.

"Thousand for Acting," she promptly wired back. "Pleasure Extra."—E. E. Edgar.

"What helped you over the great obstacles of life?" was asked of a highly successful man. "The other obstacles," he replied.

Mayor Presents Key of City to Hunt

Audience Fills Tent For Firemen's Show

Hunt Bros. Circus, under auspices of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, played to large crowds at the Pan-Am lot Monday during the annual one day visit to this vicinity.

The big top was practically at capacity during the evening program as the three-ring performance moved smoothly through to its conclusion.

A feature was 10-year-old Marsha Hunt with her performing elephant Rahnee, with whom she starred on television during the past winter. Another act that pleased the crowd was the Connely family, acrobats and bareback riders.

Comedy was inserted by youngsters performing as bareback riders with the aid of a safety belt, suspended in mid-air as the horse galloped around the ring.

The "all over and out" call brought the 1953 edition of Hunt Bros. Circus to a close following an announcement by Charles T. Hunt, Sr., in the nature of a word of appreciation to the audience for its reception of the program of the circus which began in Kingston 61 years ago.

Dr. Bibby Speaks On Cerebral Palsy To County Nurses

Dr. Henry L. Bibby, president of the Ulster County Celebral Palsy Association addressed the regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Division, Practical Nurses, Inc., at the court house June 18 on the subject of celebral palsy.

Dr. Bibby, one of New York state's elected delegates to the United Celebral Palsy Association, the national organization, described the six different types of cerebral palsy, pointing out that most cases could be benefited and become useful citizens.

In the local cerebral clinic there are 82 patients being treated, 35 of whom are palsy cases, three blind, one muscular case, four polio cases and the remainder suffering from hearing and speech disorders.

A dance will be held from 9 to 1 Saturday, June 27, at the Esopus Fire House with Pappy Dietz and his Singing Sons providing the music.

The annual picnic will be held at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Cole in Kerhonkson at 5 p. m. on July 9. Those planning to attend may contact Margaret Brown, 4882-J, or Mrs. Marjorie Lown, 1871-J.

Mrs. Herd Purchases Colonial Bookshop

The Colonial Bookshop opposite St. Joseph's Church was recently purchased by Mrs. Frank H. Herd of High Woods near Saugerties, it was announced today. Mrs. Herd will take possession July 1.

The shop, which handles books and religious articles, was formerly operated by Miss Madeline M. Berg and her mother who are leaving Kingston to reside in New Orleans, La.

Separation Is Granted

New York, June 23 (AP)—Bernice Richards, red-haired former model, of Dune Road, Westhampton Beach, has won a separation from Morton Richards, a textile salesman, it became known yesterday in Supreme Court. The award was made by Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg after a hearing last Friday. Greenberg gave Mrs. Richards $160 a week alimony and custody of the couple's two children, Stephen, 10, and Beth, 6. The action was uncontested.

Savage Murder Occurs in South

Atlanta, June 23 (AP)—Police described the death of a 20-year-old crippled woman whose nude, bludgeoned body was found in a wooded area here as "one of the most savage murders in the history of Atlanta."

The woman was identified as Miss Betty Bagby of Brownville Road. She was scheduled to enter a hospital here this week for an operation to correct a club footed condition.

Detective Lt. L. T. Bullard said the murder "could only be the work of a crazed sex fiend."

The woman's left breast had been severed and her skull crushed. Bits of her underclothes had been flung into the branches of trees. Bullard said she wore only heavy corrective surgical shoes and white socks.

A neighbor, Charles L. Dickerson, employe of an Atlanta seed company, found the body yesterday as he returned home from work, police said.

Two Die in Crash

Linden, N. J., June 23 (AP)—A truck swerved off the New Jersey Turnpike today, smashed into a bridge abutment and burst into flames, killing the driver and a 14-year-old rider. The dead were identified tentatively as Walter C. Harris, 24, of Ozone Park, Queens, N. Y., and Nicholas Barrillaro, Jr., of North Colony Road, Wallingford, Conn. They were trapped in the cab of the truck and burned to death. Firemen from Linden and Elizabeth extinguished the flames. State Trooper Frank Wickowski said the truck ran off the shoulder of the turnpike's southbound lane at about 1:30 a. m. The truck was registered in the name of the Woodridge Car and Truck Lease Corp. of New Haven, Conn.

Mayor Presents Key of City to Hunt

Yesterday when Hunt Brothers Circus played here, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk presented the key to the city to Charles T. Hunt, whose show started in Kingston 61 years ago. The veteran circus man accepted it with appreciation and said he "always likes to play Kingston." (Freeman photo).

Audience Fills Tent For Firemen's Show

Hunt Bros. Circus, under auspices of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, played to large crowds at the Pan-Am lot Monday during the annual one day visit to this vicinity.

The big top was practically at capacity during the evening program as the three-ring performance moved smoothly through to its conclusion.

A feature was 10-year-old Marsha Hunt with her performing elephant Rahnee, with whom she starred on television during the past winter. Another act that pleased the crowd was the Connely family, acrobats and bareback riders.

Comedy was inserted by youngsters performing as bareback riders with the aid of a safety belt, suspended in mid-air as the horse galloped around the ring.

The "all over and out" call brought the 1953 edition of Hunt Bros. Circus to a close following an announcement by Charles T. Hunt, Sr., in the nature of a word of appreciation to the audience for its reception of the program of the circus which began in Kingston 61 years ago.

Dr. Bibby Speaks On Cerebral Palsy To County Nurses

Dr. Henry L. Bibby, president of the Ulster County Celebral Palsy Association addressed the regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Division, Practical Nurses, Inc., at the court house June 18 on the subject of celebral palsy.

Dr. Bibby, one of New York state's elected delegates to the United Celebral Palsy Association, the national organization, described the six different types of cerebral palsy, pointing out that most cases could be benefited and become useful citizens.

In the local cerebral clinic there are 82 patients being treated, 35 of whom are palsy cases, three blind, one muscular case, four polio cases and the remainder suffering from hearing and speech disorders.

A dance will be held from 9 to 1 Saturday, June 27, at the Esopus Fire House with Pappy Dietz and his Singing Sons providing the music.

The annual picnic will be held at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Cole in Kerhonkson at 5 p. m. on July 9. Those planning to attend may contact Margaret Brown, 4882-J, or Mrs. Marjorie Lown, 1871-J.

Mrs. Herd Purchases Colonial Bookshop

The Colonial Bookshop opposite St. Joseph's Church was recently purchased by Mrs. Frank H. Herd of High Woods near Saugerties, it was announced today. Mrs. Herd will take possession July 1.

The shop, which handles books and religious articles, was formerly operated by Miss Madeline M. Berg and her mother who are leaving Kingston to reside in New Orleans, La.

Separation Is Granted

New York, June 23 (AP)—Bernice Richards, red-haired former model, of Dune Road, Westhampton Beach, has won a separation from Morton Richards, a textile salesman, it became known yesterday in Supreme Court. The award was made by Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg after a hearing last Friday. Greenberg gave Mrs. Richards $160 a week alimony and custody of the couple's two children, Stephen, 10, and Beth, 6. The action was uncontested.

Savage Murder Occurs in South

Atlanta, June 23 (AP)—Police described the death of a 20-year-old crippled woman whose nude, bludgeoned body was found in a wooded area here as "one of the most savage murders in the history of Atlanta."

The woman was identified as Miss Betty Bagby of Brownville Road. She was scheduled to enter a hospital here this week for an operation to correct a club footed condition.

Detective Lt. L. T. Bullard said the murder "could only be the work of a crazed sex fiend."

The woman's left breast had been severed and her skull crushed. Bits of her underclothes had been flung into the branches of trees. Bullard said she wore only heavy corrective surgical shoes and white socks.

A neighbor, Charles L. Dickerson, employe of an Atlanta seed company, found the body yesterday as he returned home from work, police said.

Two Die in Crash

Linden, N. J., June 23 (AP)—A truck swerved off the New Jersey Turnpike today, smashed into a bridge abutment and burst into flames, killing the driver and a 14-year-old rider. The dead were identified tentatively as Walter C. Harris, 24, of Ozone Park, Queens, N. Y., and Nicholas Barrillaro, Jr., of North Colony Road, Wallingford, Conn. They were trapped in the cab of the truck and burned to death. Firemen from Linden and Elizabeth extinguished the flames. State Trooper Frank Wickowski said the truck ran off the shoulder of the turnpike's southbound lane at about 1:30 a. m. The truck was registered in the name of the Woodridge Car and Truck Lease Corp. of New Haven, Conn.

More Sex Kills Laid to Christie

London, June 23 (AP)—An Old Bailey jury was told today that John Christie made three sex kills in his slum-area "House of Murder" in addition to the four already charged again him.

Opening the second day of Christie's trial for the murder of his wife, Ethel, a court clerk intoned statements attributed to the defendant in which he admitted he gassed or strangled two London playgirls in 1943 and a married woman several years later.

Christie was a chief prosecution witness in the 1949 trial resulting in the hanging of the married woman's husband, Timothy Evans, 19, for the slaying of their baby daughter.

Although Christie is facing a murder charge only in the death of his wife, he already has been accused of garroting three more women whose decayed corpses were found walled up in the murder house in the Notting Hill section.

Christie pleaded innocent by reason of insanity yesterday.

A police inspector identified the two women slain in 1943 as Ruth Margaret Christine Fuerst, an Austrian, and Muriel Amelia Eady.

Their skeleton remains were dug up from Christie's garden.

An eighth murder — that of Evans' little daughter — occurred in the house of death and was charged to Evans.

Troubles With English

Penang (AP)—The Chinese principal of an English school described English as a most complicated and intricated language and appealed to "natives" of the tongue to be more sympathetic towards those whose mother tongue is not English. Looi Chee Eng, headmaster of the Francis Light School, told student teachers in an address that he as well as others had inherited a legacy of mistakes in English from their former teachers. This could be passed on to future generations, he warned, unless the student teachers of today would acquire a deeper knowledge of the language and make necessary corrections.

Lucky Deer

Grimsby, Ont. (AP) — The automobile came off second-best in collision with a deer near here. Damage to the car was more than $100 but the deer was seen to run away and jump over a fence. The car's two occupants were unhurt.

To the man who "mentally" bought stocks yesterday

Did you ever "mentally" buy a few shares of one of your favorite companies . . . and figure what you might have made "if"? . . .

Today, you might really be a share owner of that company if you'd kept these points in mind:

"What would I own?" When you buy stock, you don't buy just a fancy sheet of engraved paper with your name on it. You buy part ownership in a business. If the company prospers, your share of the company becomes more valuable. That's what makes the risk of share ownership attractive to millions of people. In some companies, at least.

"How does the Stock Exchange help investors?" Well, the Exchange requires that every company meet certain standards before it can be admitted to the Exchange's list. No new, untried companies can qualify. No company whose financial statements aren't readily available. No company that has never made a million dollars' profit in a single year. From your point of view, this makes investing not risk-free but a bit easier.

"What about dividends?" Stock by stock, that's for a broker to tell you—he has the records at his finger tips. Altogether, the 1,084 corporations on the New York Stock Exchange paid two-thirds of the total amount of all dividends mailed to share owners in the United States in the first half of this year.

"Does the broker pick me a stock or do I?" It can work either way. But if you're wise, you'll make him a partner in your decisions. Tell him your aims, your problems, and talk it out with him. His help is yours without charge, even if you're just shopping around.

THE EXCHANGE Magazine, full of helpful investment information

A real education in investing is found in this lively magazine of the New York Stock Exchange—and it's so down-to-earth, so interesting, so concise. Packed with useful information, THE EXCHANGE is written in non-technical language that anyone can understand. For 12 issues in the handy pocket size, send $1.00 to THE EXCHANGE Magazine, 20 Broad St., New York 5, N.Y.

YMCA Opens 11th Day Camp Season

The YMCA Day Camp at DeWitt Lake opened its 11th season Monday with a registered attendance of 128 boys and girls and 16 counselors and leaders.

Camp Director Lou Schafer explained that the morning would be spent in orientation of campers to routine. All campers are to be given baskets and numbers and placed in groups.

Schafer said the buddy system of checking swimmers during all water periods would be employed. He pointed out that the swimmers would be divided into three groups: The beginner, who must stay in the biginner's area except when accompanied by his swimming instructor; those who have passed their 75-foot swimming test and are permitted to venture into a second part of the swimming area, and swimmers who have their 100-yard test and are able to demonstrate a good dive, these permitted to enter water from the pier.

Senior Camp Registrants

Children Raise $5 for Cerebral Palsy

A group of children in the Pearl street and Johnston avenue area raised $5 last week for the Cerebral Palsy fund by holding a series of games in their backyards and making a small charge for participation. Railroaders to the Rescue— A New York Central Tradition

1. THIS IS THE DIKE TRAIN. Conductor Hotchkiss thought it up. A volunteer New York Central crew manned it. And from its mercy tour of old Dutch towns in the Hudson and Harlem Valleys, it gathered thousands of dollars for Holland flood victims . . . adding to your Railroad's tradition of helpfulness.

2. HERE'S A DIFFERENT RESCUE! A while back, the boiler of a pickle plant broke down at the peak of the packing season. Tons of top-grade pickles faced spoilage. Then, in the nick of time, a Central locomotive puffed up alongside to furnish steam and get the pickle plant out of its "pickle"!

3. FIGHTING TO SAVE FORESTS. Last year's dry autumn caused many fires in the Adirondack forests. Time and again, New York Central's specially equipped Fire Trains sped to the rescue. Manned by trained railroad volunteers, they helped the Forestry Service halt the devastation.

4. BUT EVERYDAY HELPFULNESS is the usual job of New York Central railroaders. They carry your products to market and bring you things you need . . . without cluttering your highways. And they do this vital job all at low cost . . . in any weather . . . the year around. For that's the CENTRAL IDEA!

Troubles With English

Penang (AP)—The Chinese principal of an English school described English as a most complicated and intricated language and appealed to "natives" of the tongue to be more sympathetic towards those whose mother tongue is not English. Looi Chee Eng, headmaster of the Francis Light School, told student teachers in an address that he as well as others had inherited a legacy of mistakes in English from their former teachers. This could be passed on to future generations, he warned, unless the student teachers of today would acquire a deeper knowledge of the language and make necessary corrections.

Lucky Deer

Grimsby, Ont. (AP) — The automobile came off second-best in collision with a deer near here. Damage to the car was more than $100 but the deer was seen to run away and jump over a fence. The car's two occupants were unhurt.

To the man who "mentally" bought stocks yesterday

Did you ever "mentally" buy a few shares of one of your favorite companies . . . and figure what you might have made "if". . . ?

Today, you might really be a share owner of that company if you'd kept these points in mind:

"What would I own?" When you buy stock, you don't buy just a fancy sheet of engraved paper with your name on it. You buy part ownership in a business. If the company prospers, your share of the company becomes more valuable. That's what makes the risk of share ownership attractive to millions of people. In some companies, at least.

"How does the Stock Exchange help investors?" Well, the Exchange requires that every company meet certain standards before it can be admitted to the Exchange's list. No new, untried companies can qualify. No company whose financial statements aren't readily available. No company that has never made a million dollars' profit in a single year. From your point of view, this makes investing not risk-free but a bit easier.

"What about dividends?" Stock by stock, that's for a broker to tell you—he has the records at his finger tips. Altogether, the 1,084 corporations on the New York Stock Exchange paid two-thirds of the total amount of all dividends mailed to share owners in the United States in the first half of this year.

"Does the broker pick me a stock or do I?" It can work either way. But if you're wise, you'll make him a partner in your decisions. Tell him your aims, your problems, and talk it out with him. His help is yours without charge, even if you're just shopping around.

THE EXCHANGE Magazine, full of helpful investment information

A real education in investing is found in this lively magazine of the New York Stock Exchange—and it's so down-to-earth, so interesting, so concise. Packed with useful information, THE EXCHANGE is written in non-technical language that anyone can understand. YMCA Opens 11th Day Camp Season

The YMCA Day Camp at De-Witt Lake opened its 11th season Monday with a registered attendance of 128 boys and girls and 16 counselors and leaders.

Camp Director Lou Schafer explained that the morning would be spent in orientation of campers to routine. All campers are to be given baskets and numbers and placed in groups.

Schafer said the buddy system of checking swimmers during all water periods would be employed. He pointed out that the swimmers would be divided into three groups: The beginner, who must stay in the biginner's area except when accompanied by his swimming instructor; those who have passed their 75-foot swimming test and are permitted to venture into a second part of the swimming area, and swimmers who have their 100-yard test and are able to demonstrate a good dive, these permitted to enter water from the pier.

Charles H. Stokes

Funeral services for Charles H. Stokes of Kerhonkson, who died Sunday morning, will be held at 4 p. m. Wednesday at the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson. Mr. Stokes was born in Kerhonkson January 26, 1873. For many years he was the owner of a feed and flour mill and installed the first electric power lines in the Kerhonkson area. In recent years he was engaged in the making of Stokes' prepared pancake flour. He was a faithful member of the Methodist Church and had sung in its choir for more than 50 years. It was a fitting close to a busy, useful life that he was singing in the choir Sunday at the time of his death. He was a lifelong member of the Masonic Lodge. Surviving is his daughter, Miss Abigail E. Stokes, a teacher in the Kerhonkson school.

Aurel S. Holumzer

Aurel S. Holumzer of Zena died suddenly at his home this morning. Mr. Holumzer, a painter and decorator by trade, had been a resident of Zena for the past 47 years. He was an active member of Christ's Lutheran Church, Woodstock, and had served on its official board for many years. Surviving is his widow, Mrs. Marie Holumzer; four sons, Harold, Albert and John of Zena and Erwin of Woodstock; two daughters, Mrs. John Wolven of Woodstock and Mrs. Montcena DeWitt of Zena, and eight grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at the Lasher Funeral Home, Woodstock, at 2:30 p. m. Thursday with the Rev. Olney E. Cook officiating. Burial will be in Woodstock Cemetery.

Edward H. Remus

Funeral services for Edward H. Remus of 18 New street were held yesterday at 2 p. m. in the residence. The services, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, were largely attended by his many relatives and friends. There were many beautiful floral remembrances banked about the casket. Sunday evening, a large delegation representing Trinity Lutheran Men's Club, was led in a prayer service at the home by Pastor Gollnick. Bearers were John Remus, Henry Melbert, Louis Otto, Alfred Otto, Mervin Garrison and Arthur Jones. Burial took place in Montrepose Cemetery where the service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Gollnick.

Miss Frances Sharkey

The funeral of Miss Frances Sharkey was held this morning at 9 o'clock from the Jenson & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, and 9:30 at St. Joseph's Church where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. James V. Keating. Her relatives and friends attended the services to pay a final tribute of respect to her memory. During the bereavement the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly and father Keating called at the chapel and recited the Holy Rosary for the repose of her soul. Numerous floral pieces and Mass cards were placed near the casket. Burial took place in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father Keating gave the absolution at the grave.

Joseph A. Molyneaux

The funeral of Joseph A. Molyneaux, was held Monday at 9 a. m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, thence to St. Mary's Church where at 9:30 a high Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. Responses to the Mass were by the children's choir under the direction of Theodore Riccobono, choirmaster-organist. Many relatives and friends attended. Following the Libera, all in the church stood at attention while the choir sang the National Anthem. During the time the remains reposed in the funeral home many family acquaintances called to offer condolence to the bereaved. The clergy calling were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, PR, VF and the Rev. John A. Flaherty. Sunday evening, St. Mary's Holy Name Society assembled and assisted Father Farrelly in recitation of the Rosary. The American Legion, led by Commander Thomas Saccoman, and Chaplain Clarance Brown, held its ritual. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery. After Monsignor Drury gave the final absolution a firing squad under Commander Saccoman, and composed of Abe Singer, Bernard Redmond, Harry Whitney and Sgt. Charles Ackerman, fired the three volleys over the flag draped casket. Taps were sounded by John Ray Mayone.

Mrs. Alfred M. Smith

Mrs. Alfred M. Smith, formerly of Daretown and Glassboro, N. J., died at the Raichle Nursing Home on Monday. She was born Jane Louise Miner, daughter of Mary Barbara Stuewinger and Lucas VanKeuren Miner, and was the last surviving child. Mrs. Smith was a direct descendant of Thomas Miner of Massachusetts and Mathys VanKeuren, colonial settler of Kingston. Following her marriage to the late Alfred Smith she lived for several years at Daretown and after the death of her husband in 1931 went to Glassboro where she was associated with the Owens Illinois Glass Company. During the past year she had lived in Kingston where she became ill. Prior to her marriage she was associated with the office of the Ulster county clerk and later with the Farmers Exchange at Daretown. Always interested in church work she was affiliated at different times with the Fair Street Reformed Church of Kingston and the Presbyterian Church of Daretown. She was a life member of the Order of Eastern Star. Surviving are a stepdaughter, Jean Smith of Woodstown, N. J.; a nephew, George T. Miner of Elmer, N. Idea of God Called Basis for World Unity

New York, June 23 (AP)—Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee told some 12,000 Kiwanis Club members last night "the only idea big enough to unite a world is the idea of God."

In a talk stressing religious ideals, Clement declared, "a nation which can breed atom bombs can breed atomic ideals. I say we must or we die."

Clement was the main speaker in Madison Square Garden at the first evening session of Kiwanis Internation's 38th annual convention. Nearly 14,000 persons from the U. S., Alaska, Hawaii and Canada have registered for the four-day meeting.

The International includes more than 3,600 local clubs. Its achievements committee reported that during the last year local clubs helped 2,630,674 boys and girls, planted 1,772,352 trees, contributed $71,000 to churches and raised over $13,700,000 for community charity campaigns.

Bridge Is Blown Up

Saigon, Indochina, June 23 (AP)—Communist-led Vietminh forces blew up a vital railroad bridge between Hue and the port city of Tourane in central Vietnam yesterday while an armored train was crossing it. The locomotive and coach plunged into a ravine, killing at least six soldiers and a number of "fairly important" civilians.

Churchill in Hospital

William R. Churchill of Highland, assistant county investigator with the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, is a patient at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie, where he underwent an operation. His condition today was reported by hospital authorities as apparently fair.

About 2,500,000 American boys are Boy Scouts.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 23 (AP)—Petroleum shares staged a rally of their own today while the rest of the stock market presented a mixed appearance.

Oil stocks dominated trading, with numerous big blocks changing hands. Advances of around a point were common. Deep Rock Oil was up 3⅛ at 41.

Other good-sized gains were turned in by Continental Oil, Union Oil, Tidewater Associated, Richfield, Kern County Land, Cities Service, Phillips, Shamrock, Ohio Oil, Houston Oil, Texas Pacific Land Trust, Pacific Western, Texas Company and Standard Oil (New Jersey).

Other groups showing improvement included the steels, motors, aircrafts, utilities and chemicals. Farm machinery, rubber, rail and electrical equipment issues were mixed. Lower were mail order and copper shares.

Fractionally ahead were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Caterpillar, Radio Corp., Motorola, American Telephone, Consolidated Natural Gas, Dow Chemical, General Electric, Baltimore & Ohio, Northern Pacific, American Tobacco and American Can.

W. A. Kelly Chosen Polio Head Again

Attorney William A. Kelly of Kingston was re-elected chairman of Ulster County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, at a meeting Monday night in the Court House in Kingston.

Also re-elected were Harold Wilkins of Shokan and Tuthill McDowell of Ellenville as first and second vice chairmen. Francis J. O'Neill of Kingston, was elected secretary, and Howard Stephens, Jr., also of Kingston, was elected treasurer.

The annual report of the chairman was read, and talks were given by Dr. Dudley Hargrave, county health commissioner, and Alvord W. Clements, Eastern New York representative for the National Foundation. Dr. Hargrave was elected to the chapter's board of directors to take the place of Dr. Robert H. Broad, former county health commissioner.

Union Has Plan

tions by the New York State Crime Commission, which held hearings on waterfront conditions.

Driscoll said at Trenton, N. J., last night that the ILA hiring proposal was "interesting, helpful, but too little and too late." He made the comment after the New Jersey Senate passed a bill to create an interstate waterfront commission. The New Jersey Assembly is expected to approve the legislation Thursday—the same day the New York Legislature is scheduled to act on a companion measure at a special session.

There was no immediate comment from Dewey.

Eas tSector . . .

cers incited and directed the disorders. Moscow's Pravda charged the East German violence and the release of Korean prisoners of war were part of a directly-connected western plan to "prevent the lessening of international tension."

The East German Reds also embarked on an unusual plea for the backing of ex-Nazis. While Security Police scoured the ranks of former Wehrmacht officers for culprits who joined the rebellion, the government issued statements from picked World War 2 veterans "deploring" the revolt.

Charges that drain pipe purchased with village funds was used by one of the trustees on his personal real estate development were made by another trustee at a village board meeting several weeks ago. The charges were brought into the open editorially in an Ellenville paper June 4.

Living Costs Take

cent higher than in May a year ago and 12 per cent above June, 1950, when the Korean war broke out.

Several major labor wage contracts are geared to fluctuations of the cost-of-living index but none are affected by this month's report.

The largest increases between April 15 and May 15 were registered in food, which rose one-half of one per cent and medical care which went up four-tenths of one per cent.

Why We Say--

. . . Big bluffer

Someone who bluffs often might be referred to as a fourflusher. The expression comes from the game of poker where five cards of the same suit are required to make a flush. A fourflusher is one who bets pretending to have a flush while holding only four cards of the one suit.

Council Recommends Uniform Jury System

New York, June 23 (AP)—The judicial council of the state of New York voted unanimously yesterday to recommend adoption by the Legislature of a uniform jury system for counties outside New York city.

Such a system has been in effect in the city since 1940.

The recommendation by the council — composed of judges, legislators and lawyers—will go to the Legislature at its special session Thursday.

Leonard S. Saxe, executive secretary of the council, said after its meeting yesterday that the purpose of the recommended legislation is to obtain better and more representative jurors.

The proposed system would eliminate the widespread requirement that jurors must be owners of real property, and would limit each person's jury service to once every two years. The latter revision is intended to make jury service more popular.

Under the proposed revision, a jury commissioner would be appointed for each county by a county jury board consisting of a justice of the Supreme Court, a county judge and a member of the county board of supervisors. The commissioner and jury board would be responsible for administration of the jury system, subject to rules of the justices of the Appellate Divisions of the State Supreme Court.

Charles H. Stokes

Funeral services for Charles H. Stokes of Kerhonkson, who died Sunday morning, will be held at 4 p. m. Wednesday at the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson. Mr. Stokes was born in Kerhonkson January 26, 1873. For many years he was the owner of a feed and flour mill and installed the first electric power lines in the Kerhonkson area. In recent years he was engaged in the making of Stokes' prepared pancake flour. He was a faithful member of the Methodist Church and had sung in its choir for more than 50 years. It was a fitting close to a busy, useful life that he was singing in the choir Sunday at the time of his death. He was a lifelong member of the Masonic Lodge. Surviving is his daughter, Miss Abigail E. Stokes, a teacher in the Kerhonkson school.

Aurel S. Holumzer

Aurel S. Holumzer of Zena died suddenly at his home this morning. Mr. Holumzer, a painter and decorator by trade, had been a resident of Zena for the past 47 years. He was an active member of Christ's Lutheran Church, Woodstock, and had served on its official board for many years. Surviving is his widow, Mrs. Marie Holumzer; four sons, Harold, Albert and John of Zena and Erwin of Woodstock; two daughters, Mrs. John Wolven of Woodstock and Mrs. Montcena DeWitt of Zena, and eight grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at the Lasher Funeral Home, Woodstock, at 2:30 p. m. Thursday with the Rev. Olney E. Cook officiating. Burial will be in Woodstock Cemetery.

Edward H. Remus

Funeral services for Edward H. Remus of 18 New street were held yesterday at 2 p. m. in the residence. The services, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, were largely attended by his many relatives and friends. There were many beautiful floral remembrances banked about the casket. Sunday evening, a large delegation representing Trinity Lutheran Men's Club, was led in a prayer service at the home by Pastor Gollnick. Bearers were John Remus, Henry Melbert, Louis Otto, Alfred Otto, Mervin Garrison and Arthur Jones. Burial took place in Montrepose Cemetery where the service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Gollnick.

Miss Frances Sharkey

The funeral of Miss Frances Sharkey was held this morning at 9 o'clock from the Jenson & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, and 9:30 at St. Joseph's Church where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. James V. Keating. Her relatives and friends attended the services to pay a final tribute of respect to her memory. During the bereavement the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly and father Keating called at the chapel and recited the Holy Rosary for the repose of her soul. Numerous floral pieces and Mass cards were placed near the casket. Burial took place in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father Keating gave the absolution at the grave.

Joseph A. Molyneaux

The funeral of Joseph A. Molyneaux, was held Monday at 9 a. m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, thence to St. Mary's Church where at 9:30 a high Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. Responses to the Mass were by the children's choir under the direction of Theodore Riccobono, choirmaster-organist. Many relatives and friends attended. Following the Libera, all in the church stood at attention while the choir sang the National Anthem. During the time the remains reposed in the funeral home many family acquaintances called to offer condolence to the bereaved. The clergy calling were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, PR, VF and the Rev. John A. Flaherty. Sunday evening, St. Mary's Holy Name Society assembled and assisted Father Farrelly in recitation of the Rosary. The American Legion, led by Commander Thomas Saccoman, and Chaplain Clarance Brown, held its ritual. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery. After Monsignor Drury gave the final absolution a firing squad under Commander Saccoman, and composed of Abe Singer, Bernard Redmond, Harry Whitney and Sgt. Charles Ackerman, fired the three volleys over the flag draped casket. Taps were sounded by John Ray Mayone.

Mrs. Alfred M. Smith

Mrs. Alfred M. Smith, formerly of Daretown and Glassboro, N. J., died at the Raichle Nursing Home on Monday. She was born Jane Louise Miner, daughter of Mary Barbara Stuewinger and Lucas VanKeuren Miner, and was the last surviving child. Mrs. Smith was a direct descendant of Thomas Miner of Massachusetts and Mathys VanKeuren, colonial settler of Kingston. Following her marriage to the late Alfred Smith she lived for several years at Daretown and after the death of her husband in 1931 went to Glassboro where she was associated with the Owens Illinois Glass Company. During the past year she had lived in Kingston where she became ill. Prior to her marriage she was associated with the office of the Ulster county clerk and later with the Farmers Exchange at Daretown. Always interested in church work she was affiliated at different times with the Fair Street Reformed Church of Kingston and the Presbyterian Church of Daretown. She was a life member of the Order of Eastern Star. Surviving are a stepdaughter, Jean Smith of Woodstown, N. J.; a nephew, George T. Miner of Elmer, N. Idea of God Called Basis for World Unity

New York, June 23 (AP)—Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee told some 12,000 Kiwanis Club members last night "the only idea big enough to unite a world is the idea of God."

In a talk stressing religious ideals, Clement declared, "a nation which can breed atom bombs can breed atomic ideals. I say we must or we die."

Clement was the main speaker in Madison Square Garden at the first evening session of Kiwanis Internation's 38th annual convention. Nearly 14,000 persons from the U. S., Alaska, Hawaii and Canada have registered for the four-day meeting.

The International includes more than 3,600 local clubs. Its achievements committee reported that during the last year local clubs helped 2,630,674 boys and girls, planted 1,772,352 trees, contributed $71,000 to churches and raised over $13,700,000 for community charity campaigns.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 23 (AP)—Petroleum shares staged a rally of their own today while the rest of the stock market presented a mixed appearance.

Oil stocks dominated trading, with numerous big blocks changing hands. Advances of around a point were common. Deep Rock Oil was up 3⅛ at 41.

Other good-sized gains were turned in by Continental Oil, Union Oil, Tidewater Associated, Richfield, Kern County Land, Cities Service, Phillips, Shamrock, Ohio Oil, Houston Oil, Texas Pacific Land Trust, Pacific Western, Texas Company and Standard Oil (New Jersey).

Other groups showing improvement included the steels, motors, aircrafts, utilities and chemicals. Farm machinery, rubber, rail and electrical equipment issues were mixed. Lower were mail order and copper shares.

Fractionally ahead were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Caterpillar, Radio Corp., Motorola, American Telephone, Consolidated Natural Gas, Dow Chemical, General Electric, Baltimore & Ohio, Northern Pacific, American Tobacco and American Can.

W. A. Kelly Chosen Polio Head Again

Attorney William A. Kelly of Kingston was re-elected chairman of Ulster County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, at a meeting Monday night in the Court House in Kingston.

Also re-elected were Harold Wilkins of Shokan and Tuthill McDowell of Ellenville as first and second vice chairmen. Francis J. O'Neill of Kingston, was elected secretary, and Howard Stephens, Jr., also of Kingston, was elected treasurer.

The annual report of the chairman was read, and talks were given by Dr. Dudley Hargrave, county health commissioner, and Alvord W. Clements, Eastern New York representative for the National Foundation. Dr. Hargrave was elected to the chapter's board of directors to take the place of Dr. Robert H. Broad, former county health commissioner.

tions by the New York State Crime Commission, which held hearings on waterfront conditions.

Driscoll said at Trenton, N. J., last night that the ILA hiring proposal was "interesting, helpful, but too little and too late." He made the comment after the New Jersey Senate passed a bill to create an interstate waterfront commission. The New Jersey Assembly is expected to approve the legislation Thursday—the same day the New York Legislature is scheduled to act on a companion measure at a special session.

There was no immediate comment from Dewey.

The East German Reds also embarked on an unusual plea for the backing of ex-Nazis. While Security Police scoured the ranks of former Wehrmacht officers for culprits who joined the rebellion, the government issued statements from picked World War 2 veterans "deploring" the revolt.

Living Costs Take

cent higher than in May a year ago and 12 per cent above June, 1950, when the Korean war broke out.

Several major labor wage contracts are geared to fluctuations of the cost-of-living index but none are affected by this month's report.

The largest increases between April 15 and May 15 were registered in food, which rose one-half of one per cent and medical care which went up four-tenths of one per cent.

Why We Say--

FOURFLUSHER

. . . Big bluffer

Someone who bluffs often might be referred to as a fourflusher. The expression comes from the game of poker where five cards of the same suit are required to make a flush. A fourflusher is one who bets pretending to have a flush while holding only four cards of the one suit.

Council Recommends Uniform Jury System

New York, June 23 (AP)—The judicial council of the state of New York voted unanimously yesterday to recommend adoption by the Legislature of a uniform jury system for counties outside New York city.

Such a system has been in effect in the city since 1940.

The recommendation by the council — composed of judges, legislators and lawyers—will go to the Legislature at its special session Thursday.

Leonard S. Saxe, executive secretary of the council, said after its meeting yesterday that the purpose of the recommended legislation is to obtain better and more representative jurors.

The proposed system would eliminate the widespread requirement that jurors must be owners of real property, and would limit each person's jury service to once every two years. The latter revision is intended to make jury service more popular.

Under the proposed revision, a jury commissioner would be appointed for each county by a county jury board consisting of a justice of the Supreme Court, a county judge and a member of the county board of supervisors. The commissioner and jury board would be responsible for administration of the jury system, subject to rules of the justices of the Appellate Divisions of the State Supreme Court.

KHS Has Impressive Commencement, Marni Paley and Shirley Craig Are Speakers

The 1953 graduation class slowly entered the capacity-filled municipal auditorium at 8:15 o'clock last night, to open the Kingston High School Commencement exercises. Diplomas were awarded to 356 students by Clarence S. Rowland, president of the board of education. Miss Marni Paley as valedictorian, and Miss Shirley M. Craig, salutatorian, were the principal speakers.

Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent, presented the commencement awards. Acting principal Theron L. Culver presented the graduating class.

Music Speaks

The seriousness of the milestone reached after four years of study, was mingled with the happiness of the event in the stunning rendition of two compositions by the A Capella Choir, under the direction of Leonard Stine. The selections were How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place by Brahms and the Hallelujah by Beethoven.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Ralph M. Houston, pastor of St. James Methodist Church; and the benediction pronounced by the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Miss Coughlin Praised

Miss Kathleen Coughlin, afflicted with cerebral palsy, was singled out by Mr. Rowland for special recognition. He said, "I have the unusual privilege tonight to give recognition to one of your graduates who, in spite of her physical handicap has completed her 12 years of study at home, under the personal instruction of Mrs. Cornelia Coons. I am sure I speak for every member of your class and all here assembled, when I extend special congratulations to you and hand you your diploma."

In his remarks, Mr. Culver compared to a great mosaic, the achievements made and knowledge gained during the high school years.

Class Unique

"This class is unique in many respects," said the acting principal. "It has as its valedictorian a girl whose sister was salutatorian of her class two years ago, a rare honor to come to one family." He continued:

"It has among its numbers a French girl, brought here by the American Field Service and sponsored by our Prisma organization, who has completed our high school course and is to receive a diploma but who will also return to France to complete her course in her own school.

"Among its numbers is one who in spite of great misfortune has demonstrated great fortitude and courage—a cerebral palsy victim—who under the patient instruction of Mrs. Coons has completed the high school course.

"Standing high in the estimation of all are many who have demonstrated their talents in music, dramatics and other lines. Scholarships totaling $14,000 have already been awarded members of this class. Included in its number are some who rank with the best in the country when judged upon the same basis. There are 145 of its members who plan to further their education in colleges, universities or specialized schools; eight are to pursue degrees in nursing—this represents a distinct advance in degree nursing. I feel certain that this class will give a good account of itself.

"To those who have satisfactorily completed the prescribed course and are therefore entitled to receive the diploma issued by the board of education, I extend my congratulations."

In her valedictory, Miss Marni Paley stressed the "grave responsibility" placed upon the young people of her generation. The complete text follows:

"Mr. Culver, members of the board of education, parents, teachers, friends and my fellow graduates:

Which Course

"Tonight a magnificent yet grave responsibility is placed upon our shoulders. Our generation is about to come into its own, and now we are more ready to find our positions as useful members of our society. We have the choice to steer in any direction we desire. Which course shall we take?

"I rejoice to think of the age into which we were born. Never before have so many paths been accessible to the intellect. Never before has there been such a challenge to youth.

"What is this challenge? Let us open our eyes and see! What are we going to do to feed those who are starving in a world which has the capacity to produce enough for all? What are we going to do to erase the wounds of war from the minds and bodies of so many peoples? How are we going to teach democracy so that we will not merely tolerate, but will welcome minority groups? What are we going to do to preserve the American way of life for which blood is being spilt? Let us make sure that in attempting to preserve our principles, we, ourselves, do not destroy them.

Not Only Challenge

"But these are not only challenges. Everything about us is an enigma. Scientists tell us that matter is composed of atoms, which are made up of different electrical particles. Yet, we don't even know what electricity is!

"Not too many years ago, a man could study all his life and know little more, excluding experience, than we have learned during our approximately 17 years on Earth. How is this possible? As Tennyson said, we are the heirs of all the ages. We can better achieve because we have the knowledge of all mankind at our fingertips to start with. Each man must learn anew for himself, but each successive society is founded upon the gains of those who came before.

"Think of the millions of people down through the ages who labored with their minds and bodies, because they loved humanity, to glean what little knowledge the peoples of the earth possess. And they have entrusted it to us!

"But it cannot stop here, for knowledge rots without further endeavor. Surely now we must see more clearly our responsibility to the peoples of the present and the future.

"Dr. Albert Einstein put it very aptly when he said: 'Many times a day I realize how much my own outer and inner life is built upon the labors of my fellow men, both living and dead, and how earnestly I must exert myself in order to give in return as much as I have received.'

How Repay Mankind

"How can we repay mankind for so much? There is really no definite answer. We can best repay by helping, and to do this we must feel a kinship with every human being on earth.

"Knowledge and civilization have advanced hand-in-hand. With the blossoming of knowledge, man has become sensitive to and aware of the needs of others. Thus the degree of our civilization is directly proportional to the fruition of our interdependency with all the peoples of the world.

"How can we realize this relationship to its fullest extent? It does not matter what walk of life we choose. The prime requisite is a desire and readiness to be of service.

Sad and Joyous Occasion

"Tonight is both a sad and joyous occasion. It is sad because we leave our former life to play an adult role in college, in the community, in business, and in the armed forces. It is joyous because we are the hope of humanity. As one author put it, 'Youth is a cup, half filled with wine.' We have great capacity and unlimited potentiality. We are about to consummate the hopes of those who have helped us start to fill that cup, our parents and our teachers. The world is as we make it. Its fate lies in our thought and deed. Ours is a great responsibility!

"Each of us has, at one time or another, mused, 'What is my purpose on earth? What is my purpose in life?'

Live to Meet Challenge

"I believe that we live to meet a challenge—the challenge of the perfect symmetry of our universe—the challenge of community living. We must each meet with it in our own way, as we see fit.'

"But, however we meet with it, we must remember that, just as in attempting to understand the universe where we must raise our intellect to the height of that perfection which we try to fathom, so, to understand and effect community living we must raise ourselves to that ultimate, rather than withdrawn within our own finite wheel of self.

"A purpose in life is a point at which we aim our sharpest efforts. There is always growth in a groping mind, hence the movement of this point away from us is directly proportional to how close we come to striking it. That is, as we approach the achievement of our goals, they become increasingly magnificient and therefore less attainable. This is as it should be, for a goal gives one something to work for—something to live for. And, if we ever attain it, there will be no struggle in life, and nothing left for us except the dull monotony of Utopia.

"It is customary at this time to thank all those who have helped us thus far. But I feel it is not enough to do it verbally. Only if we work towards world peace and the betterment of our society can we really show our thanks.

"Let us resolve, therefore, to be uncompromising in our principles, staunch and steadfast in our stand against all evil forces, and lastly to accept our responsibility of service to the world and all its peoples.

Use Wisely, Justly

"I would like to make a wish, if I may, for all of us assembled here tonight. I wish that, in the years to come, the knowledge that we have gained will be used wisely and justly, and that each of us will have found his way to the happiness of others.

The Secret of Success was the theme of the salutatory presented by Shirley Craig.

The Salutatory:

"Mr. Culver, members of the board of education, friends, and classmates: It is indeed an honor and a privilege to welcome you here tonight on behalf of the 1953 graduating class of Kingston High School. We have sailed the sea of learning through four years of high school life. Our voyage has been made more enjoyable by the patient and sacrificial efforts of our faculty advisers and our parents. To all who have played such an important role in our four memorable years here at Kingston High School, the Class of 1953 extends its thanks.

"Life holds nothing finer than the experience of bringing into reality some vision of achievement. Graduation is the fulfillment of such a dream. But this dream is only a beginning, for a diploma is merely a piece of paper; it does not guarantee a successful life, because life is always a challenging battlefield. Each victory is simply one step forward on the road to success.

"Most men and women think of success in terms of security, recognition, and achievement. This means financial security, a comfortable home, the respect of one's fellow men, an untroubled mind, accomplishments in the material world, and growth in the spiritual world.

Success Requires Ability

"The first step toward such success is to sight a goal. In doing so, one must consider carefully all the factors involved—his personality, tastes, ambitions, the demands of such a career, and his ability to meet these demands. One must not overlook this latter factor for, unless there is ability, success is impossible.

"Having decided upon a goal, the second step is to begin preparing for it. A high school education is one of the first requirements. High school gives the training in all fields and it is the basis for future education.

"When one has prepared himself to the best of his ability, he should seek his opportunity. This should not be too difficult, for America is the one country in the world where men are able to rise from poverty to become leaders. As Abraham Lincoln once said, I will prepare myself and my chance will come. In the course of every career there are innumerable occasions when the door to success is thrown wide open. The intelligent person will quickly seize such good fortune the moment it appears.

"Too often we hear a successful person referred to as getting all the breaks or being just plain lucky. Success is not made up of lucky breaks; but through hard work and careful planning one can do much toward creating advantageous openings for himself. Read all available literature pertaining to the chosen field. Talk with successful people; listen to their advice; and profit from their experiences.

Personal Qualities

"Certain personal qualities are also essential in order to be successful. Getting along well with others is the chief quality among these. Without this art, a person will reach only mediocrity regardless of the amount of education or ability he may possess. In the words of John D. Rockefeller, I would pay more for the ability to deal with people than for any other ability under the sun. Dozens of books have been written on this subject, but all of them can be summed up in the Golden Rule—treat others as you would like them to treat you. Develop a sincere interest in the problems of friends and associates.

"The ability to be a good listener is as valuable as the art of being a good conversationalist. Always remember that a friendly smile wins cooperation more readily than a gruff command. Practice finding the good traits in people and overlooking their shortcomings. Don't argue—proving that another individual is wrong simply injures his ego and makes him an enemy. He may be absolutely incorrect in what he says or does, but he doesn't think so. Instead of condemning his viewpoint, try to understand his feelings and actions.

"Another dynamic of success is stability, valuable because it represents mental and emotional balance—the ability to stand up under pressure. Included in this term are steadiness and dependability. Employers look for workers upon whom they can rely to complete a task correctly the first time it is assigned.

"As the individual travels along the road to success, he will find that more and more responsibility will come his way. Responsibility is the willingness to accept and discharge a duty. To accept reponsibility requires courage, but the rewards are great.

"Good judgment also goes with success and this, too, can be developed. Judgment is the ability to arrive at sound conclusions, based on available facts. There is no school like experience to teach a course in good judgment.

"Initiative is next on the list. The person who possesses it is not satisfied with 'old-fashioned' methods of doing things—he looks ahead and plans for the future.

"The last, but not least, of these requirements is humor. Never forget that there is always a humorous side to nearly every critical or serious situation. The ability to laugh at oneself will often turn an apparently hopeless cause into a victory.

"And now fellow classmates, as we are about to leave our sheltered life and establish a place for ourselves in the world, let us strive to develop these personal qualities, for they are of utmost importance. Yes, success is difficult to achieve, but this ultimate goal is well worth the efforts put forth.

KHS Has Impressive Commencement, Marni Paley and Shirley Craig Are Speakers

The 1953 graduation class slowly entered the capacity-filled municipal auditorium at 8:15 o'clock last night, to open the Kingston High School Commencement exercises. Diplomas were awarded to 356 students by Clarence S. Rowland, president of the board of education. Miss Marni Paley as valedictorian, and Miss Shirley M. Craig, salutatorian, were the principal speakers.

Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent, presented the commencement awards. Acting principal Theron L. Culver presented the graduating class.

Music Speaks

The seriousness of the milestone reached after four years of study, was mingled with the happiness of the event in the stunning rendition of two compositions by the A Capella Choir, under the direction of Leonard Stine. The selections were How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place by Brahms and the Hallelujah by Beethoven.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Ralph M. Houston, pastor of St. James Methodist Church; and the benediction pronounced by the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Miss Coughlin Praised

Miss Kathleen Coughlin, afflicted with cerebral palsy, was singled out by Mr. Rowland for special recognition. He said, "I have the unusual privilege tonight to give recognition to one of your graduates who, in spite of her physical handicap has completed her 12 years of study at home, under the personal instruction of Mrs. Cornelia Coons. I am sure I speak for every member of your class and all here assembled, when I extend special congratulations to you and hand you your diploma."

In his remarks, Mr. Culver compared to a great mosaic, the achievements made and knowledge gained during the high school years.

Class Unique

"This class is unique in many respects," said the acting principal. "It has as its valedictorian a girl whose sister was salutatorian of her class two years ago, a rare honor to come to one family." He continued:

"It has among its numbers a French girl, brought here by the American Field Service and sponsored by our Prisma organization, who has completed our high school course and is to receive a diploma but who will also return to France to complete her course in her own school.

"Among its numbers is one who in spite of great misfortune has demonstrated great fortitude and courage—a cerebral palsy victim—who under the patient instruction of Mrs. Coons has completed the high school course.

"Standing high in the estimation of all are many who have demonstrated their talents in music, dramatics and other lines. Scholarships totaling $14,000 have already been awarded members of this class. Included in its number are some who rank with the best in the country when judged upon the same basis. There are 145 of its members who plan to further their education in colleges, universities or specialized schools; eight are to pursue degrees in nursing—this represents a distinct advance in degree nursing. I feel certain that this class will give a good account of itself.

"To those who have satisfactorily completed the prescribed course and are therefore entitled to receive the diploma issued by the board of education, I extend my congratulations."

In her valedictory, Miss Marni Paley stressed the "grave responsibility" placed upon the young people of her generation. The complete text follows:

"Mr. Culver, members of the board of education, parents, teachers, friends and my fellow graduates:

Which Course

"Tonight a magnificent yet grave responsibility is placed upon our shoulders. Our generation is about to come into its own, and now we are more ready to find our positions as useful members of our society. We have the choice to steer in any direction we desire. Which course shall we take?

"I rejoice to think of the age into which we were born. Never before have so many paths been accessible to the intellect. Never before has there been such a challenge to youth.

"What is this challenge? Let us open our eyes and see! What are we going to do to feed those who are starving in a world which has the capacity to produce enough for all? What are we going to do to erase the wounds of war from the minds and bodies of so many peoples? How are we going to teach democracy so that we will not merely tolerate, but will welcome minority groups? What are we going to do to preserve the American way of life for which blood is being spilt? Let us make sure that in attempting to preserve our principles, we, ourselves, do not destroy them.

Not Only Challenge

"But these are not only challenges. Everything about us is an enigma. Scientists tell us that matter is composed of atoms, which are made up of different electrical particles. Yet, we don't even know what electricity is!

"Not too many years ago, a man could study all his life and know little more, excluding experience, than we have learned during our approximately 17 years on Earth. How is this possible? As Tennyson said, we are the heirs of all the ages. We can better achieve because we have the knowledge of all mankind at our fingertips to start with. Each man must learn anew for himself, but each successive society is founded upon the gains of those who came before.

"Think of the millions of people down through the ages who labored with their minds and bodies, because they loved humanity, to glean what little knowledge the peoples of the earth possess. And they have entrusted it to us!

"But it cannot stop here, for knowledge rots without further endeavor. Surely now we must see more clearly our responsibility to the peoples of the present and the future.

"Dr. Albert Einstein put it very aptly when he said: 'Many times a day I realize how much my own outer and inner life is built upon the labors of my fellow men, both living and dead, and how earnestly I must exert myself in order to give in return as much as I have received.'

How Repay Mankind

"How can we repay mankind for so much? There is really no definite answer. We can best repay by helping, and to do this we must feel a kinship with every human being on earth.

"Knowledge and civilization have advanced hand-in-hand. With the blossoming of knowledge, man has become sensitive to and aware of the needs of others. Thus the degree of our civilization is directly proportional to the fruition of our interdependency with all the peoples of the world.

"How can we realize this relationship to its fullest extent? It does not matter what walk of life we choose. The prime requisite is a desire and readiness to be of service.

Sad and Joyous Occasion

"Tonight is both a sad and joyous occasion. It is sad because we leave our former life to play an adult role in college, in the community, in business, and in the armed forces. It is joyous because we are the hope of humanity. As one author put it, 'Youth is a cup, half filled with wine.' We have great capacity and unlimited potentiality. We are about to consummate the hopes of those who have helped us start to fill that cup, our parents and our teachers. The world is as we make it. Its fate lies in our thought and deed. Ours is a great responsibility!

"Each of us has, at one time or another, mused, 'What is my purpose on earth? What is my purpose in life?'

Live to Meet Challenge

"I believe that we live to meet a challenge—the challenge of the perfect symmetry of our universe—the challenge of community living. We must each meet with it in our own way, as we see fit.

"But, however we meet with it, we must remember that, just as in attempting to understand the universe where we must raise our intellect to the height of that perfection which we try to fathom, so, to understand and effect community living we must raise ourselves to that ultimate, rather than withdrawn within our own finite wheel of self.

"A purpose in life is a point at which we aim our sharpest efforts. There is always growth in a groping mind, hence the movement of this point away from us is directly proportional to how close we come to striking it. That is, as we approach the achievement of our goals, they become increasingly magnificent and therefore less attainable. This is as it should be, for a goal gives one something to work for—something to live for. "It is customary at this time to thank all those who have helped us thus far. But I feel it is not enough to do it verbally. Only if we work towards world peace and the betterment of our society can we really show our thanks.

"Let us resolve, therefore, to be uncompromising in our principles, staunch and steadfast in our stand against all evil forces, and lastly to accept our responsibility of service to the world and all its peoples.

Use Wisely, Justly

"I would like to make a wish, if I may, for all of us assembled here tonight. I wish that, in the years to come, the knowledge that we have gained will be used wisely and justly, and that each of us will have found his way to the happiness of others.

The Secret of Success was the theme of the salutatory presented by Shirley Craig.

New Rule to Govern Baked Goods Entries At County Fair

Mrs. William Powers, superintendent of the home department of the Ulster County Fair, has announced that a new ruling has been agreed upon for entries in the home baked goods division. The ruling is a result of requests made by exhibitors in previous years, who prefer to dispose of the articles at the end of the opening day at the Fair, August 19.

In her announcement, Mrs. Powers said "baked goods must be on display at the pavilion Forsyth Park, Kingston, by 9 a. m. August 19, and must be removed the same day at 9 p. m. Entries for baked goods with all other articles, must be received by August 15.

The baked goods included this year follows:

Cakes — angel loaf, coconut layer, chocolate layer, solid chocolate layer, spice loaf, sponge loaf, chiffon cake.

Cookies — molasses, sugar, brownies, ice box, toll house and filled.

Pies—two-crust apple and two-crust other than apple, such as berry, rhubarb and others.

Bread and rolls—yeast bread whole wheat, rye or white; yeast rolls and coffee cake or coffee roll.

Two [redacted]milies Joined in Marriage; Bride of Woodstock

The Archduke Rudolph Hapsburg married the daughter of a Russian Czarist count today in Tuxedo Park, joining two noble families that have lived in exile from two fallen empires since World War 1. The bride is Miss Xenia Czernichev-Besobrasov, daughter of Count (now Mr.) Serge Czernichev-Besobrasov and the Countess Elizabeth Cheremetieff, who maintain a residence on Mead Mountain road, Woodstock. The Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen performed the ceremony at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church.

The bride was born in 1929 in Paris where her family lived after fleeing the Communist revolution in Russia.

The archduke, youngest son of Austria-Hungary's last emperor, like his bride, was born in exile. He works for an American-Canadian banking firm in New York. His widowed mother is the former Empress Zita. A reception for 110 guests was held in her residence.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long-sleeved ivory satin robe with rose print laces and a veil which was worn in the second half of the last century by a princess of Saxe Altenburg for her marriage to a grand duke of Russia. She carried a bouquet of lilies.

The flower decorations in the church were arranged by the bridegroom's family. Members of the Tagaste Seminary of Suffern, were in charge of the music.

Among those in attendance were Etienne de Hedry, former Hungarian envoy in Bruxelles, Archduchess Charlotte, the bridegrooms sister, Count Henry Degenfeld, professor at the Catholic University of Washington D. C., Archduke Rodolph's former tutor; Princess Bagration, the bride's sister; Count Woronzoff Dashkoff.

Also Archduchess Adelaide, the bridegroom's sister; Prince Antoine de Ligne, assistant military attache of Belgium in Washington; Mrs. Alexandra Besobrasov, Prince Bagration, Archduchess Yolande, Alexander Czernichev Besobrasov, the bride's brother; Archduchess Anne Eugenie, Archduke Charles Louis, the bridegroom's brother; Princess Vera of Russia, Archduke Felix, the bridegroom's brother; Mrs. Serge Czernichev-Besobrasov, the bride's mother.

Shrine Club Plans Visit to Crippled Children's Hospital

The Ulster County Shrine Club will make a pilgrimage to the Crippled Children's Hospital, supported by the Shrine, in Springfield, Mass., on Sunday, June 28. All Shriners and their friends are invited.

The bus to transport the group will leave Masonic Temple at 8:30 a. m. All reservations must be received by Thursday, and should be given to Gordon A. Craig, Sr.

Horse Show Judges, Others Named for Woodstock, June 28

Judges have been announced to preside at the seventh annual Horse Show to be sponsored by the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., regular show members of the American Horse Shows Association, Inc. The show will be held on Sunday, June 28, in the club ring on Ohayo Mountain, Woodstock. The first class will be judged at 9 a. m. The show continues to 6 p. m.

Prominent Judges

Malcolm Grahame of Poughkeepsie, master of the Rombout Hunt, will judge in the hunter, jumper, and equitation divisions. Three-gaited saddle horse classes will be judged by Roger A. Young, Trotwood Farm, White Plains. John A. Beach of New York and Greenwich will judge western and western equitation classes. These prominent judges are well known to Woodstock exhibitors and spectators and have presided at previous events sponsored by the Woodstock club.

Brigadier General Bryan Conrad of West Point and Mrs. Herbert Cutler, 16 John street, will serve as AHSA stewards.

Local Veterinarians

The veterinarians will include the Drs. Jeanne Logue, 456 Albany avenue; and Gilbert F. Hoppenstedt of Rosendale road. Representatives of the Woodstock Fire Company will be in charge of first aid. Charles Kinkade will be the official farrier; and Milton Wagenfohr, official photographer.

Eligible for National Show

The ASPCA Horsemanship class will be judged just prior to the luncheon recess. Because the winner of this class automatically becomes eligible to compete for the Alfred B. Maclay Trophy in the 1953 National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden, the class is always one of the high points in a recognized horse show. The ASPCA event is open to children (amateurs) who have not reached their 17th birthday. Post entries will not be accepted. Exhibitors who are entered, must file an amateur card with the show secretary.

Post entries, at no extra fee, will be accepted the day of the show, in all but horsemanship events. Prize lists and entry forms are available from the show secretary, Mrs. Virgil B. Van Wagonen, Bearsville; or from the chairman, Mrs. George M. Hard, Ulster Park.

OES Chapter Cancels Event

A card party sponsored by Clinton Chapter 445, OES, scheduled for Wednesday, June 24, at the home of Mrs. Bertha Peckerman of 68 Plymouth avenue has been cancelled. Another date will be announced later.

Medical Group Sets Meeting

The Ulster County Medical Society has called a special meeting to be held tonight at nine o'clock in the city laboratory.

JCC Ann[redacted] Date To Register for Ulster Park Camp

The Jewish Community Center of Kingston recently completed negotiations with nearby Camp Ahavah, formerly Camp Kingston in Ulster Park, for a special reduced rate to members of the Center who wish to place their children at the Ahavah Summer Day Camp. Registration will take place at the Jewish Community Center, 265 Wall street on Wednesday, June 24, 1953, from 2 to 4 p. m. in the afternoon. Inquiries may be addressed to the Jewish Community Center by mail or by telephoning 5348.

Camp Ahavah will be operated by Dr. H. Ullmann, a New York Hebrew school principal who has operated Camp Ahavah for the past seven years in Livingston Manor. The site of the camp was moved this year to the present location in order to accommodate an increased enrollment.

Enrollment in Summer Day Camp will include boys and girls between the ages of four and 14 inclusive. The camp season will extend from July 1 to August 26. Arrangements have been made for door to door transportation, from the home to the camp. Children will be served a hot lunch daily. Dietary laws will be strictly observed.

Camp facilities include extensive outdoor play areas for games and sports as well as indoor areas for certain special interest activities such as arts and crafts, music instruction and others. A feature of the program will include swimming and boating daily on Camp Ahavah's own lake front area along Mirror Lake.

Fordham Dean Dies

New York, June 23 (AP)—Ignatius M. Wilkinson, dean of Fordham University Law School since 1923 and vice-chairman of the New York State Crime Commission, died yesterday at New York Hospital. Wilkinson, 66, had entered the hospital June 5 for an abdominal operation. He took a turn for the worse last Sunday night and required a second operation. Wilkinson joined the Fordham faculty in 1912. He was law school dean from 1923 until his death, with the exception of a leave of absence to serve as corporation counsel under then Mayor LaGuardia in 1943-44-45.

Near End for Auriol

Paris, June 23 (AP)—France, which has had to look for a premier 19 times since World War 2, soon will have to find a new president. The incumbent, Socialist Vincent Auriol, winds up a seven-year term in December. Awarding scholastic prizes at the Sorbonne University last night, he said: "Today is the last time definitely and irrevocably that I will preside over this ceremony." France's president, elected by Parliament, is largely a ceremonial, figurehead official. His chief task is finding candidates for the premiership during the frequent government crises.

New Rule to Govern Baked Goods Entries At County Fair

Mrs. William Powers, superintendent of the home department of the Ulster County Fair, has announced that a new ruling has been agreed upon for entries in the home baked goods division. The ruling is a result of requests made by exhibitors in previous years, who prefer to dispose of the articles at the end of the opening day at the Fair, August 19.

In her announcement, Mrs. Powers said "baked goods must be on display at the pavilion Forsyth Park, Kingston, by 9 a. m. August 19, and must be removed the same day at 9 p. m. Entries for baked goods with all other articles, must be received by August 15.

The baked goods included this year follows:

Cookies — molasses, sugar, brownies, ice box, toll house and filled.

Pies—two-crust apple and two-crust other than apple, such as berry, rhubarb and others.

Bread and rolls—yeast bread whole wheat, rye or white; yeast rolls and coffee cake or coffee roll.

The Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen performed the ceremony at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church.

The bride was born in 1929 in Paris where her family lived after fleeing the Communist revolution in Russia.

The archduke, youngest son of Austria-Hungary's last emperor, like his bride, was born in exile. He works for an American-Canadian banking firm in New York. His widowed mother is the former Empress Zita. A reception for 110 guests was held in her residence.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long-sleeved ivory satin robe with rose print laces and a veil which was worn in the second half of the last century by a princess of Saxe Altenburg for her marriage to a grand duke of Russia. She carried a bouquet of lilies.

The flower decorations in the church were arranged by the bridegroom's family. Members of the Tagaste Seminary of Suffern, were in charge of the music.

Among those in attendance were Etienne de Hedry, former Hungarian envoy in Bruxelles, Archduchess Charlotte, the bridegrooms sister, Count Henry Degenfeld, professor at the Catholic University of Washington D. C., Archduke Rodolph's former tutor; Princess Bagration, the bride's sister; Count Woronzoff Dashkoff.

Also Archduchess Adelaide, the bridegroom's sister; Prince Antoine de Ligne, assistant military attache of Belgium in Washington; Mrs. Alexandra Besobrasov, Prince Bagration, Archduchess Yolande, Alexander Czernichev Besobrasov, the bride's brother; Archduchess Anne Eugenie, Archduke Charles Louis, the bridegroom's brother; Princess Vera of Russia, Archduke Felix, the bridegroom's brother; Mrs. Serge Czernichev-Besobrasov, the bride's mother.

Shrine Club Plans Visit to Crippled Children's Hospital

The Ulster County Shrine Club will make a pilgrimage to the Crippled Children's Hospital, supported by the Shrine, in Springfield, Mass., on Sunday, June 28. All Shriners and their friends are invited.

The bus to transport the group will leave Masonic Temple at 8:30 a. m. All reservations must be received by Thursday, and should be given to Gordon A. Craig, Sr.

Horse Show Judges, Others Named for Woodstock, June 28

Judges have been announced to preside at the seventh annual Horse Show to be sponsored by the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., regular show members of the American Horse Shows Association, Inc. The show will be held on Sunday, June 28, in the club ring on Ohayo Mountain, Woodstock. The first class will be judged at 9 a. m. The show continues to 6 p. m.

Prominent Judges

Malcolm Grahame of Poughkeepsie, master of the Rombout Hunt, will judge in the hunter, jumper, and equitation divisions. Three-gaited saddle horse classes will be judged by Roger A. Young, Trotwood Farm, White Plains. John A. Beach of New York and Greenwich will judge western and western equitation classes. These prominent judges are well known to Woodstock exhibitors and spectators and have presided at previous events sponsored by the Woodstock club.

Brigadier General Bryan Conrad of West Point and Mrs. Herbert Cutler, 16 John street, will serve as AHSA stewards.

Local Veterinarians

The veterinarians will include the Drs. Jeanne Logue, 456 Albany avenue; and Gilbert F. Hopenstedt of Rosendale road. Representatives of the Woodstock Fire Company will be in charge of first aid. Charles Kinkade will be the official farrier; and Milton Wagenfohr, official photographer.

Eligible for National Show

The ASPCA Horsemanship class will be judged just prior to the luncheon recess. Because the winner of this class automatically becomes eligible to compete for the Alfred B. Maclay Trophy in the 1953 National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden, the class is always one of the high points in a recognized horse show. The ASPCA event is open to children (amateurs) who have not reached their 17th birthday. Post entries will not be accepted. Exhibitors who are entered, must file an amateur card with the show secretary.

Post entries, at no extra fee, will be accepted the day of the show, in all but horsemanship events. Prize lists and entry forms are available from the show secretary, Mrs. Virgil B. Van Wagonen, Bearsville; or from the chairman, Mrs. George M. Hard, Ulster Park.

OES Chapter Cancels Event

A card party sponsored by Clinton Chapter 445, OES, scheduled for Wednesday, June 24, at the home of Mrs. Bertha Peckerman of 68 Plymouth avenue has been cancelled. Another date will be announced later.

Medical Group Sets Meeting

The Ulster County Medical Society has called a special meeting to be held tonight at nine o'clock in the city laboratory.

JCC Announces Date To Register for Ulster Park Camp

The Jewish Community Center of Kingston recently completed negotiations with nearby Camp Ahavah, formerly Camp Kingston in Ulster Park, for a special reduced rate to members of the Center who wish to place their children at the Ahavah Summer Day Camp. Registration will take place at the Jewish Community Center, 265 Wall street on Wednesday, June 24, 1953, from 2 to 4 p. m. in the afternoon. Inquiries may be addressed to the Jewish Community Center by mail or by telephoning 5348.

Camp Ahavah will be operated by Dr. H. Ullmann, a New York Hebrew school principal who has operated Camp Ahavah for the past seven years in Livingston Manor. The site of the camp was moved this year to the present location in order to accommodate an increased enrollment.

Enrollment in Summer Day Camp will include boys and girls between the ages of four and 14 inclusive. The camp season will extend from July 1 to August 26. Arrangements have been made for door to door transportation, from the home to the camp. Children will be served a hot lunch daily. Dietary laws will be strictly observed.

Camp facilities include extensive outdoor play areas for games and sports as well as indoor areas for certain special interest activities such as arts and crafts, music instruction and others. A feature of the program will include swimming and boating daily on Camp Ahavah's own lake front area along Mirror Lake.

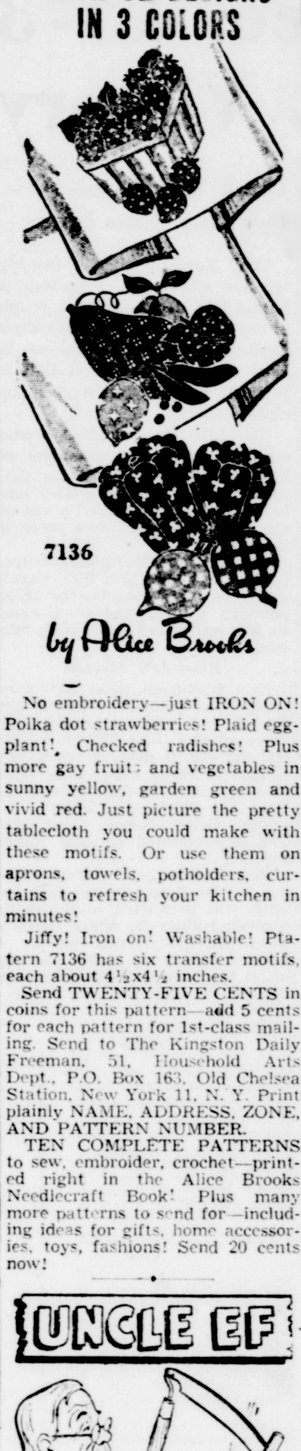

Fordham Dean Dies

New York, June 23 (AP)—Ignatius M. Wilkinson, dean of Fordham University Law School since 1923 and vice-chairman of the New York State Crime Commission, died yesterday at New York Hospital. Wilkinson, 66, had entered the hospital June 5 for an abdominal operation. He took a turn for the worse last Sunday night and required a second operation. Wilkinson joined the Fordham faculty in 1912. He was law school dean from 1923 until his death, with the exception of a leave of absence to serve as corporation counsel under then Mayor LaGuardia in 1943-44-45.

Near End for Auriol

Paris, June 23 (AP)—France, which has had to look for a premier 19 times since World War 2, soon will have to find a new president. The incumbent, Socialist Vincent Auriol, winds up a seven-year term in December. Awarding scholastic prizes at the Sorbonne University last night, he said: "Today is the last time definitely and irrevocably that I will preside over this ceremony." France's president, elected by Parliament, is largely a ceremonial, figurehead official. His chief task is finding candidates for the premiership during the frequent government crises.

Frank Reis Fans 21 Batters; Boys Club Wins, 2-1

Southpaw Frank Reis of the KHS varsity staff pitched a no-hitter and struck out 21 batters as the Kingston Boys Club baseball team nosed out St. Peter's CYO nine, 2 to 1, Sunday at Block Park.

Reis lost a shutout in duel with Bob Maines when St. Peter's scored an unearned run in the seventh inning. Ted Hofbauer walked, stole second and scored on a throwing error by Jack Thurin.

Maines allowed only six hits, four of them singles by James Jackson Boys Club shortstop who went "4 for 4." He struck out 13.

Boys Club went ahead in the fourth when Jackson singled, stole second reached third on an error by Mills and was squeezed home by Reis. The winning run came in the eighth as the result of John Cody's double a single by Jackson and Paul Giannuzzi's long fly to center.

Turck Yields Only Two Hits, Fans Nine

Tony Turck pitched a two-hitter and struck out 9 batters to gain a 13-3 decision over a couple of old Little League rivals—Ernie Madison and Glen Newell—as the Elks trounced the Police, 13-3, in yesterday's FYL action at municipal stadium

The Elks insured their second straight victory by pouncing on Madison for six runs in the first inning. They ran up a 13-0 lead before the Police scored a run in the fifth and added two more in the sixth.

Led by Jack Redmond's homer to deep left—the first FYL circuit clout of the season—the Elks pounded 13 hits and were aided by five walks and nine Police miscues.

Blackwell Streaks

Eric Blackwell, Elks shortstop, enjoyed a "4 for 4" spree in the No. 8 slot with a double and three singles. Tom "Fibber" Davitt, the No. 9 man, cracked two singles in three trips. Only Nick Kearney, the leadoff, missed at least one hit for the Elks.

Big Gene Nagele and Art Moshis accounted for the Police safeties.

Bob Raible, after being taken out of the game in the fifth inning, was permitted to return as a pinch runner for Vince Bradley when the latter was hit by a pitched ball in the sixth. The unusual maneuver happened because the junior cops had no replacements.

Robinson, Goodman Are Batting Leaders

New York, June 23 (AP)—Jackie Robinson and Billy Goodman, both former batting champions, paced the major leagues again today, each by a one point margin.

Robinson, the Brooklyn Dodgers' jack-of-all trades, heads the National League with a .342 mark. He was its top hitter in 1949 with the same figure. Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals is Jackie's closest competitor at .341. Records include last night's game.

Goodman, who won the American League title in 1950 with .354, is No. 1 today with a .327 slate. Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees is second with .326 followed by Mickey Vernon of the Washington Senators at .325.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

If you think big time sports hasn't suffered in these parts, check the 4th of July calendar and see if Kingston or the area has one major event planned.

You can blame it on TV, radio, if you wish. But there are other factors. The shortened work week, the lure of other participant avocations . . . the mushrooming of resorts, the more powerful cars . . . easy accessibility of places once considered remote.

Take a look at golf and you'll have part of your answer. As recently as the pre-war period golf was pretty much of a closed corporation. Not today. It is growing in sensational fashion. It is a participant sport.

A man who works a five-day, 40-hour week, gets three-weeks vacation, has a car that takes him to New York in 150 minutes . . . . Cape Cod . . . the Poconos . . . the Adirondacks, other places that a few years back represented a production in travel. That fellow doesn't hang around the home town to watch a ball game. He gets it stuffed down his ears and throat, hour after hour, day after day via TV and radio. For free, too.

Those who dream of the return of local baseball are living in a world of ghosts.

• The Reaper Takes His Toll:

Gone to their final reward in recent days have been three men whose paths we criss-crossed down through the years as a competitor and observer in the world of sports.

In order, they were Edward Feldman of Flatbush, Jay T. Rifenbary and William B. Martin of Kingston.

Ed Feldman was a teammate on the old Brigham A. C. of East Kingston back in the late 20s, a collection of home town talent that cut a wide swath in area semi-pro circles for a few years. Then the manager was drafted by John McCardle of the Kingston All Stars and the team collapsed.

Feldman lived a rather fabulous career in his youth and once, down on his luck, boxed a few rounds with Jack Dempsey at a training camp. He emerged from the sparring session financially improved and physically in good shape. He was a first baseman for the Brigham squad, a good one, surrounded by a group of young players . . . among them "Kelly" Tiano, Earl Mitchell, Pat Mitchell, "Flip" Komosa, Mickey "McGraw" Tiano, Sam Astolas, Jack Dawkins and a host of others. That was the Golden Era of independent baseball in Ulster county, when John Ashdown's Pan Ams, the Kingston All Stars, Blue Sox, Rondout A. C. were big names.

Jay Rifenbary confined his activities to golf and he was a most enthusiastic participant. There was a strong father-son bond between Mr. Rifenbary and his son, George the long-hitting dentist. He nourished a hope that some day he would catch George on a bad day and beat him.

"If I beat George, will I get a good writeup?" Mr. Rifenbary would ask every once in a while. "A story, with a big black headline," we would counter. Of course, Mr. Rifenbary never beat George but he never stopped trying. Wiltwyck Golf Club lost one of its pillars of strength when George passed away. Golfdom and the community, too.

Bill Martin, as everyone knew him, was perhaps one of the most enthusiastic baseball supporters Kingston has ever known up to the war period.

He spanned that period from the original Colonials through to the Kingston Recreations. He was a solid booster in those lean years—the middle 30s—when John McCardle, William C. Schryver and others made a futile effort to keep the game going. Bill Martin was among the faithful few who regularly attended ball games when you were conspicuous by your presence in the echo-ridden old Fair Grounds. Like many others he mourned the decline of the sport that was eventually to experience a resurgence with the Recreations and then lapse into a slump that it may never shake off.

There is something in the passing of Ed Feldman, Jay Rifenbary and Bill Martin that makes you think back to a happier day and you are faced with the awful realization that they are gone forever—the friends and the era they typified. It was nice to have promised Jay Rifenbary that writeup even though he knew there was little likelihood it would ever happen. Our heartfelt condolences go to Mrs. Feldman and the families of Jay Rifenbary and Bill Martin.

This is the month boys on nearly 17,000 American Legion Post-sponsored junior baseball teams push aside their schoolbooks and pick up bat and glove. It's June and the time for league play in the Legion's national tournament and in loops in Hawaii and Alaska. It seems sort of strange that, with all the junior baseball enthusiasm we are generating in the community, we do not have an area Legion tournament.

Cliff Miller Cops First In Poughkeepsie Races

Captures Class A Runabout Event

Cliff Miller of Kingston took first place in the Class A runabout event in the second annual speedboat races sponsored by the Poughkeepsie Yacht Club Sunday on the Hudson.

Between 60 and 70 drivers competed with out-of-town entries dominating the prize list. Five events, with attached heats, were run off and the afternoon's activities were marked by more than a dozen upsets.

Miller also took a third in the Class A hydroplane and Warren Spinnenweber of Kingston was third in Class D runabout. Miller's winning in the Class A race was 6 minutes, 5 seconds.

Fred Perry of Poughkeepsie was second and Kenneth Myers of Philmont was third. Jesse Jewell of Northville copped the A hydroplane in 5 minutes, 19 seconds.

Spinnenweber trailed Dr. James Tower of Scranton, Pa. and Warren Schmidt of Dobbs Ferry in the Class D runabout. The winning time was 5 minutes, 35 seconds.

The races were run around an oval-shaped one and one-eighth mile course in front of the yacht club, and consisted of three and one half laps each. Weather conditions were good and an excellent crowd attended.

Paddles Too Fast

Rochester, June 23 (AP)—Police said Joseph Zarcone, 17, paddled a canoe at a dangerous speed in the Genesee river Sunday. Sentence was suspended yesterday when he appeared in City Court on a disorderly conduct charge.

Paper Raises Price

Plattsburg, June 23 (AP)—The Plattsburg Press-Republican has increased its price for home delivery from 25 cents to 30 cents a week. Carrier boys will share in the increase, which became effective yesterday. The morning newspaper said the price of a single copy would remain unchanged at 5 cents. Traffic Mishaps Increase

Albany, June 23 (AP)—The toll of dead and injured on New York streets and highways is running 2 per cent higher than last year. Traffic accidents killed 616 persons and injured 49,527 in the first four months of 1953, the Motor Vehicle Bureau reported today. In the comparable period last year, 603 were killed and 48,523 were injured.

If that sounds funny, remember this is the Little League.

While Bill Thomas spun a four-hitter and survived his customary late inning relapse, the Yankees raked George Uhl and Allen McCord for nine hits, including three doubles and received eight walks. Thomas walked three and fanned eight.

It was 0-0 for two frames and then the roof fell in on last year's champions. The Yankees rushed seven runs across the plate in the third and followed with nine in the fourth.

John Melchoir stroked a double and single for the Yankees and Dick Ellis had a pair of solo slams. Jim Volker had two hits in two trips, both singles, for the losers. Charlie Williams and Hobart Armstrong doubled for the other Dodger hits.

Mike Sangaline and Charlie Tiano also had two baggers for the Yankees. Pete Zeeh, Thomas and Gerry McDonough also hit safely.

Annual Event Set Wednesday

The sixth annual Wiltwyck Golf Club Women's Invitational will be held Wednesday, June 24, starting at 8 a. m. at the Hurley avenue links.

Mrs. Stanley Hankinson said today that most of the area golf clubs would be represented by sizeable delegations and about 75 players are expected.

Among the name players due to compete are Mrs. Gertrude Hallenbeck of the Catskill Country Club and Mrs. Jessie Burnett of the Woodstock Country Club.

Dutchess Golf Club of Poughkeepsie will be represented by its usual strong group.

Competition will be on a handicap basis in three classes, with attractive merchandise prizes for the winners.

Mrs. Hallenbeck is regarded as one of the finest players in the women's division of the Northeastern PGA, having won the district crown on several occasions She has won the Wiltwyck Class A division with a score as low as 80, a remarkable feat for the rolling uptown layout.

Noami Venable and other Dutchess Club stars are expected to furnish Mrs. Hallenbeck with her keenest competition.

Southpaw Frank Reis of the KHS varsity staff pitched a no-hitter and struck out 21 batters as the Kingston Boys Club baseball team nosed out St. Peter's CYO nine, 2 to 1, Sunday at Block Park.

Reis lost a shutout in duel with Bob Maines when St. Peter's scored an unearned run in the seventh inning. Ted Hofbauer walked, stole second and scored on a throwing error by Jack Thurin.

Maines allowed only six hits, four of them singles by James Jackson. Boys Club shortstop who went "4 for 4." He struck out 13.

Boys Club went ahead in the fourth when Jackson singled, stole second, reached third on an error by Mills and was squeezed home by Reis. The winning run came in the eighth as the result of John Cody's double, a single by Jackson and Paul Giannuzzi's long fly to center.

The teams will play a return game next Sunday at 2 p. m. at Block Park.

Tony Turck pitched a two-hitter and struck out 9 batters to gain a 13-3 decision over a couple of old Little League rivals—Ernie Madison and Glen Newell—as the Elks trounced the Police, 13-3, in yesterday's FYL action at municipal stadium.

The Elks insured their second straight victory by pouncing on Madison for six runs in the first inning. They ran up a 13-0 lead before the Police scored a run in the fifth and added two more in the sixth.

Led by Jack Redmond's homer to deep left—the first FYL circuit clout of the season—the Elks pounded 13 hits and were aided by five walks and nine Police miscues.

Blackwell Streaks

Eric Blackwell, Elks shortstop, enjoyed a "4 for 4" spree in the No. 8 slot with a double and three singles. Tom "Fibber" Davitt, the No. 9 man, cracked two singles in three trips. Only Nick Kearney, the leadoff, missed at least one hit for the Elks.

Big Gene Nagele and Art Moshis accounted for the Police safeties.

Bob Raible, after being taken out of the game in the fifth inning, was permitted to return as a pinch runner for Vince Bradley when the latter was hit by a pitched ball in the sixth. The unusual maneuver happened because the junior cops had no replacements.

Robinson, Goodman Are Batting Leaders

New York, June 23 (AP)—Jackie Robinson and Billy Goodman, both former batting champions, paced the major leagues again today, each by a one point margin.

Robinson, the Brooklyn Dodgers' jack-of-all trades, heads the National League with a .342 mark. He was its top hitter in 1949 with the same figure. Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals is Jackie's closest competitor at .341. Records include last night's game.

Goodman, who won the American League title in 1950 with .354, is No. 1 today with a .327 slate. Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees is second with .326 followed by Mickey Vernon of the Washington Senators at .325.

Traffic Mishaps Increase

Albany, June 23 (AP)—The toll of dead and injured on New York streets and highways is running 2 per cent higher than last year. Traffic accidents killed 616 persons and injured 49,527 in the first four months of 1953, the Motor Vehicle Bureau reported today. In the comparable period last year, 603 were killed and 48,523 were injured.

The Yankees launched the second half of the American Little League with a burst of batting power in the fashion of the first half champion Red Sox.

If that sounds funny, remember this is the Little League.

While Bill Thomas spun a four-hitter and survived his customary late inning relapse, the Yankees raked George Uhl and Allen McCord for nine hits, including three doubles and received eight walks. Thomas walked three and fanned eight.

It was 0-0 for two frames and then the roof fell in on last year's champions. The Yankees rushed seven runs across the plate in the third and followed with nine in the fourth.

John Melchoir stroked a double and single for the Yankees and Dick Ellis had a pair of solo slams. Jim Volker had two hits in two trips, both singles, for the losers. Charlie Williams and Hobart Armstrong doubled for the other Dodger hits.

Mike Sangaline and Charlie Tiano also had two baggers for the Yankees. Pete Zeeh, Thomas and Gerry McDonough also hit safely.

Annual Event Set Wednesday

The sixth annual Wiltwyck Golf Club Women's Invitational will be held Wednesday, June 24, starting at 8 a. m. at the Hurley avenue links.

Mrs. Stanley Hankinson said today that most of the area golf clubs would be represented by sizeable delegations and about 75 players are expected.

Among the name players due to compete are Mrs. Gertrude Hallenbeck of the Catskill Country Club and Mrs. Jessie Burnett of the Woodstock Country Club.

Dutchess Golf Club of Poughkeepsie will be represented by its usual strong group.

Competition will be on a handicap basis in three classes, with attractive merchandise prizes for the winners.

Mrs. Hallenbeck is regarded as one of the finest players in the women's division of the Northeastern PGA, having won the district crown on several occasions. She has won the Wiltwyck Class A division with a score as low as 80, a remarkable feat for the rolling uptown layout.

Noami Venable and other Dutchess Club stars are expected to furnish Mrs. Hallenbeck with her keenest competition.

The three area clubs—Wiltwyck, Twaalfskill and Woodstock—are expected to be well represented.

Reluctant Giants Tackle Cardinals In Showdown Set

By BEN PHLEGAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Leo Durocher's reluctant Giants, finally exhibiting signs of arousing from their spring doldrums, move in on the St. Louis Cardinals tonight for their second straight showdown series with a first division club.

Flushed with success after gaining two victories and a tie out of a four game series with the league leading Milwaukee Braves, the New Yorkers have a chance to prove to their faithful followers that even yet they may fulfill preseason predictions.

Brooklyn continued its miserable western trip with a 9-4 loss to the Chicago Cubs while in the American League the off and on Cleveland Indians won a pair of 5-2 contests from the Washington Senators. The rest of the clubs in both leagues had the day off.

10th Win For Staley

Gerry Staley joined the so-far select group of 10 game winners as he checked the Pirates on eight hits. Enos Slaughter drove in three runs with a double and another one with a single.

The two blows raised Slaughter's major league hit production to 1,983. At his present rate he will reach the 2,000 mark about July 1. Only three active players —Stan Musial, Bob Elliott and Johnny Mize—have as many as 2,000 hits. Elliott and Mize both made the grade this season.

Cub Homers Click

The tremendous home run threat the Cubs were hoping for when they bought Ralph Kiner to team with Hank Sauer worked out in the best story book fashion against the Dodgers.

Frank Baumholtz and Dee Fondy singled in the fourth and Kiner delivered them with his 15th homer into the left field seats. The crowd was still cheering as Sauer promptly parked his 10th circuit blast into the same section.

For a change the Indians combined timely hitting with competent pitching to win two games in a row. Bobby Feller and Bob Lemon both went the distance. His teammates backed Feller with a 14 hit attack in the first game and Lemon started a home run barrage against Walt Masterson that won the second.

Lemon, Dale Mitchell and Larry Doby all homered in the sixth inning, breaking a string of scoreless innings by Masterson. Doby also hit one in the first game.

Indians Win Over Tigers, 17-5 To Grab Lead in National Loop

The Indians yanked the Tiger by the tail in the National Little League yesterday, routing the Bengal, 17 to 5, in a major showdown of power.

That put the Indians at the head of the league parade with seven wins and two loses, a game ahead of the Tigers with every indication that they are the team to beat.

They slugged 14 hits off Gene Spada and Don Kruszenski, scored in every inning and staged a 9-run outburst in the second after scoring four runs in the opener.

Norm Heppner racked up 10 strikeouts in tossing a six-hitter for the Indians.

Spadafora Stars

Ray Spadafora was the batting star with a double and two singles for the Indians. Joe Cavano, Warren Stewart and Sam Perry slashed two singles each.

Abe Levy, with a double and single, was the only Tiger with more than one hit. Bill Murphy pounded a double.

CYO Junior League Opens Season Today

Teams in the loop are St. Peter's, St. Mary's, St. Joseph's and Immaculate Conception.

In opening games, St. Peter's meets St. Mary's at lower Hasbrouck and St. Joseph's opposes the Immaculate Conception at Block.

Age limit for the league is 18 years. Games will be played on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Would Integrate Groups

St. Louis, June 23 (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People now seeks "a total integration of Negroes and other minority groups," Walter White, executive secretary of the association, says. Speaking at a news conference yesterday, White said progress toward achieving equal educational opportunities for all races, particularly in the South, brought about the change in the NAACP's goal. We said the organization has abandoned the "separate but equal theory."

Cows require from 10 to 20 gallons of water a day and hogs from 2 to 6 gallons.

St. Mary's Edges Woodstock, 1-0

St. Mary's parish nine edged Woodstock, 1-0, Sunday on the village diamond in a brilliant pitching duel between Big Jack Houghtaling and Jack Becker.

Garrison Takes Rhinebeck Race

Doug Garrison, who is known on racetracks as the Hudson Heat Wave, had the proper setting for a feature victory Saturday on the steaming Rhinebeck Speedway.

Pressed by "Pep" Benedetto of Cairo in the early going, Garrison passed him and fought off late challenges by George Welch and Stan Disbrow, who finished two-three.

The Mutual Racing Associates today announced that starting Sunday, June 28, auto racing will resume under lights at the Coxsackie Speed Bowl for the remainder of the summer season.

Quick Hits 671 Classic

Runnerup Dede Hedrick hit the hat trick with 203-222-211-636 and Frank Grimaldi, Jr., shot 201-235-628. Harry Secreto (202-212) and Cliff Davis (205-208) tied with 605.

The secondary group included Eddie Heins 234-595, Buster Ferraro 229-591, William Lawrence 219-201-578, Herb Van Deusen 233-206-572 and George Robinson 226-570. F. J. Schryver had a 232, Harold Broskie ditto and Joe Ausanio 213.

Reluctant Giants Tackle Cardinals In Showdown Set

By BEN PHLEGAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Leo Durocher's reluctant Giants, finally exhibiting signs of arousing from their spring doldrums, move in on the St. Louis Cardinals tonight for their second straight showdown series with a first division club.

Flushed with success after gaining two victories and a tie out of a four game series with the league leading Milwaukee Braves, the New Yorkers have a chance to prove to their faithful followers that even yet they may fulfill preseason predictions.

Brooklyn continued its miserable western trip with a 9-4 loss to the Chicago Cubs while in the American League the off and on Cleveland Indians won a pair of 5-2 contests from the Washington Senators. The rest of the clubs in both leagues had the day off.

10th Win For Staley

Gerry Staley joined the so-far select group of 10 game winners as he checked the Pirates on eight hits. Enos Slaughter drove in three runs with a double and another one with a single.

The two blows raised Slaughter's major league hit production to 1,983. At his present rate he will reach the 2,000 mark about July 1. Only three active players —Stan Musial, Bob Elliott and Johnny Mize—have as many as 2,000 hits. Elliott and Mize both made the grade this season.

Cub Homers Click

The tremendous home run threat the Cubs were hoping for when they bought Ralph Kiner to team with Hank Sauer worked out in the best story book fashion against the Dodgers.

Frank Baumholtz and Dee Fondy singled in the fourth and Kiner delivered them with his 15th homer into the left field seats. The crowd was still cheering as Sauer promptly parked his 10th circuit blast into the same section.

For a change the Indians combined timely hitting with competent pitching to win two games in a row. Bobby Feller and Bob Lemon both went the distance. His teammates backed Feller with a 14 hit attack in the first game and Lemon started a home run barrage against Walt Masterson that won the second.

Lemon, Dale Mitchell and Larry Doby all homered in the sixth inning, breaking a string of scoreless innings by Masterson. Doby also hit one in the first game.

Indians Win Over Tigers, 17-5 To Grab Lead in National Loop

The Indians yanked the Tiger by the tail in the National Little League yesterday, routing the Bengal, 17 to 5, in a major showdown of power.

That put the Indians at the head of the league parade with seven wins and two loses, a game ahead of the Tigers with every indication that they are the team to beat.

They slugged 14 hits off Gene Spada and Don Kruszenski, scored in every inning and staged a 9-run outburst in the second after scoring four runs in the opener.

Norm Heppner racked up 10 strikeouts in tossing a six-hitter for the Indians.

Spadafora Stars

Ray Spadafora was the batting star with a double and two singles for the Indians. Joe Cavano, Warren Stewart and Sam Perry slashed two singles each.

Abe Levy, with a double and single, was the only Tiger with more than one hit. Bill Murphy pounded a double.

The boxscore:

CYO Junior League Opens Season Today

Teams in the loop are St. Peter's, St. Mary's, St. Joseph's and Immaculate Conception.

In opening games, St. Peter's meets St. Mary's at lower Hasbrouck and St. Joseph's opposes the Immaculate Conception at Block.

Age limit for the league is 18 years. Games will be played on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Would Integrate Groups

St. Louis, June 23 (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People now seeks "a total integration of Negroes and other minority groups," Walter White, executive secretary of the association, says. Speaking at a news conference yesterday, White said progress toward achieving equal educational opportunities for all races, particularly in the South, brought about the change in the NAACP's goal. We said the organization has abandoned the "separate but equal theory."

Cows require from 10 to 20 gallons of water a day and hogs from 2 to 6 gallons.

St. Mary's Edges Woodstock, 1-0

St. Mary's parish nine edged Woodstock, 1-0, Sunday on the village diamond in a brilliant pitching duel between Big Jack Houghtaling and Jack Becker.

Houghtaling allowed six hits, walked one and fanned 16. Becker held the winners to five blows, walked four and struck out seven.

A return game is scheduled at Woodstock on July 19.

Garrison Takes Rhinebeck Race

Doug Garrison, who is known on racetracks as the Hudson Heat Wave, had the proper setting for a feature victory Saturday on the steaming Rhinebeck Speedway.

Pressed by "Pep" Benedetto of Cairo in the early going, Garrison passed him and fought off late challenges by George Welch and Stan Disbrow, who finished two-three.

The Mutual Racing Associates today announced that starting Sunday, June 28, auto racing will resume under lights at the Coxsackie Speed Bowl for the remainder of the summer season.

Quick Hits 671 Classic

Clifton Quick fired a 671 series to lead last night's Summer Classic League session at the Bowlodrome. The old pinpointer slammed solos of 198, 232 and 241.

Runnerup Dede Hedrick hit the hat trick with 203-222-211-636 and Frank Grimaldi, Jr., shot 201-235-628. Harry Secreto (202-212) and Cliff Davis (205-208) tied with 605.

The secondary group included Eddie Heins 234-595, Buster Ferraro 229-591, William Lawrence 219-201-578, Herb Van Deusen 233-206-572 and George Robinson 226-570. F. J. Schryver had a 232, Harold Broskie ditto and Joe Ausanio 213.

Team results:

Jones Dairy 2, Barclay Knitwear 1; Kingston Heating 2, Team No. 12 (1); McDermott's 3, Glasco Keglers 0; Rapp's Express 2, Needes Express 1; Gallop's Jewelers 2, Whitey's Drive-In 1; Buster's Five 3, Miron Lumber 0; Lawrence's 2, Goodyear Shoe Repair 1.

Girls State Will Hear Stang Speak On Political Plan

County Attorney Frederick Stang will leave on Wednesday for Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, where he will be political director of Empire Girls' State, June 24 through July 2. He has held that post for 12 years.

Girls' State annually provides an eight-day program for girls who have just completed their junior year in high school. Instruction and practical application is offered in the fundamentals of city, county and state government. There is also a recreational program.

Approximately 260 girls representing every county in the state are expected to attend. They will be divided into two political parties, the Nationalist and the Federalists. They elect officers for the mythial Colonial City, Huguenot county, and Empire Girls' State.

Hold Model Sessions

A Common Council, board of supervisors, state assembly and senate are elected along with executive officers. Model sessions of the legislative bodies are held. On the final day of the period, the girls go to Albany, where they hold sessions in the Senate and Assembly chambers, and generally are addressed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey as well as other state officials.

During the eight-day period, the girls are in charge of qualified counselors and house mothers. Classes are held from 9 to 11:45 a. m. and from 1 to 3:30 p. m.

Stang will address the girls Wednesday night at the opening session, outlining the aims of the program and discussing government responsibilities.

Mean temperatures in the southern part of Ontario, Canada, are about the same as those of San Francisco, says the Ontario government.

Humphrey Advises On Coming Reduction

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's advice to income taxpayers is not to spend the hoped-for Jan. 1 reduction until the fate of the excess profits tax is settled.

Humphrey gave the advice last night in a Mutual Broadcasting System radio interview, saying it would be hard to reduce individual income taxes unless Congress approves a six-month extension of the excess profits tax. The tax expires in a week, unless Congress acts.

"I wouldn't spend it (the income tax saving) until we see where we are going," Humphrey said.

The excess profits tax extension bill is bottled up in the House Ways and Means Committee, whose chairman, Rep. Daniel Reed (R-N.Y.), opposes it.

To Open Thruway Test Bids July 2

The New York State Thruway Authority today announced that bids will be opened in Albany at 2 p. m., July 2 for the drilling of test holes along the state thruway in Albany, Greene, Ulster and Orange counties.

The test drilling is usually for construction of bridges, other interchange and overpass structures along the express highway. Such test wells or holes are also usually necessary for construction over marshes and other low ground.

Maps, plans and specifications may be examined and obtained at the office of George Nickerson, district engineer, 353 Broadway, Albany, or at the office of J. S. Bixby, district engineer, Pleasant Valley Road, Poughkeepsie.

Briggs Has Conference

Seoul, June 23 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs conferred with South Korea's prime minister, Paik Too Chin, today. They presumably discussed the critical Korean truce situation resulting from the release of 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean prisoners. Paik arrived yesterday from a U. S. tour.

Democrats Have

port. On the other side, Sen. Maybank (D.-S.C.) said the life of the SDPA will have to be extended for a year or there won't be any Small Business Loan Agency at all.

While Taft discounted the lasting effects of the vote, there seemed little doubt that Democrats would be striving to attain such unity again on major legislation.

The minority obviously had in mind the possibility of upsetting a much more important Republican apple cart in legislation to extend the reciprocal trade agreements program for a year.

Administration leaders got the bill passed in the House only by a compromise with GOP members who wanted to revise the whole trade program. This was done with an amendment to increase the Tariff Commission from six to seven members, a move aimed at giving Republicans control.

House Votes Own

come. He estimated that these members spent at least $20,000 a year while in Washington, and, if they could deduct it all, their tax bill would be decreased by 90 per cent of that amount, or $18,000.

The House-voted plan, he said, "gives the most relief to those who need it least."

McCormick said the courts have held that the business headquarters of a member of Congress in Washington, so his expenses while here can't be charged off. But he said, it is a fact that a congressman must maintain residence in his home district so, while he's in Washington, he's away on business.

The $3,000 now allowed, he said, isn't adequate.

McCormick estimated that the average congressman spends at least $4,500 on business expenses while attending sessions of Congress. Other members said that was a conservative estimate.

The House accepted the amendment without a record vote.

Doesn't Hit City

Named for Santa Fe, N. M., the Santa Fe Railway never ran through that city, but serves the New Mexican capital city by a spur line.

Possible Sabotage Studied in Fire

Intense heat foiled attempts to probe the rubble of bricks, wood and blazing rubber bales for possible victims.

Some reports said 12 persons were trapped when the structure suddenly collapsed. But an employe of the warehouse said he was the only one in the building when he felt a shaking like an earthquake, saw flames, and fled to safety before the cave-in.

The FBI, denying reports that sabotage was considered a probability, said it was investigating to ascertain whether "any violation of statutes" effecting destruction of government property was involved.

When you're in love you're nine feet tall...

You'll hear this lilting song sung in Samuel Goldwyn's new musical wonderfilm, and suddenly—you'll feel nine feet tall! For that's what this enchanting story, this love story, this tender story does to you—as no other film has ever done before. For into his multi-million dollar musical production "Hans Christian Andersen", Samuel Goldwyn has poured all the emotions of which the human heart is capable and, as each comes into full play, you'll feel yourself glow, grow—till you, too, seem nine feet tall!

Girls State Will Hear Stang Speak On Political Plan

County Attorney Frederick Stang will leave on Wednesday for Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, where he will be political director of Empire Girls' State, June 24 through July 2. He has held that post for 12 years.

Girls' State annually provides an eight-day program for girls who have just completed their junior year in high school. Instruction and practical application is offered in the fundamentals of city, county and state government. There is also a recreational program.

Approximately 260 girls representing every county in the state are expected to attend. They will be divided into two political parties, the Nationalist and the Federalists. They elect officers for the mythial Colonial City, Huguenot county, and Empire Girls' State.

Hold Model Sessions

A Common Council, board of supervisors, state assembly and senate are elected along with executive officers. Model sessions of the legislative bodies are held. On the final day of the period, the girls go to Albany, where they hold sessions in the Senate and Assembly chambers, and generally are addressed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey as well as other state officials.

During the eight-day period, the girls are in charge of qualified counselors and house mothers. Classes are held from 9 to 11:45 a. m. and from 1 to 3:30 p. m.

Stang will address the girls Wednesday night at the opening session, outlining the aims of the program and discussing government responsibilities.

Mean temperatures in the southern part of Ontario, Canada, are about the same as those of San Francisco, says the Ontario government.

Humphrey Advises On Coming Reduction

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's advice to income taxpayers is not to spend the hoped-for Jan. 1 reduction until the fate of the excess profits tax is settled.

Humphrey gave the advice last night in a Mutual Broadcasting System radio interview, saying it would be hard to reduce individual income taxes unless Congress approves a six-month extension of the excess profits tax. The tax expires in a week, unless Congress acts.

"I wouldn't spend it (the income tax saving) until we see where we are going," Humphrey said.

The excess profits tax extension bill is bottled up in the House Ways and Means Committee, whose chairman, Rep. Daniel Reed (R-N.Y.), opposes it.

To Open Thruway Test Bids July 2

The New York State Thruway Authority today announced that bids will be opened in Albany at 2 p. m., July 2 for the drilling of test holes along the state thruway in Albany, Greene, Ulster and Orange counties.

The test drilling is usually for construction of bridges, other interchange and overpass structures along the express highway. Such test wells or holes are also usually necessary for construction over marshes and other low ground.

Maps, plans and specifications may be examined and obtained at the office of George Nickerson, district engineer, 353 Broadway, Albany, or at the office of J. S. Bixby, district engineer, Pleasant Valley Road, Poughkeepsie.

Briggs Has Conference

Seoul, June 23 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs conferred with South Korea's prime minister, Paik Too Chin, today. They presumably discussed the critical Korean truce situation resulting from the release of 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean prisoners. Paik arrived yesterday from a U. S. tour.

Democrats Have

port. On the other side, Sen. Maybank (D.-S.C.) said the life of the SDPA will have to be extended for a year or there won't be any Small Business Loan Agency at all.

While Taft discounted the lasting effects of the vote, there seemed little doubt that Democrats would be striving to attain such unity again on major legislation.

The minority obviously had in mind the possibility of upsetting a much more important Republican apple cart in legislation to extend the reciprocal trade agreements program for a year.

Administration leaders got the bill passed in the House only by a compromise with GOP members who wanted to revise the whole trade program. This was done with an amendment to increase the Tariff Commission from six to seven members, a move aimed at giving Republicans control.

House Votes Own

come. He estimated that these members spent at least $20,000 a year while in Washington, and, if they could deduct it all, their tax bill would be decreased by 90 per cent of that amount, or $18,000.

The House-voted plan, he said, "gives the most relief to those who need it least."

McCormick said the courts have held that the business headquarters of a member of Congress in Washington, so his expenses while here can't be charged off. But he said, it is a fact that a congressman must maintain residence in his home district so, while he's in Washington, he's away on business.

The $3,000 now allowed, he said, isn't adequate.

McCormick estimated that the average congressman spends at least $4,500 on business expenses while attending sessions of Congress. Other members said that was a conservative estimate.

The House accepted the amendment without a record vote.

Doesn't Hit City

Possible Sabotage Studied in Fire

Philadelphia, June 23 (AP) — FBI agents and city fire officials today probed ruins of a five-story warehouse which collapsed and burst into flames, destroying tons of baled rubber and tanned leather from government stockpiles.

Hundreds of firemen fought the stubborn blaze for hours yesterday as volumes of black smoke befogged north Philadelphia and temporarily halted service on a Reading railroad line over-pass alongside the warehouse site.

Intense heat foiled attempts to probe the rubble of bricks, wood and blazing rubber bales for possible victims.

Some reports said 12 persons were trapped when the structure suddenly collapsed. But an employe of the warehouse said he was the only one in the building when he felt a shaking like an earthquake, saw flames, and fled to safety before the cave-in.

The FBI, denying reports that sabotage was considered a probability, said it was investigating to ascertain whether "any violation of statutes" effecting destruction of government property was involved.

The government had stored the baled rubber in the building—owned by the Alba Warehouse Co. —under a lease contract. There was no immediate indication of the cause of the fire.

Hot Weather Continues In South; Rest Is Cool

(By The Associated Press)

Hot weather continued over most of the south today but a generally fair and pleasant summer day was the outlook for the rest of the nation.

Cooler air and increased cloudiness sent temperatures back to near seasonal levels in sun-baked sections in the east and midwest after a weekend of sweltering weather.

There were a few wet spots early today, but no heavy rainfalls. Most of the country had fair or partly cloudy weather.

Showers and thunderstorms hit sections of Kansas, northern Oklahoma and the Dakotas. There were reports of tornado funnels in Kansas, Oklahoma, northern Texas and western Nebraska. A few isolated thundershowers also were reported in the Gulf region. Light showers fell along the North Pacific coast.

Blistering heat was reported in the southwest desert region Monday with a reading of 116 at Gila Bend, Ariz.; 115 at Needles, Calif., and 112 at El Centro, Calif., and Yuma, Ariz. Tucson, Ariz., set a new high mark for June with 109. Other highs included 108 at Childress, Okla.; 106 at Amarillo, Tex., and 103 at Fort Worth.

Weather Through Sunday

New York, June 23 (AP)—Weather forecast for Middle Atlantic states and eastern New York, tomorrow through Sunday: Temperatures will average near normal for the period. Cool over interior New York at beginning of period. Slightly warmer about Thursday. Cooler around Saturday. Showers likely Friday or Saturday. Total rainfall one-quarter to one-half inch.

No News at Dinner

Washington, June 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower was host at a White House dinner last night for John L. Lewis, Bernard Baruch and 12 others. The affair was described as "purely social" by Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, who declined to let newsmen talk to the guests as they entered and left the White House. "The President is entitled to some privacy at a private dinner where there is no news," Hagerty said.

Jack Durant Stricken

New York, June 23 (AP)—Comedian Jack Durant was taken to St. Clare's Hospital last night for an emergency operation after collapsing at the Latin Quarter, midtown night club, as he was about to go on stage. The hospital reported he was seriously ill. A spokesman for the comedian said he had a perforated stomach ulcer.

Woodstock Graduation Exercises Held

Exercises Are Held For 17 Graduates Of Local School

Woodstock, June 22 — Graduation was likened to a stopping point in a journey before going on further, in the address given by the Rev. David C. Gaise, of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Kingston, at the exercises at the Woodstock School Friday night.

Mr. Gaise described his experience while stopping over on a trip west in the town of Needles, Calif., when late in the evening he watched a streamliner stop at the Santa Fe Railroad. While the passengers were occupied in inspecting the trinkets offered for sale by the Indian women, the train crews were busy checking the train and its equipment to insure a safe arrival at its destination.

Mr. Gaise advised the graduates to treasure their "trinkets" acquired at this time, but also not to lose sight of the real purpose and destination of their individual lives.

He then presented a list of "never stops" to keep in mind as the problems of life are met. "Never stop learning," was the first L in the initial of life. "Almost everyone you meet knows something that you don't know." The next was "Never stop laughing—there are many situations that the only thing that will save you is a sense of humor, and it's most important to learn to laugh at yourself." The last two were "Never stop loving and never stop living—if you read a list of the names of heroes, they are not famous for what they got but for what they gave."

He parted with the assurance that "there is a plan—a destiny for each of us. As we fit into that plan to make an over-all picture, we find fulfillment."

Awards Presented

Before making the presentation of an exceptionally large number of scholastic awards, Walter Van Wagenen, school principal, thanked the many township residents whose generosity make the awards possible. The awards were as follows: $5 by Joseph Forno to each of the two graduates from the Zena School, William Baldinger and John J. Mellert; $5 for English composition by Ed Bauman to Cornelius Eugene Freer; $5 for English No. 2 Regents, 92 per cent average by Anthony DeLisio to Susan Mae White; $5 for English Regents No. 2, 90 per cent average by Anthony DeLisio to Sylvester John Pollet; $10 for highest average in arithmetic Regents, 96 per cent, by Lewis R. Wilson to Alan Simmons; $10 arithmetic Regents 90 per cent by Lewis R. Wilson to Mary Catherine Hasbrouck; $5 science Regents highest average by Leon Carey to Christine Lucille Reitlinger; $5 science Regents highest average by Leon Carey to Andrew C. Lee.

$5 for greatest improvement in art by Betty Bauman to Mary Catherine Hasbrouck; $5 English No. 1 regents 97.5 per cent by William Mower to Alan Simmons; $10 for social studies by Rotron Mfg. Company to Alan Simmons; $10 social studies regents 99 per cent by Rotron Mfg. Company to Christine Lucille Reitlinger; $5 English No. 1 regents, by William Mower to Susan Mae White; $5 to boy or girl with regents averages all above 90 per cent, by Allen Dean Elwyn to Sylvester Pollet; $10, boy for highest class average of 94 per cent, by the Woodstock Business Association to Alan Simmons; $10 to boy or girl who showed the most effort, by Warren Hutty to James Richard Sandner; $10, girl for highest class average, by Woodstock Business Association to Ruth Lynne Wright; $2 gift to boy in band, by Studio Card and Gift Shop to James Sandner; $2 to next boy in band by Studio Card and Gift Shop to Alan Drury Van Wagenen $5 for community and school civics, by American Legion Auxiliary to Mary Catherine Hasbrouck; $5 for community and school civics, by American Legion Auxiliary to Alan Drury Van Wagenen; $15 bank account for highest regents average, 94.3 per cent, by Joseph Forno to Alan Simmons; wrist watch for girl with highest regents average, by the Woodstock Jewelers, to Christine Lucille Reitlinger; wrist watch to the most cooperative boy or girl, and who is also the most willing and helpful worker, by the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association to Timothy B. Hasbrouck.

Receives Watch

The presentation ceremony was interrupted suddenly by Kenneth Wilson, town supervisor, who took over the proceedings to announce that a second watch was being presented by Anthony DeLisio to another boy who was considered the most cooperative, helpful and willing worker. "We are making this award because we know his father would not have consented to it if he had know about it ahead of time." The watch was then presented amidst a burst of applause to the school principal's son, Alan Van Wagenen.

The Bank of Orange County made gifts of an Autograph Register and Roster for the Class of 1953 to all class members and teachers and trustees of the school.

The Eighth Grade presentation of a gift to the school was made by Lynne Wright and special gifts to the members of the faculty by Susan White as well as gifts to Mr. Hilton and Clarence Snyder.

Diplomas were presented to the graduates by Mrs. Charles Rapp, chairman of the board of school trustees and the Woodstock School Chorus sang a group of songs under the direction of Mrs. Edna Quick, accompanied by Mrs. Leo Herbert. Guests were welcomed to the exercises by Alan Simmons and the invocation and benediction were offered by the Rev. Kenneth E. Dearstyne.

Scots Fete Queen

Edinburgh, Scotland, June 23 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II came to her Scottish capital today for a glittering round of state ceremonies to mark her Coronation. Radiant in a light blue coat and tiny white close-fitting hat, the Queen stepped from the royal train to receive the keys to the city city from lord provost, Sir James Miller. Then she drove with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, in an open carriage through two miles of grey stone streets lined by cheering crowds packed 12 deep. Squadrons of clattering cavalry escorted her on the drive to her Holyrood House Palace.

On Good-Will Tour

Washington, June 23 (AP) — President Eisenhower sent his youngest brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, off on a good-will mission to South America today. The President drove to National Airport to bid goodbye to Dr. Eisenhower, who is president of Pennsylvania State College. Dr. Eisenhower was scheduled to arrive in Caracas, Venezuela, later in the day. The party, including high officials of the State, Commerce and Treasury Departments, is to tour 10 South American countries.

Brakeman Is Hurt

New York, June 23 (AP)—A 26-year-old railroad employe was critically injured early today when he fell from a moving baggage car in Pennsylvania Station and was wedged between the car and the platform. Emergency squa police worked for 30 minutes t free Peter Higgins, a brakema of 94-31 41st Road, Elmhurst Queens. He was taken to St. Vin cent's Hospital where it was re ported he had suffered mangle legs and internal injuries.

EXTRA LIGHT, FROSTY-DRY, LESS "FILLING," TOO!
The secret behind Knickerbocker's amazing growth is a simple one: Knickerbocker contains a full measure of all the choicest ingredients that are needed to brew a full-bodied, truly satisfying beer. But Knickerbocker is brewed LIGHT . . . by its own exclusive brewing process. The full flavor remains, the bulk is gone. So, sparkling-clear Knickerbocker is extra light . . . frosty-dry . . . the new modern, low-calory beer that's far less "filling" than beers of the past. Enjoy it today . . . enjoy it often.

Hot Weather Continues In South; Rest Is Cool

(By The Associated Press)

Hot weather continued over most of the south today but a generally fair and pleasant summer day was the outlook for the rest of the nation.

Cooler air and increased cloudiness sent temperatures back to near seasonal levels in sun-baked sections in the east and midwest after a weekend of sweltering weather.

There were a few wet spots early today, but no heavy rainfalls. Most of the country had fair or partly cloudy weather.

Showers and thunderstorms hit sections of Kansas, northern Oklahoma and the Dakotas. There were reports of tornado funnels in Kansas, Oklahoma, northern Texas and western Nebraska. A few isolated thundershowers also were reported in the Gulf region. Light showers fell along the North Pacific coast.

Blistering heat was reported in the southwest desert region Monday with a reading of 116 at Gila Bend, Ariz.; 115 at Needles, Calif., and 112 at El Centro, Calif., and Yuma, Ariz. Tucson, Ariz., set a new high mark for June with 109. Other highs included 108 at Childress, Okla.; 106 at Amarillo, Tex., and 103 at Fort Worth.

Weather Through Sunday

New York, June 23 (AP)—Weather forecast for Middle Atlantic states and eastern New York, tomorrow through Sunday: Temperatures will average near normal for the period. Cool over interior New York at beginning of period. Slightly warmer about Thursday. Cooler around Saturday. Showers likely Friday or Saturday. Total rainfall one-quarter to one-half inch.

No News at Dinner

Washington, June 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower was host at a White House dinner last night for John L. Lewis, Bernard Baruch and 12 others. The affair was described as "purely social" by Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, who declined to let newsmen talk to the guests as they entered and left the White House. "The President is entitled to some privacy at a private dinner where there is no news," Hagerty said.

Jack Durant Stricken

New York, June 23 (AP)—Comedian Jack Durant was taken to St. Clare's Hospital last night for an emergency operation after collapsing at the Latin Quarter, midtown night club, as he was about to go on stage. The hospital reported he was seriously ill. A spokesman for the comedian said he had a perforated stomach ulcer.

Woodstock Graduation Exercises Held

Exercises Are Held For 17 Graduates Of Local School

Woodstock, June 22 — Graduation was likened to a stopping point in a journey before going on further, in the address given by the Rev. David C. Gaise, of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Kingston, at the exercises at the Woodstock School Friday night.

Mr. Gaise described his experience while stopping over on a trip west in the town of Needles, Calif., when late in the evening he watched a streamliner stop at the Santa Fe Railroad. While the passengers were occupied in inspecting the trinkets offered for sale by the Indian women, the train crews were busy checking the train and its equipment to insure a safe arrival at its destination.

Mr. Gaise advised the graduates to treasure their "trinkets" acquired at this time, but also not to lose sight of the real purpose and destination of their individual lives.

He then presented a list of "never stops" to keep in mind as the problems of life are met. "Never stop learning," was the first L in the initial of life. "Almost everyone you meet knows something that you don't know." The next was "Never stop laughing—there are many situations that the only thing that will save you is a sense of humor, and it's most important to learn to laugh at yourself." The last two were "Never stop loving and never stop living—if you read a list of the names of heroes, they are not famous for what they got but for what they gave."

He parted with the assurance that "there is a plan—a destiny for each of us. As we fit into that plan to make an over-all picture, we find fulfillment."

Awards Presented

Before making the presentation of an exceptionally large number of scholastic awards, Walter Van Wagenen, school principal, thanked the many township residents whose generosity make the awards possible. The awards were as follows: $5 by Joseph Forno to each of the two graduates from the Zena School, William Baldinger and John J. Mellert; $5 for English composition by Ed Bauman to Cornelius Eugene Freer; $5 for English No. 2 Regents, 92 per cent average by Anthony DeLisio to Susan Mae White; $5 for English Regents No. 2, 90 per cent average by Anthony DeLisio to Sylvester John Pollet; $10 for highest average in arithmetic Regents, 96 per cent, by Lewis R. Wilson to Alan Simmons; $10 arithmetic Regents 90 per cent by Lewis R. Wilson to Mary Catherine Hasbrouck; $5 science Regents highest average by Leon Carey to Christine Lucille Reitlinger; $5 science Regents highest average by Leon Carey to Andrew C. Lee.

$5 for greatest improvement in art by Betty Bauman to Mary Catherine Hasbrouck; $5 English No. 1 regents 97.5 per cent by William Mower to Alan Simmons; $10 for social studies by Rotron Mfg. Company to Alan Simmons; $10 social studies regents 99 per cent by Rotron Mfg. Company to Christine Lucille Reitlinger; $5 English No. 1 regents, by William Mower to Susan Mae White; $5 to boy or girl with regents averages all above 90 per cent, by Allen Dean Elwyn to Sylvester Pollet; $10, boy for highest class average of 94 per cent, by the Woodstock Business Association to Alan Simmons; $10 to boy or girl who showed the most effort, by Warren Hutty to James Richard Sandner; $10, girl for highest class average, by Woodstock Business Association to Ruth Lynne Wright; $2 gift to boy in band, by Studio Card and Gift Shop to James Sandner; $2 to next boy in band by Studio Card and Gift Shop to Alan Drury Van Wagenen $5 for community and school civics, by American Legion Auxiliary to Mary Catherine Hasbrouck; $5 for community and school civics, by American Legion Auxiliary to Alan Drury Van Wagenen; $15 bank account for highest regents average, 94.3 per cent, by Joseph Forno to Alan Simmons; wrist watch for girl with highest regents average, by the Woodstock Jewelers, to Christine Lucille Reitlinger; wrist watch to the most cooperative boy or girl, and who is also the most willing and helpful worker, by the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association to Timothy B. Hasbrouck.

Receives Watch

The presentation ceremony was interrupted suddenly by Kenneth Wilson, town supervisor, who took over the proceedings to announce that a second watch was being presented by Anthony DeLisio to another boy who was considered the most cooperative, helpful and willing worker. "We are making this award because we know his father would not have consented to it if he had know about it ahead of time." The watch was then presented amidst a burst of applause to the school principal's son, Alan Van Wagenen.

The Bank of Orange County made gifts of an Autograph Register and Roster for the Class of 1953 to all class members and teachers and trustees of the school.

The Eighth Grade presentation of a gift to the school was made by Lynne Wright and special gifts to the members of the faculty by Susan White as well as gifts to Mr. Hilton and Clarence Snyder.

Diplomas were presented to the graduates by Mrs. Charles Rapp, chairman of the board of school trustees and the Woodstock School Chorus sang a group of songs under the direction of Mrs. Edna Quick, accompanied by Mrs. Leo Herbert. Guests were welcomed to the exercises by Alan Simmons and the invocation and benediction were offered by the Rev. Kenneth E. Dearstyne.

Scots Fete Queen

Edinburgh, Scotland, June 23 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II came to her Scottish capital today for a glittering round of state ceremonies to mark her Coronation. Radiant in a light blue coat and tiny white close-fitting hat, the Queen stepped from the royal train to receive the keys to the city city from lord provost, Sir James Miller. Then she drove with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, in an open carriage through two miles of grey stone streets lined by cheering crowds packed 12 deep. Squadrons of clattering cavalry escorted her on the drive to her Holyrood House Palace.

On Good-Will Tour

Washington, June 23 (AP) — President Eisenhower sent his youngest brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, off on a good-will mission to South America today. The President drove to National Airport to bid goodbye to Dr. Eisenhower, who is president of Pennsylvania State College. Dr. Eisenhower was scheduled to arrive in Caracas, Venezuela, later in the day. The party, including high officials of the State, Commerce and Treasury Departments, is to tour 10 South American countries.

Brakeman Is Hurt

New York, June 23 (AP)—A 26-year-old railroad employe was critically injured early today when he fell from a moving baggage car in Pennsylvania Station and was wedged between the car and the platform. Emergency squa police worked for 30 minutes t free Peter Higgins, a brakeman of 94-31 41st Road, Elmhurst Queens. He was taken to St. Vin cent's Hospital where it was re ported he had suffered mangle legs and internal injuries.
